SHAFTER CRITICISES GEN. MILES' LONG RIDE

CHICAGO, July 26. (Special.)—Gen. William Shafter, retired, does not think Gen. Miles did anything creditable when he rode 90 miles on horseback recently. Gen. Shafter passed through the city last evening on his return to his home in California from Detroit, where he attended the reunion of the Society of Santiago. He said: "There was no necessity, so far as I could see, for Gen. Miles to make that spectacular ride from Fort Sill to Fort Reno. A man of his age, 64, does not cut a particularly brilliant figure in such a needless exploit. He could have got the information he was seeking without doing as he did."

AWFUL REVENGE UPON DEFENSELESS WOMEN

LONDON, July 27.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Daily Mail sends a report to the effect that near the village of Schainjiska, in the district of the Don, 33 female field laborers were burned to death in a barn, where they had locked themselves to escape molestation by male laborers, who, in revenge, fired the barn and watched the burning without heeding the shrieks of the victims.

LEO'S ATTITUDE ON LABOR CANNOT NOW BE EVADED BY THE CHURCH OF ROME

Cardinal Gibbons Says Die Is Cast for Future Pontiff's Actions.

LABOR IS SUPREME

Rights of Christian Democracy to Continue an Important Factor.

TWO CARDINALS FOR AMERICA

From Staff Correspondent.
[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

Rome, July 26.—I interviewed Cardinal Gibbons on the train bearing him to Rome, at 6 o'clock this morning. He said he had a pleasant trip, having dined with United States Senators Elkin and Depew at Luzerne. The Italian government supplied special accommodations for the cardinal's traveling to the conclave. Cardinal Gibbons did not know that the cardinal in the next compartment to him was Cardinal Rishard, archbishop of Paris. Cardinal Gibbons said:

"The policy laid down by Leo XIII. regarding labor and democracy, will and must continue. Whatever change may occur will be in the line of developing these principles so clearly put before the world by Leo XIII. Leo has once and forever committed the church to the support of social democracy in the Christian sense. The church never goes back. No matter who may be the next pope, no matter what changes may be introduced in minor points of policy, Christian democracy is perfectly safe. You cannot put back the hands of the clock. The great point for the church will be to Christianize the movements of democracy.

The Labor Question.

"America may justly claim a large part of the credit for inauguration of the principles embodied in Leo's great encyclical of the condition of the toilers. The question was first brought forcibly before Rome by the dispute over the Knights of Labor. That organization was

NEPHEW GOT ESTATE

Thousands Paid Tribute to the Sarcophagus Containing Remains.

PREPARING FOR CONCLAVE

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

Rome, July 26.—Several thousands of the faithful crowded St. Peter's today to pay tribute before the sarcophagus, containing the remains of the late pontiff, on which is the following simple inscription in gilded letters: "Leo XIII., Pont. Max." Meanwhile, requiem masses continued in the chapel of the sacrament, as well as many other Roman churches.

The will of Leo was read today. While nominally leaving the estate of Carpineto to his nephew, Ludavico Pecci, it really makes no change, as the whole family property, amounting approximately to $126,000, had already been divided among the three nephews, Count Camilli having already sold his share.

The congregation again today made further progress with the arrangements for the conclave. Cardinal Gibbons arrived but did not attend the meeting. A wall is being built around the apartments where the conclave will be held. It is already 10 feet high.

Would Bet on Election.

Some of the Italian bookmakers here proposed to conduct public betting on the chances of the papal candidates, and in order to obtain permission to do so offered to donate their gains to charitable institutions. The government, however, promptly refused the request.

At the sixth meeting of the congregation of cardinals held today 45 cardinals were present. Cardinal Della Volpe, voicing also the opinions of some of his colleagues, criticised the ceremonies in con-

KEARSARGE IS AN OCEAN KING

New Battleship Crosses Atlantic in Record-Breaking Time.

ENCOUNTERED GALE

Used 1240 Tons of Coal Making Trip From The Needles to Mt. Desert Rock.

CREW IS TIRED BUT WILLING

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Bar Harbor, Me., July 26.—With a bone in her teeth and a black cloud of smoke pouring from her two funnels, the battleship Kearsarge steamed into the harbor this afternoon, after the most remarkable passage ever made across the ocean by a battleship, and establishing a record from England to this country for her class of vessel.

Leaving the Needles at 1:20 p. m. on Friday, July 17, the Kearsarge arrived at Mt. Desert Rock on Sunday, July 26, at 12:30, having made the trip of slightly less than 3,000 miles in nine days, four and a quarter hours.

The beach was lined with people, waving a frantic welcome, and as the battleship came to anchor in the upper harbor near the flagship Illinois, a boat put off from the flagship and Admiral Barker's compliments were conveyed to Capt. Hemphill.

Capt. Hemphill apparently regarded the trip as one of the every-day affairs of the service. "I do not know that there is a great deal to say," he said. "We have had a very good trip, but I can imagine circumstances under which we might better it considerably. In fact, but for a few untoward happenings we would have come over under nine days. We have had fair weather most of the way, but encountered about a 50-mile gale, and also had some trouble from fog and icebergs. We were obliged to slow down on account of the latter, and one day averaged but about 10 knots. The officers and men have all done their duty and worked with a will. They are tired, but if they had orders would cheerfully steam back again.

"We had 1,640 tons of coal when we left England and now have 400 tons in the bunkers. This would be enough to last about four days under economical steaming."

MOB LYNCHES NEGRESS FOR FOUL CRIME

Mississippi Justice Overtakes the Poisoner of a 16-Year-Old Girl.

SHE IS HANGED TO A TREE

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Shreveport, La., July 26.—News has just reached Shreveport that Jennie Steer, who gave poison in a glass of lemonade to beautiful 16-year-old Elizabeth Dolan, causing a frightful death, was lynched by an infuriated mob about sundown last night. The lynching occurred on the Beard plantation, near the spot where the woman's crime was committed. Jennie Steer was stubborn to the last in denying her crime, but the proof against her was direct and conclusive and precluded her innocence.

It is claimed that the negress fled from the Dolan household as soon as she discovered that her crime was known. She was pursued by a posse, who found her crouching in a hayloft. She refused to come out and had to be dragged from the place. She was taken to the Dolan homestead and fully identified as the woman who had placed the poison in the lemonade. The mob then took her to a nearby tree, placed a rope around her neck and again asked her to confess. She was stubborn to the last. While the body was dangling in midair several bullets were fired into it by the enraged citizens.

The poisoning of Miss Dolan created intense excitement in the neighborhood of the crime. The victim was a beautiful young girl, who was not known to have an enemy in the world. She died in horrible agony, a fact which accentuated the rage of the mob. The funeral of Miss Dolan occurred this morning and was attended by people from miles around.

There is a growing suspicion that Jennie Steer was connected with the murder of Mrs. Frank Matthews, whose death startled the people of this section several months ago. She was a negress of forbidding aspect, but a good servant and Mrs. Matthews kept her against the protests of her son and daughter. On the morning of the murder she was the first one to notify the inmates of the house of the crime. Suspicion was not directed to her, as it was believed at the time Mrs. Matthews had been assaulted and the crime was placed at the door of a man. Porter Matthews, son of Mrs. Matthews, said today that subsequent developments inclined both his sister and himself to the belief that his mother was murdered by a woman and robbery was the motive for the crime.

KANSAS SCHOOL BOARDS DISCOURAGE MATRIMONY

TOPEKA, KAN., July 26.—(Special.)—Kansas school boards are inserting clauses in contracts with the teachers that prohibit either courting or marriage by the latter during the school term. Many schools were badly interrupted last year by the marriage of women teachers, many of whom immediately resigned, and making it difficult to fill their places. Others neglected their school duties and gave their time to courting. Some of the teachers say that if this policy should prevail it would create an army of unmarriageable old maids, as 7,000 women teach in the schools.

SHOT THE WOMAN HE LOVED, THEN KILLED HIMSELF

McKeesport Man Who Was Desperately in Love With Married Woman Commits Shocking Tragedy at Altoona.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Altoona, Pa., July 26.—A double Sunday tragedy resulting in the death of David McMain, a carpenter, aged 28, of McKeesport, and probable fatal wounding of pretty Mrs. Bessie Walton, a grass widow of the same place, occurred at the boarding house of Mrs. Walton's widowed mother, at No. 2012 Thirteenth avenue, this city, at 9 o'clock this evening. McMain called and requested to see Mrs. Walton, with whom he was desperately in love. They had a few words at the door, apparently in dispute, whereupon he quickly pulled a revolver from his pocket, aimed deliberately at the woman and fired. The bullet entered the cheek and came out the other side. Immediately afterward he sent a ball through his own brains.

The excited inmates of the boarding house rushed to the front of the building after hearing the shots and found both lying on the porch. Mrs. Walton was removed to the hospital. The bullet tore a gash through both cheeks and shattered her teeth. She is suffering intense agony. McMain was placed in the police patrol and taken to the morgue.

Mrs. Walton, who had been working in McKeesport, came home about a month ago. McMain, who had met her while she was there, became madly in love with her and followed her to this city. He secured employment at his trade here and was very attentive. Of late she tired of his affection.

McMain's home was at 519 Bennett street, McKeesport. He left a letter in which he warns all single men not to become infatuated with married women. He says he was in love with Mrs. Walton for a year. During that time, he asserts in the missive, he was unhappy without her, but both were in constant fear of her husband. The final words of the letter are:

"The best of friends must part and it is my purpose that we should die together. Goodby to all."

FIGHT TONIGHT ON FILTRATION

Alum Water Promoters Working for Delay by Commission Scheme.

MEASURES HELD UP.

Pennsylvania Medical Journal Speaks Out Strongly for the Sand System.

LOBBY IS MAKING THREATS

The contest between sand and mechanical filtration, the latter being designated as alum water or chemical filtration, opens tonight on the floor of common council if that body succeeds in obtaining a quorum. A meeting of the lower branch has been called, through the efforts of Councilman J. C. Wasson, to receive the report of the joint filtration committee, of which Councilman Thomas M. Brown is chairman. He is also the author of the report.

This report will be the basis of tonight's discussion. Chairman Brown's report is a carefully framed document in the interest of the alum water movement. It recommends that the ordinance for an additional bond issue, suggested by the former director of public works, J. Guy McCandless, to complete sand filters, be sent to the finance committee, and the finance committee directed to wait upon further estimates from Director E. M. Bigelow. Attached and made a part of the report is the Sahner resolution which provides for the appointment of a new commission to investigate the mechanical system.

Seven Ordinances Withheld.

The advocates of sand filtration are in favor of sending not only the bond issue ordinance to the finance committee but the seven ordinances providing for the letting of contracts to construct a sand filtration plant. It is the intention of the mechanical promoters to keep these ordinances in their own hands to prevent their possible adoption by the finance committee and thus hinder any progress in that direction. The withholding of the action of referring the bond issue ordinance is a mere subterfuge.

The sand filtration advocates also want the Sahner resolution providing for the new commission to go to the finance committee, to decide whether there is any money available to pay the expenses of the new commission and to determine whether the plan is advisable. It is plain that if another investigation is to be made it will entail some expense. If there is to be no expense it is self-evident that the commission has already been made up and instructed in advance to make a report in favor of the alum water system without an investigation.

As stated in yesterday's Gazette, Councilman Wasson, who is leading the fight for sand filtration, has been threatened with an investigation of old charges which he is said to have made during the

PANAMA PANIC-STRICKEN OVER MILITARY COUP

Civil Authorities Were Cast Into Jail, but the Governor Is Once More in Control of the City.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

Panama, July 26.—A military coup was accomplished last night, with the result that the civil government of Panama was overthrown, the governor, Senor Mutis, fled to the British consulate and several civil officials sent to prison. Panama was thrown into a panic. It was a big flash in the pan, however, for the governor in his place of asylum reasserted his authority and Gen. Cobos, commander of the troops and the author of the coup, yielded.

Order was restored today and all civil officials who had been arrested have been released again. The governor is again in full charge of civil and military affairs. The principal cause of the coup was an official communication which Governor Mutis received from President Marroquin, directing the disbandment of the Panama military force, because affairs did not justify the expense of maintaining the troops.

News of this communication caused a great disturbance among the military authorities. Their first act last night was to go to the office of the organ of the Liberal party. The manager and employes were beaten with sword blades because of the publication of documents from Bogota relating to the execution of Gen. Lorenzo, a guerilla leader.

A couple of hours later citizens of Panama, were aroused by bugle blasts. Detachments of troops surrounded the government house. A special detachment surrounded Gov. Mutis' residence. The governor, however, had received warning, and with his wife, who is an American woman, fled to the British consulate. Disappointed in not capturing the governor, the troops seized D. Arjona, secretary of the government; Ferdinando Aranga, chief of police, and Judge Navia, of the superior tribunal.

The troops remained in control of the city until noon today when Gen. Cobos yielded to the governor. Gov. Mutis returned to his residence at 3 o'clock this afternoon and the imprisoned civil officials were released. Citizens rallied to the support of the governor during the crisis and that aided him in his success in getting control of affairs again.

FLYER WAS WRECKED AT A SHARP CURVE ON THE BIG FOUR ROAD

Three People Hurt and Many Animals Killed in Ohio Collision.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Wellington, O., July 26.—The Big Four flyer, No. 18, rushed around a sharp curve a mile and a quarter south of here this morning at 1:05 o'clock, and crashing into the rear end of a freight train hurt three people, splintered up a dozen cars and left a trail of maimed and bleeding animals behind. The engine rolled over on its side a mangled wreck. The injured are: Charles Quayle, Cleveland, engineer of the flyer; Athlie Henahan, Cleveland, fireman of the flyer; Dr. Katherine C. Harvey of Scranton, Pa.

The engineer and fireman were taken from under the engine. Dr. Harvey was in the day coach. The caboose and ten cars of live stock and miscellaneous freight were plowed through. Hogs and sheep to the number of 100 were taken out of the wreck dead and were buried by the trainmen. Much stock wandered to the field, and the natives spent the day hunting them and placing them in the stock yards.

Engineer Quayle and Fireman Henahan claim they could not see the rear lights of the freight train on account of the sharpness of the curve.

ENTIRE FAMILY WAS KILLED BY A TRAIN AT DANGEROUS CURVE

Lehigh Valley Express Causes Three Deaths at a Grade Crossing.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 26.—An accident on the Port Bowkley crossing of the Lehigh valley railroad this afternoon cost three lives. Joshua Butler, a truck farmer, residing at West Hour, started for a drive this afternoon, accompanied by his wife and 18-months-old child. They reached the Port Bowkley crossing just about the time the express train from New York was due.

Just before it reaches the crossing there is a sharp curve. Owing to this curve Butler could not see the train, and the horse had just passed over the crossing when the locomotive struck the carriage and sent it and its occupants high in the air. The horse escaped. Mrs. Butler was thrown 50 feet, and when the train came to a stop she was picked up dead.

The child landed on the front of the engine, where it remained until the train stopped. The engineer, who was quick to grasp the little one, heard it lisp "Mamma." Then it sank into unconsciousness. The father was found lying against an embankment. He was conscious, but badly mangled. As quick as possible the father and child were taken to the hospital, but they died just after they reached there.

By the accident a whole family was wiped out. Butler was quite well-to-do. He was 40 years of age. The wife was several years his junior.

NEGLIGENT OPERATOR DITCHES AN EXPRESS AND TWO ARE KILLED

Princeville, Ill., the Scene of a Fatal Wreck of the Santa Fe Limited.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Peoria, Ill., July 26.—The Santa Fe limited, Chicago for Los Angeles, was wrecked at the Rock Island crossing at Princeville at midnight.

THE DEAD.

EDWARD O'BRIEN, Fort Madison, Ia., engineer; scalded to death.

CHARLES VOGEL, Fort Madison, Ia., fireman; crushed and scalded.

THE INJURED.

R. L. RUDWAY, Chicago; express messenger; head cut and left leg torn and sprained.

E. R. PARSHALL, Chicago; assistant express messenger, back hurt.

EDWARD WHITESIDE, Chicago; porter; knee cap knocked off.

The train was in charge of Conductor Frank Trenton of Chicago, who was uninjured. The engine, two express cars, smoker and baggage cars were upturned. The engine was ditched and is half buried in the earth. The limited was on time and was given a "clear" signal at the crossing.

It is believed the operator was asleep and awakened, dazed, pulled the switch, throwing the train. Engineer O'Brien reversed his engine but it was too late.

Every passenger suffered by the impact. The injured were taken to Chillicothe and were sent to Chicago this afternoon. The dead are at Chillicothe, where the inquest will be held Monday.

A new train was made up at Chillicothe and left for the west at 5 o'clock this morning, going around the wreckage.

ASSASSIN ATTEMPTS TO KILL A WITNESS

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CYNTHIANA, KY., July 26.—Alex Hargis, Ben French, Judge Golden, B. J. Ewen and others are here for the feud trials. The defense will make a strong fight for a continuance. Special Elisor Little has been hampered by the Hargis faction and has been unable to summon all the witnesses.

JACKSON, KY., July 26.—Many witnesses and others left here today for Cynthiana, where, tomorrow, the trial of Curtis Jett and Tom White for the murder of J. B. Marcum will begin. The effort of the special grand jury last week to investigate further the feud cases has stirred additional bad feeling and more trouble is feared. A bold attempt was made today to assassinate Riley Caldron, who testified against J. H. Asbury, Spicer and Bill Belton, but the bullet went wild and the would-be assassin had no opportunity to fire twice.

The leaders of the Hargis faction make no secret of their efforts to hamper the special grand jury. Nathaniel Bowman, who was the foreman, says if Hargis and Callahan had not hampered the witnesses there would have been important indictments.

MRS. DORA BROCK WILL OFFER CHILD TO PROVE TITLE TO CLAY'S CASH

Abolitionist's Heirs Confronted By New Development in the Contest.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Lexington, Ky., July 26.—Mrs. Dora Richardson Clay Brock, former childwife of the late Gen. Clay, has been advised by her lawyers that the Clay children will contest the will.

Mrs. Brock's friends present a new phase to the question, and say if the heirs attempt to break the will Mrs. Brock will claim that the 6-year-old boy named for Gen. Clay is his and not Riley Brock's. This would give the child at least a share in the personalty of the famous abolitionist. Dora was divorced by Gen. Clay on September 8, 1898, and the following week she married Riley Brock. Gen. Clay, prior to giving her a divorce, bought for her six acres of land in Woodford county and built two houses. He furnished one of the houses for her. After she married Brock she paid frequent visits to Whitehall and Gen. Clay continued to lavish money and presents on her. She was married to Gen. Clay in 1894, and lived with him four years.

The little boy is named Cassius Marcellus Clay Brock, and answers to the name of Cass. He was born a short time after Mrs. Brock moved to Pinkard, where Gen. Clay bought her a home. Riley Brock was recently killed by a train at Longview, Ill.

GOVERNOR ARRIVES AT THE SOMERSET CAMP

Closely Scrutinizes Boys of Second Brigade as They March By—Asks for Songs of the Civil War—Many Visitors.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

Camp William McKinley, Somerset, Pa., July 26.—"I want to hear the good old tunes of the union army boys in the Pennsylvania guardsmen's camps," said Gov. Pennypacker this afternoon, and the Tenth regiment has laid plans to gratify his desires. "In the camps of the First and Third brigades I heard such excellent tunes as "Dixie" and "Maryland," but I did not hear the old favorites, such as "John Brown's Body," "Marching Through Georgia" and the "Battle Hymn of the Republic," said the governor. "Now, I do not think this exactly fair. I would not have the militia's music confined to this narrow scope, but these soul-stirring anthems should not be forgotten."

The governor is thoroughly in earnest. He does, in fact, appear somewhat "unreconstructed," and even the excellent marching qualities of "Dixie" did not appeal to him as a reason for its preference over the songs of the northland.

"From what I saw of the Second brigade on review this morning I am well pleased," he continued. "Of course, this review does not go thoroughly into the conditions prevailing in the brigade. I saw only the officers and men marching by. The close inspection is to follow later, and I expect to accompany the inspectors throughout their work."

The governor is making a thorough study of the guard. He reached camp this morning, and the experience of Maj. Gen. Miller the day before was repeated, for he found the entire brigade wearied with a wait of two hours. At 7:35 a. m. word had been spread he would arrive. The barouche from which he reviewed the troops reached the front of brigade headquarters at 9:30, and from that position the guard passed beneath his gaze.

In the party with Gov. Pennypacker were Mrs. Pennypacker and Miss Pennypacker, Adjt. Gen. Stewart and Mrs. Stewart, Col. R. G. Leconte, surgeon general, Col. Frank G. Sweeny, inspector general, Mrs. Sweeny and their son; Col. Eshelman, judge advocate general; Lieut.-Cols. Bradley, Pratt, Haldeman and Chambers, aides-de-camp, and Mrs. Chambers; Lieut. Col. Weaver, division surgeon, and Mrs. Weaver; Mrs. W. F. Richardson, Staff Sergt. Hicks and Capt. Charles H. Hendler of the Third Infantry. Lieut. Col. Homer J. Lindsay arrived from Pittsburgh, and the entire staffs of the commander-in-chief and the major general, except those on leave of absence, are now in camp. The United States army officers to be present are Lieut. Col. Walter Howe of the artillery and Lieut. Purviance of the Fourth cavalry.

legal municipal campaign against certain councilmen. Mr. Wasson said yesterday:

Threat Will Not Work.

"If there is anything that would make me more determined to fight this matter through it is a threat of this kind. If these people were sincere why did they not have the investigation months ago, instead of waiting six months. It is only a crazy attempt to scare men and I am not so easily scared."

That there is a job of large magnitude in the alum water movement is more apparent each day. A persistent and determined effort is being made by an organized lobby to delay action until after the election, with the expectation that the scheme can be forced through then in spite of popular sentiment. The official organ of the alum water promoters has called upon councilmen tonight to do nothing for the present and to leave typhoid to its work of death and disease among the people.

Councilman Wasson yesterday called attention to the well-known fact that not a single physician or scientist has been quoted in defense of the alum water idea, while dozens have testified through The Gazette, in the report of the last commission and otherwise, in favor of the sand system.

There is no better evidence of this fact than an editorial in the July number of Pennsylvania Medical Journal, which is the official organ of the Medical Society of Pennsylvania. This is issued this week and contains under the caption, "Sand vs. Mechanical Filtration for Pittsburgh," the following timely article which sets forth clearly and forcefully the points of the controversy:

People Selected Sand System.

Four years ago the citizens of Pittsburgh were given an opportunity to signify their choice for or against a bond issue for the establishment of a filtration plant, and by an enormous majority money for that purpose was voted. A commission, appointed to investigate the different systems of filtration, reported in favor of sand filtration, their decision being reached after a most careful and thorough investigation. Their report, after a long period of time and was done with the collaboration of the most expert engineers and sanitarians available.

For some inscrutable reason the then directors of public works failed to carry out the will of the people, the money voted for the purpose lying idle, at the expense of thousands of dollars annually, and the loss of many valuable lives and the infliction of much sickness. In course of time the said director was ousted from his position and his successor soon began work looking toward the establishment of a sand filtration plant.

A political revolution, however, again placed the original director in power, and apparently under his dictation a committee to consider the matter has been appointed, referred reversed the original commission's findings and practically reported in favor of mechanical filtration.

Efficiency Not Disputed.

Viewed from a scientific standpoint, such action is incomprehensible, for the efficiency of sand filtration is incontestable, while that of mechanical filtration is everywhere proved inferior in decreasing the mortality from typhoid fever, not to mention the noxious ingredients with which the effluent is liable to become contaminated under that system.

It is a well recognized fact that it is impossible to accurately estimate the amount of alumina sulphate needful to precipitate the material causing turbidity in water by mechanical (accurately speaking, chemical) filtration. The result of the more or less haphazard use of this chemical is well shown in the report of the original commission, which we quote as follows:

"When sulphate of alumina is added to water it is decomposed, with the formation of alumina, which forms a flocculent precipitate, upon which its purifying action depends, and sulphuric acid which combines with the calcium carbonate or lime present in the raw water. There should always be an excess of lime in the water. If, however, for any reason there is not, there is nothing to combine with the sulphuric acid, and the decomposition of the sulphate of alumina is not complete, and a portion of it goes undecomposed into the effluent. The effluent then has an acid reaction, and is unfit for domestic water supply. When distributed through iron pipes it attacks the iron, rusting the pipes and giving rise to all the disagreeable consequences of an iron-containing water."

Chemical Method Defective.

Here, then, we have the two systems. The first, sand filtration—the natural method—free from unnecessary chemicals, practically perfect in the bacterial efficiency almost perfect. The second, chemical filtration, controlled by proprietary rights, defective in bacterial efficiency and a contaminated effluent! Only under the peculiar political situation of our large cities is it possible to recognize any advantage of the latter over the former.

In the meantime the citizens of Pittsburgh are furnished drinking water contaminated with the sewage of hundreds of towns situated on the banks of the water courses from which the supply is drawn. During the past two months the mortality from typhoid fever has reached a maximum of 16 per week, with an average of about eight, in an estimated population of 600,000. The figures are not available at this writing, we believe this showing places the city of Pittsburgh first in the list of larger cities of this country in the mortality from typhoid fever. In view of the situation described, and the fact that sand filtration would at the lowest estimate have saved 75 per cent of the lives sacrificed, it would seem that common sense, to speak moderation, has been criminally negligent. It is a sad reflection for the friends of those dead of typhoid fever to consider that a large majority of such deaths were preventable by means within easy reach.

STRIKER FIRED SHOTS.

Mill Officers Think the Crisis in Port Vue Strike Will Be Reached Tonight.

After almost two days of absolute quiet, the strikers of the Port Vue tin plate works broke out again at 10 o'clock last night. A fight occurred on the Port Vue side of the Thirteenth street bridge, in McKeesport, in which J. Wolfe, a striker, drew a revolver and fired several shots at the non-union men. None of the shots took effect.

Wolfe with several other strikers engaged in a dispute with ten non-union men. After the shooting Wolfe was arrested by Constable Jacob Stein. The mill officials say they will have ten mills running after today. They expect ten men from Cleveland today and think the crisis in the contest will be reached tonight. The supplies for the men in the mills are now transported to them from the Youghiogheny river to evade the strict patrol of the strikers' pickets on shore.

ALL FELL FORTY FEET.

Man, Horse and Wagon Went Over the Hill at Try Street Yesterday.

Unable to guide his horse, Charles Taher, who was driving a wagon and animal belonging to the Pittsburgh Transfer Company yesterday along the bluff, allowed the team with himself to topple over the cliff to "Hard Scrabble" below, a distance of 40 feet. The driver was badly cut and bruised. He was removed to the Homeopathic hospital, where up to a late hour last night he was still dazed. The horse also was badly cut and may have to be killed. The wagon was completely demolished.

Taher had driven up Shingiss street to the plant of the American Spring Company, and after getting a load was driving down the steep, narrow road which leads from the works to Shingiss street. When at the highest point of the cliff the bit broke, allowing the horse to plunge forward. Taher's condition is not thought to be serious.

Two Banks Are Merged.

NEW CASTLE, PA., July 26.—The Ellwood City Trust Company is being formed by stockholders of the Ellwood City National bank and the First National bank of that place, as a result of the consolidation of the two banking houses under the auspices of the Colonial Trust Company of Pittsburgh. A charter will be applied for, the incorporators being John Nicholson, John A. Bell, Henry Blatt, John Celbach, Charles Cobau, James Aiken, Samuel Rodjfs, R. C. Striefel, Thomas Dugan, J. J. Blatt and W. J. McKim. The new company will take over much of the old companies' business.

TOURIST RATES.

Via Pennsylvania Railroad.

Tourist tickets are now on sale to Muskoka and Kawartha lakes, Highlands of Ontario, Georgian bay, Thousand islands and Adirondack region.

By calling on Pennsylvania railroad agents at No. 360 Fifth avenue or Union station, special fishing club rates can be obtained for parties of 10 or more to Muskoka wharf, Orilia, Severn, Burks Point, North bay, Penetang, Jacksons Point, Lindsay, Lakefield, Burleigh Falls, Youngs Point, Stony Lake, Alexandria bay and other points.

At these points will be found an abundance of good fishing, together with other features which go to make up an ideal summer resort.

CHILD EXPIRED DURING AN ORGY

After Its Christening the Little One Died and Murder Was at First Suspected.

BLAME LAID ON THE MOTHER

Two Boys Were Drowned While Bathing in the Rivers—Neglect of Rules Caused Miner's Death — Other Coroner's Cases Yesterday.

The infant child of John Bagus of No. 100 West Carson street, in Painters Row, was christened yesterday morning and afterwards was taken to its home. The family and some friends began celebrating by drinking, which was continued until it was noticed that the baby was very ill. Dr. Joseph Hoffman of Steuben street was sent for, but could do nothing, the child dying shortly afterward. A report that the child had been murdered was circulated and Lieutenant J. T. Morley went to the house and arrested the father, Peter Komowski, Mike Witter and Martin Witter.

Nothing could be found to show that the child had been killed, and the police called in Dr. Hoffman to see if he knew the cause of death. The physician explained that the child had been ill for some time, although it had received no medical attention. The primary cause of death, it is said, was the condition of the mother, who is said to have been drinking heavily since the baby was born. When these facts were brought out the charge against the arrested men was made disorderly conduct.

Mark Brennen, 5 years old, of No. 2718 Jane street, South Side, was drowned in the Monangahela river at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The boy with a number of others was paddling around in the water when Brennen stepped into a sand hole. He sank and did not come to the surface again. His body was recovered shortly after.

The coroner was notified last night of the drowning of Thomas Maines, a 17-year-old boy, while bathing in the Youghiogheny river at Suter station.

William McFadden died at Mercy hospital yesterday. In getting out of a trench at Forbes and Stevenson streets on Saturday he was caught by a street car and had his legs crushed. He was a single man, 36 years old, and lived in Station street.

Michael Dieleanata died at the West Penn hospital yesterday. His home was at Walkers Mills, where he was struck by a train on the Panhandle railroad on Saturday.

Deputy Coroner John P. Black investigated the death yesterday of Vosila Kostika, who was killed on Saturday by a fall of slate in a mine at Bruce station. Twelve hundred pounds of slate fell on him, but his fellow workmen dug him out and he lived for four hours. It was said he disregarded the rules about supporting the horseback with posts, which rules are printed in seven languages and posted in the mine. He was a married man, 33 years old.

CURB STONE WORKERS DECIDED ON A STRIKE

No Work Will Be Done Unless Contractors Sign Scale. Pavers and Rammers Act.

Considerable work in paving and repairing the streets in Pittsburg, Allegheny and Wilkinsburg will be tied up today. The Curb and Flagstone Cutters', Setters' and Helpers' assembly No. 1700, Knights of Labor, held a special meeting yesterday morning and decided to strike on all work where the contractor does not sign the scale, as arranged a few days ago. A business agent was appointed at the meeting, with instructions to visit all jobs and order the men out where necessary.

The executive committee of the Knights of Labor met last evening and decided to sanction the action of the assembly. The pavers and rammers decided at their last meeting that they would not pave any streets where the curbstones were cut and set by non-union men. Consequently any contractor refusing to sign the new scale of assembly No. 1700 will have to finish the street with non-union men.

Some of the contractors have agreed to sign the scale, among them being the largest firms. This indicates that few men will be called out. The new scale calls for a nine-hour day; the curbstone setters 5½ cents per foot or 45 cents an hour; curb helpers a minimum of $2 25 a day; cutting new stone in Pittsburgh, 12 cents a foot or 50 cents per hour; cutting old stone, 10 cents per foot or 80 cents per hour; cutting old stone in Allegheny, 9 cents per foot or 55 cents per hour; cutting new stone in Wilkinsburg, 10 cents per foot or 50 cents an hour.

The difference in the rate of Pittsburgh and Allegheny is that the specifications for Allegheny stone call for trimmings above the level of the street, while in Pittsburgh the entire stone is to be trimmed. The scale is the same as has been paid by some of the leading contractors.

BALKAN UNION RUMORED.

Report Current That Bulgaria and Servia Plot to Overthrow Turkey.

VIENNA, July 26.—The Universal Bucharest publishes a sensational story of a plot to bring about a union of Servia and Bulgaria, which involves the deposition of Prince Ferdinand and the substitution of the Karageorgevitch dynasty, and which would, also, according to the story, incidentally result in the settlement of the Macedonian question.

According to the report, a secret meeting was recently held at Belgrade of Bulgarian parliamentarians, prominent Servians and Macedonians, at which the details of the scheme were agreed upon. They are said to include a military convention and a customs union. The plotters also are said to have resolved to carry out their program, if possible by legal means, including a vote of the Bulgarian parliament.

The plotters are said to have argued that such a united kingdom could overthrow Turkey, end the Macedonian troubles, and guarantee a greater future both for Servia and Bulgaria. The story is discredited here, being regarded as fantastical.

DUSS TO BE ANGEL.

Bandmaster Will Turn His Attention to Drama, Backing New Company.

NEW YORK, July 27.—(Special.)—The Morning Telegraph says this morning: "Duss, the bandmaster, is now going to launch into the dramatic field, and will play the role of 'Angel.' R. E. Johnston is to be with him and the offering which will first occupy their attention will be 'Little Nell and the Marchioness.'

"The advent of Duss into the field will create something of a stir, but he will continue to direct his orchestra. Johnston said last night that he would go on the road with one of the dramatic attractions next year, but would still retain his interest in the Duss concert tours.

"A prominent actress is said to be scheduled to play the role of 'Little Nell,' but Johnston will not announce her name. 'Maud Muller,' a pastoral comedy, and a melodrama also, are announced for production by the Duss-Johnston combination."

NOME FIRE SURVIVORS ARRIVE WITH BODIES

Affecting Scene at Union Station This Morning When Friends and Relatives Met Party From Alaska.

An affecting scene took place at Union station at 1 o'clock this morning when the train bearing the bodies and survivors of the great hotel fire at Nome, Alaska, arrived and were met by friends and relatives. The bodies were left in a car over night and will be taken to Moreland Bros.' undertaking establishment, Penn avenue, East End, this morning, where preparations will be made for their burial.

In the party that came in on the train were Fred Hays, a son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Hays; two of the victims, J. B. Porter, a relative of theirs; Miss Sadie Andrews and J. B. Andrews, brother and sister of Clarence Andrews, who died of pneumonia, due to exposure, the day of the fire, and George H. Tooker, a son of F. H. Tooker of Newell's hotel. To greet this party were half a dozen friends and relatives.

John B. Roberts, a brother-in-law of Sherman D. Gregg of Titusville, one of the victims, was at the station. The body of Gregg will be taken to Waynesburg this morning and afterward to Ash Tree, 20 miles from there, where it will be interred.

The friends and relatives of R. M. Hays and his wife included William Hays of Dempseytown, a brother of R. M. Hays; Gilbert Thompson of Dempseytown, a brother of Mrs. Hays; John Hays, a son of the victims; I. F. Shaw, F. H. Tooker and E. G. Wright of Pittsburgh and Peter Murphy of Little Washington.

This party greeted the survivors as they alighted from the train. A solemn handshaking followed. Then the entire party went to Newell's hotel, where they will remain until the bodies of the victims are interred.

WHAT CARDINAL GIBBONS SAYS

formally condemned in Canada and practically condemned in the United States. It was described in Rome as an attempt on the part of the laboring classes to coerce and terrorize employers. Realizing the gravity of the situation I proceeded to Rome, visited all the cardinals and proved to them the Knights of Labor were merely exercising their natural right in combining for their own protection.

"My argument and reasons convinced some of the injustice of the condemnation and opened their eyes to the gravity of the social question, not only in the United States, but all over the world. Returning to America I put these principles in my book, "Our Christian Heritage," Leo's Encyclical, appeared two years later. Many remarked on the close parallelism of numerous passages in the wonderful encyclical. Every line is filled with Leo's love for the working people.

"The church now is so impregnated with this love that future pontiffs cannot ignore it, I would. This has an extraordinary significance for us because the United States is ostensibly the land of the workingman. The teaching that honest labor enobles man, as laid down by Leo, is embodied in the future of the church. This doctrine goes straight to every American heart, teaching us that every class of toilers should have at the best sufficient remuneration to enable the workingman to support himself within reasonable comfort.

More Cardinals for America.

"This teaching is founded on a law of nature, hence it is older than any bargain between man and man. Henceforth the teaching of the pope and church is that any workingman obliged, through necessity, to accept insufficient wages for his toil, is the victim of force and injustice. Some employers think themselves justified in cutting wages to the lowest point, regardless of the value of the labor. Leo denounced this. His successor similarly will hold it unjust and pernicious to society. Future pontiffs will hold with Leo that strikes and disputes between labor and capital should be settled in courts of arbitration, in which the employed is fairly represented.

"Leo's successor will hold that every laborer is entitled to sufficient time for rest and the improvement of soul and body. No sane man now in the United States or elsewhere would dream of accusing the church of being opposed to a republican form of government. Leo's successor will recognize that republican government has shown itself as favorable in the United States, indeed more favorable to Catholic development than any other.

"These are truisms with us in America, but Leo's enthusiastic acknowledgment has been an encouragement to us. This is the first time the voice of the United States will be heard in the election of a pope. Cardinal McCloskey arrived too late to participate in the last conclave. Future conclaves will be attended by more than one cardinal from the United States. The church is making such strides with us that its prominence must be recognized in Rome. I hope America will get more cardinals because she deserves them."

Cardinal Gibbons was met at the station in Rome by Monsignor Kennedy of the American college and the superior of St. Sulpice, who kissed him on both cheeks. M. J. CONWAY.

EULOGIZED POPE LEO.

President Attends Church With His Family and Hears Interesting Sermon.

OYSTER BAY, L. I., July 26.—The president, Mrs. Roosevelt and all of their children, except the youngest boy, attended service this morning in Christ church. The Rev. Dr. Washburn was absent and his place was taken by the Rev. J. Winthrop Hageman.

During the sermon Dr. Hageman spoke of the death of the pope, which, he said, meant a great deal to the Christian world, for it had brought the various denominations closer together than they had ever been before and thus had marked a step forward in the work for which Pope Leo so long labored and which he favored so strongly—the reunion of Christians the world over. While the world had suffered a severe blow by the death of the great churchman, his very death had worked for good.

After the service President Roosevelt shook hands with Dr. Hageman and assured him he had been greatly interested in the service and in the sermon. The remainder of the president's day was devoted to his family.

CHEATING PLENTIFUL.

State Examiners in West Virginia Reject Many Teachers' Applications.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., July 26.—(Special.)—The state board of examiners has just completed the grading of teachers who have passed the new uniform examination for certificates. They examined over 20,000 papers, all examination papers in the state being passed on by the same board. The most important discovery made was the amount of cheating done by applicants for certificates.

In one county 61 certificates were held up because of evidence of cheating. In another one-half the applicants showed evidence in their work of having cheated, and their certificates were not granted. The discovery was astounding to the board and will result in a better selection of teachers for many of the county schools.

TRIPLETS BORN IN A WILKINSBURG HOME

Happy is John Scott, a landscape gardener of No. 1318 Wesley street, Wilkinsburg, for triplets are his. Eighteen pounds of humanity—six pounds of girl and 12 pounds of man-child in three equal installments—arrived yesterday. That John was thrice happy his friends perceived with the naked eye, for the grin with which he greeted the first anxiously inquiring neighbor was exactly three times as wide as ordinarily. All are healthy and bid fair to live. Mrs. Scott is doing well.

POPE LEO'S LAST TESTAMENT

nection with the interment of Leo XIII. last night because cardinals did not participate in the entire procession, and complained bitterly of the lack of order. Cardinal Oreglia replied that he had already noticed this and that he would punish those who were responsible.

Mgr. Merry Del Val communicated to the cardinals the report from Santiago, Chile, of the incident which occurred there during the celebration of the requiem for the late pope, which was attended by the president of the republic and all the authorities. According to the report, Mgr. Uguarte, in delivering the eulogy upon the late pontiff, protested against the usurpation of papal territory by Italy, whereupon Count Cucchi Boasso left the church and lowered the Italian flag, which had been hoisted at the legation as a sign of mourning. This incident produced an unpleasant impression upon the sacred college, being the first discordant note in the universal mourning.

Leo's Will Was Read.

The ceremonial of the conclave established by Gregory XV. is to be followed at the coming meeting. The cardinals have decided during the conclave to eat in common in order to facilitate their work. Cardinal Svampa believes the conclave will be of short duration.

The will of the late pope, which was read today after the meeting of the congregation of cardinals, was written on large sheets in the small, clear handwriting of the deceased pontiff. It was opened by Cardinals Rampolla, Mocenni and Creteni, the executors. The relatives of the late pontiff were not present, although invited. That portion made public is as follows:

In the name of the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost, as the end of our mortal career is approaching, we put in this holograph will our last desires. Before all, we humbly supplicate the infinite bounty and charity of the blessed Lord to condone the faults of our life and receive benignantly our spirit in the beatific eternity which we specially hope through the merits of Jesus the redeemer, trusting to his very sacred heart, an ardent furnace of charity and fount of spiritual life and humanity.

We also implore as mediators the blessed Virgin Mary, mother of God, and our own, much beloved mother, and that legion of saints whom in our life we venerated in a special way.

Several Get No Legacy.

Now, coming to dispose of the family patrimony, which is ours, according to the deed of division drawn up by the notary, Curzio Franchi, December 17, 1882, we appoint as heir of this patrimony our nephew, Count Ludavico Pecci, son of Giovanni Battista, our deceased brother. From this property must be deducted that already donated to Count Ricardo, another nephew, on the occasion of his marriage, according to a deed of February 13, 1886, by notary Franchi. Equally from this property must be deducted all the estate in the Carpineto Romano belonging to the holy see, according to the declaration in our chirography of February 8, 1900.

In this our testamentary disposition we have not thought of our other nephew, Camillo, and our nieces, Anna and Maria, son and daughters of our brother, Giovanni Battista. For them we have in life properly provided because maintenance on the occasion of their marriages. We declare that no one of our family can claim any right in any thing not contemplated in the present document, because all the other belongings of whatever nature which have come to us as pontiff, consequently are, and in any case we wish to be, the property of the holy see.

We confide the exact execution of this, our disposition, to Cardinals Mariano Rampolla, our secretary of state, Mario Mocenni and Serafino Cretoni. This declaration is to be our last will. All.

The vatican, Rome, this 8th day of July, 1900.

GIOACCHINE PECCI,
Leo P. P. XIII.

PRAYERS FOR THE POPE.

Memorial Services Held in Many Local Roman Catholic Churches.

In many of the Catholic church memorial services were held and from scores of altars and naves prayers went up yesterday for the repose of the soul of Pope Leo XIII. The evening devotions in the churches were all for the spiritual welfare of the dead pontiff and in several churches the services were especially elaborate.

The most important services were held at the Passionist monastery on Mt. Oliver. The church was draped in black and the Passionist fathers who took part were clothed in the habiliments of woe. The "Miserere" was chanted with rare effectiveness by the trained voices of the priests and the regular prayers of the church for the departed were recited. The church was crowded with the faithful.

Held Annual Field Day.

The Allegheny and Pittsburgh staffs of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company went up on the steamer Torrance on Saturday for their annual field day. It was the largest and most successful outing ever run by the company. There were several games and sporting events. The most important was the game of ball between the Pittsburgh and Allegheny staffs, in which the Allegheny staff was defeated by a score of 15 to 8.

South Side Gamblers Arrested.

South Side police continued the crusade on gambling yesterday afternoon and arrested 19 young men and boys. A crap game at the foot of South Third street was raided and four were caught. Nine were captured in a card game in the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad yards in West Carson street and six were arrested in the West End.

Aged Man Arrested for Murder.

BALTIMORE, July 26.—John H. Seibold, 56 years of age, is locked up here charged with having caused the death of his wife, Elizabeth. It is alleged that he beat and kicked the woman. She became unconscious and died en route to this city. A coroner's inquest will be held tomorrow night. Seibold is a cabinetmaker and came here from Chicago.

Thrown Out of a Buggy.

By his horse becoming frightened at a moving train at the Point bridge last evening, James D. Maloney of Esplen, his wife and 9-year-old girl, were thrown out of the buggy. Mr. and Mrs. Maloney escaped serious injury, but the girl was badly cut about the head and was bruised. Mr. Maloney took the child home, where she received medical attention.

FOERDERER ENDS HIS BUSY CAREER

Congressman from Fourth Philadelphia District Dies of Bright's Disease.

MADE FORTUNE IN LEATHER

Owned Secret Process of Treating It and His Great Factory Could Hardly Supply the Demand—Interested in Telephone Business.

THE PITTSBURG GAZETTE BUREAU,
Public Ledger Building,
PHILADELPHIA, PA., July 26.

Robert H. Foerderer, congressman from the Fourth Philadelphia district, died at Torresdale this afternoon from acute Bright's disease. Although he had been in poor health for about a year, and had made several trips to the Hot Springs, Va., in search of health, Mr. Foerderer had been in bed just 21 days. Three days ago it became evident that the end was near and hope of his recovery was abandoned. Mr. Foerderer was in his 43rd year.

For the 24 hours preceding his death Mr. Foerderer was unconscious. His brother, Edward, his wife and two children were at his bedside when the end came. He died at his brother's house, which adjoins his own spacious mansion.

Mr. Foerderer had a premonition that death was near and in his last days at his office he had arranged his extensive business affairs so that his death would cause no disarrangement. His business will remain in the family. His two largest enterprises are the leather and morocco works at Frankfort and the Keystone Telephone Company. In addition to these he had many other interests. His wealth is variously estimated at from $8,000,000 to $12,000,000.

Gained Wealth Quickly.

Few men have amassed wealth so quickly from manufacturing as did Robert H. Foerderer. This is due largely to the fact that he was the possessor of a secret process for treating leather, which made it soft and pliable. This product he called "vici kid" and he had all he could do with the extensive work he had—and it is the largest leather manufacturing plant in the world—to meet the demand for the product. His great wealth has been accumulated in about 15 years.

Coupled with his monopoly was industry and executive business ability. These traits were early developed. Born in Frankenhausen, Germany, May 16, 1860, he emigrated with his parents to America. His father engaged in the leather business in Philadelphia and after a few years in the public schools and a short course in a private institution, young Foerderer, at the age of 16, entered his father's employ and took his chances of promotion with the other workmen.

Mr. Foerderer was not a politician, but his business projects brought him in contact with the leaders, and at the Republican state convention at Harrisburg, in 1900, he was nominated for congressman-at-large, and elected. In 1902 a new congressional apportionment was made, and the congressmen-at-large were eliminated.

Sent to Congress Again.

Mr. Foerderer would have preferred to return to private life; but his political friends urged him to continue, and he was given the nomination for the Fourth district, comprising the Twenty-eighth, Twenty-ninth, Thirty-second and Thirty-eighth wards. James Rankin Young, who was serving his third term, was forced to retire. While at Washington Mr. and Mrs. Foerderer had a magnificent home and entertained extensively. His Philadelphia city residence is 1246 North Broad street.

When the Keystone Telephone Company was revivified several years ago, Mr. Foerderer purchased a large interest and, with John M. Mack, was instrumental in getting very liberal franchises granted by city councils. The Ashbridge administration and political leaders favored the company, and it immediately began the building of a system to rival the Bell company.

Mr. Foerderer, in 1880, married Miss Caroline Fisher, daughter of Frederick Fisher of Philadelphia. His widow, a daughter, Miss Florence, and a son, Percy E., survive him. No date for the funeral has been set.

AN AUTO-YACHT.

Newark Genius Constructs Hybrid Machine to Explore Florida Everglades.

NEWARK, N. J., July 26.—(Special.)—Anton Schmidt of this city has constructed an automobile yacht with which he intends to explore the Florida Everglades. Schmidt conceived the idea of such a craft over six years ago, and for which time he has been engaged at odd times in building it in the cellar of his home.

The contrivance is constructed to run by land or sea, and will be propelled by a 12-horse power gasoline engine. On one side of the structure are two large wagon wheels, with broad tires, with paddle wheels for spokes. The craft has a cabin equipped with a small boat, which serves the dual role of roof and lifeboat. The vessel is about 20 feet long.

The vessel is completed, with the exception of the engine, and its owner expects to start for the south this fall, making the trip by water.

IS A DEGENERATE.

Commission Makes an Unfavorable Report on Prince George of Servia.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 26.—At the command of the imperial government a commission has examined Prince George, the eldest son of King Peter Karageorgevitch of Servia, during the past week and has reported to the emperor that the boy is a degenerate.

Prince George was born in 1888. He was reared practically under the direction of the Russian court and a report printed just after the Belgrade tragedy said that he was educated to occupy the throne of Servia. On June 12 a Berlin dispatch said that King Peter might abdicate in favor of his son.

Church Corner Stone Laid.

The congregation of St. Joseph's German Catholic church laid the corner stone of the new house of worship in Grant street, Duquesne, yesterday afternoon. Over 1,500 people were present and the ceremonies were preceded by a parade in which 1,000 persons were in line. The corner stone was laid in place by the Rev. Father Geoble of Mt. Oliver, assisted by Fathers Stepling of Donora, Boell of McKeesport and McMullin and Gerzynski of Duquesne.

George Nox McCain Buys a Paper.

PHILADELPHIA, July 26.—George Nox McCain, for 14 years connected with the editorial staff of the Philadelphia Press, has purchased the Colorado Springs Gazette. He will sever his connection with the Press on August 1 and assume charge of the Gazette on August 15. After the latter date the Gazette will be issued as a Republican instead of a Democratic daily.

Woman Killed Her Assailant.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., July 26.—Mrs. Aurora Hodge, aged 19 years, of Denison, Ia., entered the office of Superintendent of Police Carr today and said she wanted to give herself up, declaring she had killed a patent medicine vender for whom she worked when he attempted to assault her near Salt Lake City. The police are investigating her story.

Only One Case of Smallpox.

The only case of smallpox reported yesterday was that of G. W. Squires of No. 33 Somers street.

GREAT CROWDS WATCH THE GRAND OPERA HOUSE MOVE

At 7 o'clock last night, when work was suspended for the day, the Grand Opera house, in Diamond alley, had been moved eastward 9 feet 4 inches. The 30 men employed on the big task had worked from 11 o'clock Saturday morning. It was hoped that the big structure would be entirely moved by last night, but in all probability it will not be finished until tomorrow. The building must yet be moved 13 feet 2 inches. Great crowds watched the gigantic moving all day yesterday, and the task was regarded as remarkable. The building weighs over 5,000,000 pounds, and when the task is completed will have been moved 22½ feet. There is a possibility that an injunction may be granted Harvey Speeler of Cleveland, O., today. He has filed a claim for infringement against the contractors, Rector Bros. of Chicago. He claims the rollers used in the moving are his patent. The claim was filed on Saturday, and no action was taken by the United States circuit judges. Some action may be taken today.

MOBBED A DETECTIVE BECAUSE HE GAINED DAMAGING EVIDENCE

Desperate Attempt to Lynch an Officer Made in Pennsylvania Town.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Scranton, Pa., July 26.—An attempt was made to lynch Detective John Peel of the Delaware & Lackawanna railroad at Foster last night by a mob of villagers, which was infuriated upon learning he had gained evidence against leading citizens for stealing brass and junk from the railroad.

Peel was attacked while waiting for a train, and as the mob came toward him with cries of "Lynch him," he drew his revolver. A mad rush was made toward him, but the leveled pistol, which the detective vainly tried to discharge, held them in check long enough for him to retreat into the depot and lock the door. Word was telegraphed to this city and a force of 25 officers was collected and started for the scene.

In the meantime a passenger train arrived and the crew with some of the passengers, after a desperate hand-to-hand battle, rescued the detective and hurried him to the train. The engineer got the train under way as quickly as possible and left the mob behind.

Wholesale arrests are likely to follow, as no less than 15 of the mob are known. The ringleader is alleged to be one of the leading citizens, against whom the detective had gained evidence in connection with the thieving.

CLOSE CALL FROM DEATH.

Engine Ran Over Charles Lyon, But He Was Not Seriously Injured.

Charles Lyon, son of Robert W. Lyon, a former mayor of Pittsburgh, had a close call from death yesterday afternoon at the crossing near the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie station, in McKees Rocks. Lyon and his brother-in-law, Robert Kane, attempted to jump on an engine hauling a train of freight cars. Kane succeeded, but Lyon missed his footing and disappeared beneath the engine.

At this point a moment he displayed rare presence of mind and lay perfectly still. When the engine passed over him slowly he made a quick move and squirmed between the wheels of the engine and the tender to the outside of the track. He was picked up unconscious, suffering from two scalp wounds caused by the contact of his head with the ashpan of the engine.

Sixteen stitches were required to close the wounds and Lyon will recover. Lyon is married and is employed at the Anderson-Dupuy Company's mills in McKees Rocks. He and Kane were on their way to see a baseball game near McKees Rocks.

TILLMAN REJOICES.

Southern Senator Glad of Recent Lynchings and Burnings in Northern States.

CHICAGO, July 26.—(Special.)—Senator Tillman of South Carolina, who is to hold a series of debates in the northwest with Senator Burton of Kansas on the race question, passed through town this afternoon on his way to Madison, Wis.

"Northern states have recently adopted the southern way of settling the race question," he said. "That seems to be the only practical way, unless the amendment to the constitution granting the negroes suffrage is repealed. We have shot them and burned them in South Carolina until they almost know their proper place now, although the desire to vote frequently causes trouble.

"People of the north are studying the race question. Let the good work go on and the beauties of the fifteenth amendment will continue to be manifest to the world."

MANY HURT IN WRECK.

Four Killed and 25 Injured in Smashup on Western Road.

ST. PAUL, MINN., July 26.—Two trains met in a head-on collision on the Chicago Great Western railroad, early today, and four men were killed and about 25 or 30 passengers injured. Fred Horton, the only passenger who was killed, was standing in the vestibule of the front sleeper talking to a friend. His friend escaped injury.

A misunderstanding of orders caused the Twin City limited and a fast freight to meet on a curve. The baggage, buffet and first sleeper were badly smashed, but the four rear cars remained intact on the track. These cars were used to bring the dead and injured to St. Paul and Minneapolis, where the injured were given surgical attendance. None of the passengers were seriously injured.

CANVAS OF A MASTER IS FOUND IN RUBBISH PILE

LOUISVILLE, July 26.—(Special.)—What is claimed to be a genuine VanDyck picture has been found among rubbish in the gallery of St. Catherine's church in Nelson county. It is a five-by-six painting of the "Removal of the Saviour From the Cross" and is declared by F. A. Raab, an Austrian artist, to be a genuine work of the Flemish master, founder of the Flemish school. The history of the picture is unknown.

Tried to Shoot an Officer.

WASHINGTON, PA., July 26.—(Special.)—Frank E. Bishop, charged with felonious shooting, was arrested last night after an exciting experience. When Officer Seybold and two others attempted to arrest Bishop he went to the house of Bert Pounds and secreted himself in an attic, entrance to which was gained only by a small square opening. Seybold started to go through the hole and Bishop flourished a revolver and threatened to kill him. Seybold sprang through the hatchway and wrenching the revolver from the man, pistoled him to the floor. Bishop was then lodged in jail.

NO THIRSTY ONES IN WILKINSBURG YESTERDAY

Druggists Sold Many Soft Drinks. Committee of Twelve Met Secretly.

So persistent were the druggists of Wilkinsburg yesterday in selling soft drinks that the committee of twelve held a secret meeting after church services last night to consider what means to employ to force the violators of the blue laws to close shop on Sunday. Informations were made against the druggists before Justice Walker just after midnight by interests favorable to the druggists. This is the procedure resorted to whereby the defendants may be able to put in a plea of guilty, pay thir fines and have them remitted. It is supposed that this will be done this morning.

The committee of twelve, it is understood, will not make informations for yesterday's violations until after 8 o'clock this morning, although it could not be positively learned whether the committee took this step last night. It was rumored that the informations were made.

Attorney Homer L. Castle, representing the committee, has just returned from Harrisburg, where he went to confer with the auditor general in regard to the remitting of fines. A member of the committee of twelve stated last night that the auditor general had ruled that the fines can and must be collected, and it is supposed that he will deputize some one to do this. Committeeman Minteer said: "With such a decision we do not care to worry ourselves about making informations just after midnight of the day in which the violations occurred. We will see that every fine that has been remitted will be collected. I think it will cost the druggists over $500."

Last Monday morning, for instance, the druggists or their friends caused to be issued 16 warrants before Justice Walker. Four defendant druggists were named, and the other warrants were for clerks. The fines in every case were remitted. It is now reported that the druggists will employ out-of-town clerks for Sunday work, so that if warrants are issued against them the constables will not be able to serve the papers. The druggists in this way hope to prevent the committee from piling up warrants against clerks which might be presented all at once.

The committee of twelve had six large tanks of ice water placed in different parts of the borough yesterday.

Double Tragedy in a Hotel.

NEW YORK, July 26.—A well dressed man, accompanied by a handsomely gowned woman about 23 years of age, registered at the Morton house this morning as "C. Weiss and wife, Syracuse, N. Y." Late in the afternoon the woman was heard shrieking, three shots followed instantly and when the room was entered she and the man were found dead. There is no clue to the motive for the shooting.

GUARDS SLEPT IN VESTIBULE

A Burlesque Quarantine Considered a Protection Against Smallpox by Health Bureau.

SLACK METHODS IN VOGUE

Guards at South St. Clair Street House Often Absent—Inmates Could Go in and Out at Will—Infected Bread Taken Away—City Employe Favored.

The burlesque quarantine at Mrs. Rankin's boarding house, No. 321 South St. Clair street, has been lifted, and the boarders are welcome to do what they could have done at any time, even during the quarantine—go in and out of the house whenever they please. The city employe, who did not have to submit to the quarantine like common folk, is back at the house, and the quarantine guards have found some other place to sleep than Mrs. Rankin's vestibule.

On the afternoon of July 7 Mrs. Rankin and the boarders who were in the house heard the cry of "smallpox" uttered by the children of some neighbors. Going to the door they found a quarantine guard in uniform standing in front of the house. The guard grinned propitiatingly and affixed a smallpox sign to the house. Presently other employes of the bureau of health arrived and said that Capt. John Sutton, a boarder, had been picked up suffering from smallpox, and the house was declared to be under quarantine. As the absent boarders arrived they were pushed into the house until all were there except Edward Fulton, an employe of the bureau of water supply and distribution.

Fulton Stayed Away.

Somebody in the house had telephoned to Fulton and he wisely refrained from returning. He took a room elsewhere, and, so far as the boarders know, he was never molested by the bureau of health, although those authorities were notified that he had been exposed to infection.

Capt. Sutton was on his way to a doctor and he met Dr. B. A. Booth, the city physician, on the street. Dr. Booth told him he had the smallpox and Sutton sat down on a doorstep until the ambulance arrived to take him to the pesthouse. That was on Tuesday, July 7. Mrs. Rankin was informed that the bureau of health would send some one out immediately to vaccinate the quarantined persons. Wednesday passed and Thursday came, and still the vaccination expert did not come. A young woman in the house, who had never been vaccinated, became almost hysterical until Mrs. Rankin sent for a doctor, who vaccinated the whole houseful. The next day, three days after the house was quarantined, a doctor sent by the bureau of health arrived, but found he was not needed.

Came a Little Late.

On July 9 the disinfecting wagon came, and Sutton's room and trunk full of bric-a-brac was disinfected, the rest of the house being left untouched. The same man who did the work returned the day before the quarantine was lifted, and, forgetting that he had already attended to the trunk and room, wanted to fumigate them again. At that late date he told Mrs. Rankin and the boarders that they must put all their wearing apparel into Sutton's room, so it could also enjoy the fumigating process, but when they declined he did not insist.

In the meantime a grocer, paid by the bureau of health, supplied the house with the necessaries of life. His son came and went, unhindered by the guards, and, one day, in the presence of the guard, the grocer took away a loaf of bread which Mrs. Rankin did not want because it was stale when sent there. The day guard and the two night guards also went in and out of the house, ate an occasional meal there, procured coffee and ice water now and then, and did not seem to be afraid of infection.

Snored in Two Keys.

The two night guards had a sinecure. At their request Mrs. Rankin left the vestibule door unlocked until her boarders complained that the continuous snoring of the guards in two keys was discordant and prevented the inmates of the house from sleeping.

On last Tuesday the boarders read in the paper that the new system of parole quarantine had been established. The guards said they knew nothing about it, and no measures to relieve the beleaguered people were taken. On last Thursday one boarder walked out the back way and the quarantine guard did not see him. That night the young woman boarder went out walking and the two night guards failed to see her either going or coming. The boarders made up their minds that on the next day they would introduce the parole quarantine system themselves, but on Friday the smallpox placard was removed and the quarantine guards departed.

The unquarantined city employe came back the next day and took dinner. He was in no mood for levity, for when the victims of the bureau of health asked him where he got his "graft," meaning what influence he had exerted to escape the common fate, he frowned reprovingly and was silent.

The boarders say the guards were absent so often that they could have left the house almost any time had they so desired.

FALL OF POMPEII AT THE BALL PARK TONIGHT

During Absence of the Pirates Pain's Spectacle Will Be Shown.

The special train of 20 cars bearing Pain's big spectacle arrived in the city over the Pennsylvania railroad from New York yesterday afternoon. The cars were switched at once to Exposition park, Allegheny, where they were unloaded, and the city of Pompeii is to rise this evening, and then be swept away by molten lava. By midnight the whole enclosure of the base ball park was piled with tons of lumber and steel frames and mountainous bundles of canvas, all carefully loaded, rolled and packed. Out of this chaos, Chief Pyrotechnist James Cunliff was making order, directing an army of workingmen. The activity was ceaseless.

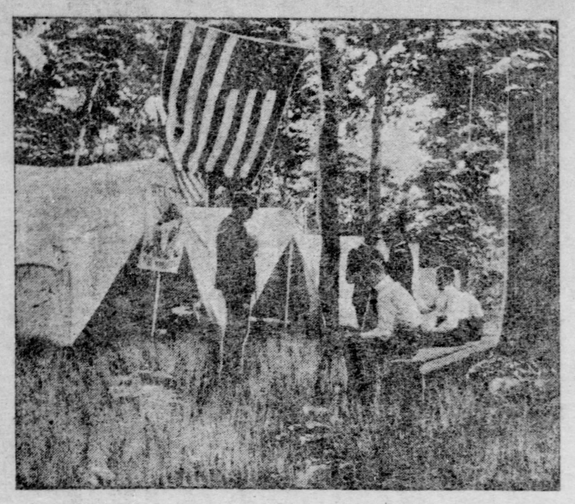
The engagement of "Pompeii" will be opened with splendor tonight when Mayor William B. Hays will fire the first bomb. All the arrangements, which have been under the direction of Pittsburgh lodge No. 11, P. B. O. E., have been completed. After the show cars will be in readiness to take the spectators home without any delay. The show will be given tonight and twelve succeeding nights under the auspices of the Elks.

In addition to over 200 people in the company, Mr. Pain employs about 200 people to act as populace in the streets of Pompeii. Tonight one of the features after the big spectacle closes will be the portrait of Mayor Hays in fire.

Labor League Seats Delegates.

The United Labor league met last night and transacted considerable routine business. Several new delegates were seated, among them being three from Holbrook lodge No. 378; one from District Assembly, No. 23, K. of L.; one from Allegheny people, No. 4907, K. of L.; one from Building Trades council, and three from Division No. 80, Street Railway employes. The Emergency hospital project was indorsed.

SMOKY CITY COMPANY WILL ENTERTAIN WITH GOOD PROGRAM



Sunday at Knights of Pythias Encampment.

Smoky City company No. 54, Uniformed Rank of the Knights of Pythias, will do the entertaining today in the Sixth regiment's camp at Calhoun park. Dancing and outdoor games will constitute the diversion for the visitors. The officers of the company are Capt. John G. Mackey, First Lieut. L. A. Sneary and Second Lieut. Walter I. Arlington.

The program for the field sports is as follows: Fifty-yard dash for girls, first and second prizes; 75-yard dash for boys, first and second prizes; 100-yard dash for officers only, first prize, a smoker's set; 100-yard dash, Knights Loyal only, silk umbrella; tug of war between Smoky City company and any other company in the regiment, box of cigars; baseball game, box of cigars; hop, skip and jump, free for all, set gold cuff buttons; 100-yard dash, ladies' only, silver cake tray.

Tomorrow the camp will be in charge of White Star company No. 16, of Pittsburgh. Its officers are Capt. I. A. Levy, First Lieut. J. H. Cohn and Second Lieut. Saul Cohn.

MURRY A. VERNER WILL COME BACK HOME TODAY

Political Harmony Has Received a Setback Which Will Require Some Strong Work on His Part to Secure Soon.

Murry A. Verner is expected to return to Pittsburgh from the east today, but unless Mr. Verner, as chairman of the Citizens party's county committee and one of the two leaders of that organization, is prepared to offer something more definite than he has yet proposed to the Republicans since he made the first peace proposition to them nearly two weeks ago, the talked-of political harmony will not be realized. The outlook for harmony was not the brightest yesterday.

The Republican leaders who received the proposition of the Citizens would be glad to agree to any plan to insure cessation of strife between Republicans and those who once were Republicans in municipal politics, and of this sentiment the Citizens party was informed when its envoy first aproached Republican leaders with his proposal,—but they are unalterably opposed to bringing into their organization discord and strife. The question with them is not who shall be the leader, for they realize that if there ever should be another leader he will have to develop himself in the course of time, nor do they fear the possible creation of a leader from among the men who are now their opponents, but they will not bring the Citizens party into the body of the Republican organization if it means a renewal of personal enmities, of bickerings and of the growth of conditions that are now disrupting the Citizens organization.

Flatly spoken, those are their sentiments, and unless Murry A. Verner can prevail on those whom he represents to guarantee that they will do nothing to disrupt the organization they are desirous of again joining, the harmony they are anxious to secure will be unattainable.

Sunday was a day of rest among the political negotiators. No conferences were held, but another may come off today.

CURIOUS CROWDS HEAR CARRIE NATION TALK

Kansas Smasher Indulged in Roasting at Calhoun Park. Trolley Park Doings.

Mrs. Carrie Nation, who attempted to reform bleeding Kansas with a hatchet, is making a big hit in vaudeville. She is no longer in the saloon-smashing business, having taken up the more lucrative calling of the summer night entertainer. She made her stage debut in Calhoun park yesterday and drew great audiences both during the afternoon and the evening. Thousands of people who were curious to see the editor of the Smasher's Mail had their curiosity satisfied; but it was evident that her monologue was too tame for the crowd and everybody welcomed the band when it struck up "The Old Folks at Home."

Nevertheless Mrs. Nation is a success from the park manager's viewpoint and the Pittsburgh Railways Company had difficulty in hauling the crowds that flocked to Calhoun. She was attired in a thin, light dress, made in Kansas fashion, and illustrated her harangue with gestures as elaborate as those of a Fourth of July orator. She literally put her foot down on the rum habit, roasted the popular five-cent cigar and unmercifully scored the Turkish cigarette. She took a heavy fall out of the poster artist and berated her sisters on the vaudeville stage who allow their decollette pictures to adorn cigarette boxes.

After Mrs. Nation came John F. Clark, a good monologue comedian. Some sprightly songs were sung by the McNulty sisters, a pair of clever girls whose efforts to entertain the crowd made the smasher's work appear all the more—unique. William Early and F. L. Barr, who were arrested on Saturday night in Water street while advertising Mrs. Nation's appearance for the traction company, were discharged yesterday morning when arraigned before Magistrate Stewart.

Kennywood, as usual, had big crowds, and Rocereto's band gave two good concerts. W. H. Maddock, the aerial acrobat, gave exhibitions that were generously applauded, and there was a series of funny pictures shown by the cinematograph.

At Oakwood park the Bartley Military band gave two concerts. Edwards and Kernell, comedy artists, and Joe Hayman, the Hebrew jester, with Marie Le Roy, the vocalist, were the special features.

Southern park had the Grand Army band and the special features were Maxwell and Dudley, comedy artists; Rastus and Banks, the colored team of entertainers, and John Murtha, the comedian.

HOMESTEAD MAN HIT WITH ROCK MAY DIE

Michael Karwileski, aged 27 years, and married, of No. 516 Helfel street, Homestead, is expected to die from injuries received shortly after midnight yesterday morning. He was standing in front of his home talking to two friends. Three men came out of a pool room nearby and one seized a rock and struck Karwileski on the head with it. The men then ran. Karwileski's skull is fractured, and it is said he cannot recover. The police are investigating the case.

PARKS NOT FOR ROWDIES' REVELS

Police Arrested Those Who Shock Respectable Persons in City's Breathing Spots.

SEVEN WENT TO THE LOCKUP

Large Number Driven From Highland Park—Party With a Jug of Whisky Gathered In—Open Spooning Also to Be Tabooed.

The city parks shall not be made places for rowdies to revel; liquors shall not be drunk in the city breathing spots; respectable persons out to enjoy nature shall not be offended and shocked by actions of those lacking the finer feelings of the human race.—Edict of the Pittsburgh police department.

A crusade was begun yesterday to expel the rowdy element from Highland park. Seven arrests were made, and three times that number of disorderly persons were driven from the grounds. Extra officers will be placed in the park and the campaign will be vigorously prosecuted.

Complaint has been made for some time against the conduct of Sunday visitors in Highland park. Many foreigners have lately made it a Sunday resort, and their boisterousness had caused respectable people to leave. With a comparatively small number of patrolmen little could be done toward watching such a large area, and additional men were detailed there on Sundays. Yesterday Sergeant P. J. Meenen of the park police had seven officers and planned a general round-up. Early in the morning a number of Italians approached the park carrying packages wrapped in newspapers.

"That looks like contraband booze," soliloquized the sergeant, with a crafty glance at the baggage of his visitors. It was too early in the day, however, to spoil the game by swooping down on this crowd.

"John, you'll find a nice pleasant place down there in the hollow to drink your lemonade," he said.

The Italians took the hint and skirted the hill, keeping clear of the park.

By the middle of the afternoon over 5,000 persons were scattered through the park. Every man under Sergeant Meenen was instructed to look out for violators of the law, and the chief of the law preservers stalked about to reconnoiter. He hadn't gone far when he accosted one of his subordinates.

"This looks like the continental Sabbath, sure enough," he said.

"It looks like a Donnybrook fair up there in the grove," rejoined the policeman.

Above the roaring of the lions, the screeching of the parrots and the growling of the bears in the zoo the officers heard loud voices of merrymakers up in the woods. On getting nearer they espied a crowd of Italians sitting around a two-gallon jug of whisky.

"They look like a party of brigands," observed the sergeant from his ambush.

"Well, I'm not afraid of the banditti with this," said one of the officers, measuring his mace. It was the signal for a charge upon the Italian camp. The swarthy revelers tried to run, but all were too much intoxicated, and rolled over on the grass, upsetting the few remaining gills of whisky in the jug. They protested innocence and at first refused to leave the park.

"We maka no harm," said one. "We coma da zoo to seea da monk."

The prisoners were finally dragged to Bunker Hill street and there loaded into a patrol wagon. The police then devoted themselves to looking after persons who carry luncheons to the park and scatter papers and other debris over the ground. Lovers who are too promiscuous in their spooning were given a few words of fatherly advice by the sergeant. Card games were looked for and visitors with decks in their pockets were told that immediate arrest would follow any attempt to start a game in the park. Superintendent John P. McTighe has promised additional officers for the crusade.

The rain yesterday afternoon caught thousands of park visitors and spoiled their day's outing. The Carnegie Institute was thronged by visitors from the country, who were brought here on Sunday excursions.

THREE-STORY HOUSE BLOWN DOWN BY WIND

New Building in Brereton Avenue is Wrecked Just After Being Completed.

A new three-story frame building at 3214 Brereton avenue, Thirteenth ward, was blown down by the wind at 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning and completely wrecked. The building had just been completed by Contractor Andrew Grendeski, and the tenants were preparing to move into it. The first floor was a storeroom and the two floors above were dwelling apartments of 14 rooms.

A high wind swept over the city shortly before noon, but was particularly severe along the Thirteenth ward hill. Along Brereton avenue it appeared in the form of a small cyclone, striking the building at No. 3214 without touching the houses on either side.

The inmates of the adjoining houses were terror-stricken by the crash. The new three-story structure was hit full in the front, the sides bulged out a few seconds and then the entire building collapsed. In an instant it was a mass of debris. It will have to be entirely rebuilt.

The Possibilities of the Remaining Five Days of July in This Store.

Starting with today Little Prices make their best curtsey, and with that curtsey throw out the hint that it will be impossible for them to get down to smaller proportions—unless, indeed, they were to vanish altogether and to put the goods they represent into the give-away class.

There will be several store sensations this week, due notice of which will be given. However, don't wait for these excitable sales specially, because each day of the five remaining days of July will be full of intense interest to people who are well posted on economies.

Starting with this morning the following is presented for today's guidance:

Long Coat Walking Suits, $16.50.

Made of all-wool cheviot, black and colors. Collarless coat with double breast front and large revers, to be worn open; long tunic and patent leather belt; pouch sleeves with cuffs; body lined with taffeta silk; skirt is unlined and has 7 gores.

At the time of writing this news (11 o'clock Saturday) we have 24 suits in stock. They came to us underprice from a thoroughly reliable maker. Bought under ordinary regulations of retailing the price would be $25.

Closing Out Porch Furniture

and odd pieces of other styles of furniture. A splendid opportunity to get the high grades of furniture we carry for about what the common furniture around town sells for. The offer is worthy of thorough consideration—that is if you wish an odd piece of furniture.

Rustic Furniture.

Made of silver birch from the famous Adirondacks, as full of rustic beauty as when it was in the New York forests.

$5 for Rustic Rocking Settees, were $10.
$1.25 for Rustic Benches, were $2.50.
$1.75 for Rustic Rockers, were $3.50.
$1 for Rustic Seats, were $2.
$3 for Rustic Rockers, were $6.
$3.25 for Rustic Morris Chairs, were $6.50.
$3.50 for Rustic Morris Tables, were $7.
$1.60 for Rustic Morris Chairs, were $3.25.
$4.75 for Rustic Settees, were $9.50.
$1.15 for children's Rustic Rocking Settees, were $2.25.

Cedar Furniture.

Native American wood, stained green—woven fiber seats—very attractive and equally desirable for dens or halls.

$10 for large cedar Arm Chairs, were $16.
$13 for cedar Morris Chais, were $20.
$3 for cedar Stools, were $5.
$20 for cedar Lounges, with reclining head, were $30.
$6.50 for cedar Chairs, were $10.
$10 for large cedar Arm Rockers, were $16.

Reed Furniture.

The reduced prices on this porch and lawn furniture are strong enough to clean the lot out in a very short time. Will you kindly take the hint and be early for your choice?

75c for Rockers, varnished frames and reed seats.
$1.50 for $2.25 Porch Rockers—high back, wide arms.
$1.50 for Arm Chairs to match the foregoing $1.50 rockers.
$4.50 for $7.50 Rocking Settees—to match the $1.50 rockers and arm chairs.
$8 for $15 and $16 reed Settees—green or natural.
$20 for $35 green Corner Seats with shelves.
$2.75 for folding Steamer Chairs—varnished frames, cane seats and backs.
Canton Chairs at $3.50 from $4.75, at $4 from $5.50, at $5 from $6.75 and $7.
Green oak Washstand at $10 instead of $20.
Green oak Toilet Table at $15 instead of $30.
Green oak Bedstead at $20 instead of $40.
We have a $130 Bedroom Suite of natural sycamore, consisting of bedstead, bureau and dressing table. If it suits your fancy you can have it for $65.

Strong Reductions on Towels and Toweling.

To have but a limited supply of towels is inexcusable, when we are selling made-up towels and excellent toweling for such small prices. Some details:

6½c a yard for a 10c grade of all linen silver toweling—red border.
10c a yard for a 12½c grade of heavy twill Barnsley Toweling, red border.
7c each for a 10c quality of cream Turkish Towels, size 21x43.
25c each for big 22x45-inch hemstitched Huck Towels, the finest towels ever sold in Pittsburg for a quarter of a dollar.

White Dress Cottons.

The downward tendency of prices on white dress cottons against the growing demand is a sort of anomaly. But anomalies are of every-day occurrence in this store, and these white goods at smallest of prices are a good representation:

12½c a yard for 20c and 25c grades of white Oxfords, Madrases and Broches.
25c a yard for 50c grades of white Madrases, Brilliantines and Broches.
35c a yard for 60c grades of white mercerized Oxfords and Madrases.
50c a yard for 85c, $1 and $1.25 grades of white mercerized Oxfords, embroidered Linens and Vestings.

Strong Underprices for Table Napery.

This is a good time for owners of restaurants, boarding houses and hotels to get a supply of table damask and save money by the investment. Prices today like these:

55c a yard for a 75c grade of bleached Table Damask, 66 inches wide.
85c a yard for a $1 grade of bleached Table Damask, 72 inches wide.
$1.25 a yard for several widths of bleached Table Damask, odd pieces in widths of 72, 81 and 86 inches—$1.50 and $1.75 goods.
$1.75 each for bleached Damask Table cloths—2x2 yards.
$2.75 each for bleached Damask Table Cloths—several sizes 2x3 yards up to 2x4 yards—$3.75 and $4 goods.
$1.35 a dozen for a $2 grade of bleached Damask Napkins, 22x22 inches.
$2 a dozen for a $2.75 grade of bleached Damask Napkins—23x23 inches.
$3.50 a dozen for a $4.50 grade of bleached Damask Napkins—26x26 inches.
$4.50 a dozen for a $6.50 grade of bleached Damask Napkins, 27x27 inches.

Today's Silk News.

Although these are clearance times we do not allow our variety of silks to get down to the point of slimness. Even new silks that have lately come in are sold at clearance prices.

Colored Silks.

At 68c a yard, reduced from the several prices of $1, $1.25 and $1.50—therefore various grades of printed Foulards and Shanghais, many designs and colorings.
27-inch black Taffeta, interspersed with white hair-line stripe, also 68c a yard, reduced from $1.
Blue ground Louisine, with hair-line checks, at 68c a yard, instead of 85c.
At 75c a yard, instead of $1 and $1.25, a table of fancy Silks, large variety of styles.

Black Silks.

Wooden silk is the latest achievement of science. It is an English invention, but as the rights of manufacture in this country have been sold to an American concern, the stuff will probably appear on the market in due time. As is well known, natural silk is spun by a species of caterpillar. The imitation process obtains a delicate thread from wood fiber, the single strands being finer than those possessing only one-third the strength of the natural silk thread. A report from our consul at Stettin, Germany, who has seen and handled the stuff, says it is very soft and of a cream color. It dyes readily and when woven has the appearance of real silk.

Assurances are given that Russia and Japan do not intend to fight, but are merely bluffing for position. A few days ago the assurances were all the other way; that Japan was ready to pitch in and Russia was gathering the necessaries of war as fast as possible. Apparently, it all depends on the point of view. War is not a thing to be entered upon lightly in any case, and Russia knows it, if Japan does not. The Russian finance minister says to the war party: "Where will you get your funds?" And the war party drops its ferociousness. It may be the same in Japan. Now when Uncle Sam begins to roll up his sleeves there is imminent danger, for he knows where to get the money and the men, too.

Announcement has been made at the meeting of the British Sanitary institute that the average of human life has been increased in Great Britain three years for men and five years for women. This is encouraging progress. Details are wanting as to whether the gain has been in a lessening of infant mortality, or whether the lives of adults are actually prolonged by that much. The latter conclusion might be assumed from the disparity in results for the two sexes, but the assumption would not be warranted. The disparity is, of course, due to the greater liability of men to death from violence, either in war or the avocations of peace, the males being more exposed to accidents. Men are also more exposed to stress of the elements. We are also left in the dark as to how much of this prolongation of life is due to sanitation, and how much to improving medical and surgical practice. The details of the statistics ought to be very interesting.

Tomorrow will be something of a red letter day for the Allegheny valley and Allegheny river improvement. The opening of the first slackwater dam on that stream is to be formally celebrated with ceremonies and speech making. We are glad to note the original intention to not have a steamboat parade has been abandoned at the eleventh hour, and we hope the Monongahela fleet will respond to the late order of Admiral Thomas M. Rees to participate with the Allegheny fleet in observing the occasion. We are glad to note that several congressmen have accepted the invitation to attend, but we are sorry there is no assurance from the secretary of war that he will be here on the auspicious occasion. The secretary, if he does not come, will miss a good time and an opportunity to acquire important information. The Gazette heartily congratulates the Allegheny valley upon this first step in the improvement of the river beautiful, and hopes the successive dams that are to carry the benefits of navigable water to Kittanning, East Brady and beyond will be pushed more rapidly to completion, so the present generation may realize some of the advantages.

Congressman Ernest F. Acheson of the Twenty-fourth Pennsylvania district stands firmly for the principle of nomination by party vote as against the antiquated conferee system. Washington and Lawrence counties have indorsed his position, but Beaver insists upon the conferee plan with equal representation to each county. Mr. Acheson has the best of the argument and he will continue to have the best side of it even though the state chairman may decide against him. Congressional districts should be considered as units and not as compounds of rival counties. There is no injustice in majority rule and there is no reason to believe that large counties will get an undue share of nominations under a popular vote system. It is the conferee system that has engendered county rivalries in the matter, and with its disappearance the narrow sectionalism that divides a district into rival parts will be wiped out. More attention will then be given to the personality and ability of a candidate and less to the immediate locality where he resides. When elected the member of congress is expected to represent the whole district, and so the whole district should have the opportunity to select the representative.

A story comes from the East End of how quarantine was not enforced upon a boarding house, or at least not upon all of its inmates. It is pertinent as indicating the need for prosecuting the investigation incited by Controller Larkin, which has been deferred until autumn at least by the obstinate refusal of one member of the committee to attend called sessions. There has been a brave show upon two occasions of enforcing universal compulsory vaccination. In the first instance, several students, not licensed to practice medicine, were sent out with police powers to inflict surgical operations upon unwilling persons. The second crusade was but recently started and presumably is now going forward. But while the surgeons are busy with their vaccine points, persons exposed to contagion are allowed to shift their quarters without hindrance. Of the two ceremonies quarantine is the more important and there is reason to believe a thorough investigation of the whole subject might be productive of much good. At the very least the public has a right to have the fullest information concerning the operations of a bureau that vitally affect every citizen. Such information is denied by one member of councils, who ought to resign his job with its uncongenial duties at once.

The Bulgarian government complains to the European powers that unless Turkey takes effectual steps to reform the intolerable condition of affairs in Macedonia it will be impossible to stem the national sentiment in favor of armed intervention. But, meanwhile, Bulgarian bands keep invading the province with the deliberate intention of keeping the country disturbed. Christian villages which want to keep out of the insurrection are attacked. Recently the London Times gave an account of how a Christian village sent to the Turks for aid against a Bulgarian band, which was defeated by the combined efforts of Christian and Turks. Meanwhile, the failure of the scheme of administrative reform suggested by the powers is now generally admitted, but the powers while not decided what to do next are determined that Bulgaria shall not profit by the disorder her revolutionary committees have created. It is becoming more and more likely that the situation will drift into war between Turkey and Bulgaria, but the powers will probably allow the latter to get a good thrashing, as happened to Greece when engaged in a similar enterprise against the remonstrance of the European powers. The revolutionists, one of whose achievements was the kidnaping of Miss Stone, are unable to comprehend how their unscrupulous behavior has turned European sentiment against them, but they have spoiled their chances for accomplishing either the independence of Macedonia or its annexation to Bulgaria.

Should Be a Quorum.

There continue to be intimations that a quorum may not be present for the special meeting of common council called for this evening. The alum water adherents are afraid of the result. They had hoped the long hold-up of the ordinances and padded estimates on sand filtration would cause the public to cry out for any old method of clarifying water. They have been mistaken. The hold-up has been deadly in its consequences, but the people of Pittsburgh are more than ever determined to have an absolutely good and permanent system of filtration. They want it without further delay and if they do not get it they will know the reason why.

There is no good reason why there should not be a quorum of common council tonight. Few members are out of the city. Those who are here must be fully aware of the importance of the meeting. If any wilfully absent themselves the fact will not be overlooked, nor will the cause be in doubt. They will simply stay away to further delay steps necessary to secure the public health, and they will take a share of the responsibility for the slaughter that is going on. There is no probability that any subject will be discussed at the meeting except that for which it has been called. No excuse can be found in that direction, and we believe a majority of members will be present, ready to transact business.

In respect to the main question of what kind of filtration shall be recommended there is hardly any room for indecision. The facts are plainly stated by the Pennsylvania Medical Journal in an editorial article, quoted on another page of this paper. That journal represents the Allegheny County Medical society and voices the sentiment of that body. On this particular subject it speaks equally for members of the profession adhering to the homeopathic and eclectic schools, for doctors are practically a unit in assigning typhoid infection to foul water in a majority of cases. The evidence that typhoid is oftenest water born is of most conclusive character, and the evidence of the efficiency of sand filtration to eliminate it is of the same character. The experience of Berlin, Hamburg and other cities leaves not a shred of doubt that sand filtration removes harmful germs from polluted water, the sewage farms at Berlin affording even stronger testimony than the filter beds. Berlin adopted sand filtration early in the last century and has had no occasion to regret it, for it has passed from an unpleasant eminence in typhoid to an extremely low ratio.

Hamburg clung to its filthy river water until the cholera scourge about 20 years ago. It was then noted that while it had thousands of cases of cholera Berlin had only an occasional important case and no spread of the disease. Then Hamburg took action. It got rid of the cholera, and when it had time to look into its general sanitary condition it found that typhoid had also been disposed of. Later Lawrence, Mass., applied the lesson with satisfactory results, falling from the highest typhoid fever death rate in this country to one of the lowest. Such results from sand filtration have been uniform. The results from mechanical filtration have been less satisfactory. In some places they have been good, in others fair and in a few the typhoid ratio has actually increased. As the Medical Journal says, there is one perfect, permanent system, and it should be put in operation as speedily as possible.

An Effort to Rise.

England, according to the London cables, continues to refuse to give the duke of Marlborough even an average rating out of the class in which he was born. It is to the credit of the young man, however, that he keeps diligently trying to be useful. In these efforts to make something of himself he will have the good will of a lot of people on this side of the Atlantic. There is a feeling that the United States is in a measure financing the duke's good intentions and, therefore, the wish that he succeed is not unnatural. His American wife is said to devote a large amount of her time to stimulating his ambition, and it will give general satisfaction if her labors are finally rewarded. The duke, after many attempts to break in somewhere, succeeded in getting himself appointed to the lucrative, but not spectacular or onerous post of paymaster general of the army. When the place was given him it was presumed that he was happily shelved, but to his honor be it said that he refused to accept the situation as it was intended. Instead, he regarded the paymaster generalship as a foothold and not a shelf, and from this first point of vantage reached out for a post of greater activity and usefulness. He persisted until now he has been appointed under secretary for the colonies, but England will be disappointed if he is not a failure. Failure is freely predicted for him, and predicted in a manner to indicate that the wish is father to the thought. The house of Churchill is not popular. It was not popular either in the last generation, but it must be said for it that its morals have improved and that the ambition of its present head is of the proper sort, whether his abilities are up to the required standard to succeed or whether they are not. Let us hope that they are. When a man is born to a dukedom neither fine morals nor fine abilities are required of him by the circles in which he moves, or by the outer circles that look on. He has only to live and to be given a full measure of distinguished consideration. If he is not satisfied with this, but is moved by some impulse or other to endeavor to make a man of himself it is a good sign. We hope that he will be able to do so, though we fear that the British estimate of his ability may be only too well founded. The duke has, however, been given a chance to rise superior to the fetterments of birth, and it is up to him to show whether he is made of the right sort of stuff for the task he has undertaken. It is suspected that the measure of success he has achieved is almost altogether due to the insistence of his American spouse, in whose veins the blood of the Vanderbilts and the Smiths flows in a forceful stream, but hereafter his own powers must carry him onward and upward if he is to move in those directions.

Startling Admissions.

Some astonishing evidence is being given in a New York criminal trial as regards the action of labor representatives. The case is the prosecution of Lawrence Murphy, formerly treasurer of the Journeymen Stone Cutters' union. He is charged with embezzling $12,000 of the union funds, and the defense set up by his counsel is that the charge is really an attempt to make Murphy a scape-goat for actions in which others participated. It is alleged that a ring controlled the union and divided large sums extorted from employers under threats of ordering strikes.

It should be remembered that these statements are made in defense against an accusation of embezzlement, and are hence to be suspected, but while emphatic denials were made on the witness stand some remarkable admissions were made. It was not denied that there was a secret committee, which exacted and demanded large sums from employers for alleged violations of union regulations. John Boyle, a member of the committee, was on the stand when documentary evidence was introduced showing the distribution of one fund of $9,600, and the following revelations were made:

Q. What was this money deposited in the Lawyers' Surety Company? A. It was put there in the names of members of the union so that they could draw against it for any services they rendered the union.

Q. How much was it? A. About $9,600.

Q. Give us the names of six members in whose names this money was deposited. A. Call, Fitzpatrick, Murphy, Putney, Smithson and Boyle.

Q. Now, why was this money put in the bank in individual names instead of being deposited in the name of the union? A. It was done for safety.

Q. Didn't these checks represent a division of the spoils? A. Not spoils.

Q. What else would you call them? Each man got a check, folded it up, put it in his pocket and went away, didn't he? A. Yes.

Q. Now, isn't it a fact that this $9,600 which you six divided up among you came from the Brooklyn bosses for settling a strike in precisely the same way that the $10,000 was obtained from Baird? A. I do not know.

Q. Now, wasn't this money that each of you got, payment in advance for alleged services you were to perform for the union? A. Yes.

Q. And isn't it a fact that you got together among yourselves and voted to pay yourselves this money for services you might happen to render during the year to follow? A. Yes.

This testimony has naturally attracted the attention of District Attorney Jerome, who has been investigating what he calls "labor graft," and it is stated that whatever may be the result of the trial so far as Murphy is concerned, there will be some indictments of members of the secret committee on charges of extortion. It should be noted that the prosecution of Murphy is being pressed by members of the union who had heard that its power and influence were being manipulated for private gain and not for the interests of the union. Organized labor is more concerned than any other interest in breaking up such practices and correcting the defects of organization which make them possible.

Terrors of War.

Men take strange roads to reach familiar objects. Thus a special cable in The Sunday Gazette told of the death of M. Fillipoff, supposedly caused by emanations from terrible poisons with which he was experimenting. The death was not odd, because M. Fillipoff met a fate that is always lying in wait for the venturesome scientist. The strange thing is that this learned man had spent the best part of his life trying to invent an engine of destruction without precedent, not to give his country the power of conquest, but to make war so terrible that it would never again be resorted to. M. Fillipoff left papers indicating his belief that he had accomplished his design, and that he might, from Russian territory, cause the destruction of Yildiz Kiosk, in Constantinople. It remains to be seen whether he carried his terrible secret to the grave, or left it to the Russian government, which has possession of all his scientific papers.

It seems impossible that any agent could be dicovered capable of working such havoc at a distance of hundreds of miles from the scene of its operation. The world will naturally hesitate to believe it. M. Fillipoff may have become insane from over-study. But that does not affect the fact that he took a strange road to secure universal peace—one that would put it in the power of one selfish nation to crush all rivals.

In the same paper was an account of the invention of a bullet-proof cloth by an Italian workman, which has been submitted for the approval of the French government. No doubt this inventor, too, has been actuated by humane motives, but he took the road in the opposite direction from M. Fillipoff. He endeavors to reduce the terrors of the modern rifle to a minimum. It may be a question which of the two has done most toward securing the peace of the world, though we incline to the Fillipoff idea that wars will cease only when they are too terrible to contemplate, or too expensive to prosecute.

News that Pittsburgh Phil has made another big winning on the race track will furnish fresh encouragement to the host of young fellows who make such things possible.

It is said that when Mr. Morgan reached Bar Harbor Saturday he showed no sign of worry. Which is probably Mr. Morgan's way of showing that it isn't his funeral.

The news from Columbus, O., that there has been an advance in the price of coal excites as much interest as a January advance in ice.

Of course, one explanation is as good as another, but there are people who say that the stock market razzle just happened.

It would seem from what appears in the newspapers that all railroads now have their terminals at the summer resorts.

It would be interesting to know what Henry Watterson now thinks of Wall street's ability to finance the Cleveland boom.

Wall street is, of course, a point of considerable interest, but it can't wholly divert attention from events at Rome.

People who are unable to buy more stocks can reflect that they have at least paid for a lot of valuable experience.

It is probable that until there is a filtration plant in operation there will be typhoid enough for all and some to spare.

While Russia and Japan are giving pacific assurances, it is noticed that they continue to keep their powder dry.

"There's nothing too good for the Irish," says King Edward, "and I'm getting to be as Irish as you find them."

And Maj. Gen. Miller also reviews the troops from a carriage. Is this diplomacy or preference, general?

The crops of wheat and corn promise to be almost as large as the crop of Wall street rumors.

The Hon. William J. Bryan's honesty of purpose continues to be conceded, but that's all.

King Edward can be one of the nicest men in the world, when he wants to be.

If there was a demand for typhoid fever Pittsburgh could supply it.

Continuance of the strike habit proves that there is prosperity to kill.

Danville, Ill., opened its lynching season with a great deal of eclat.

Ultimately Wall street cripples such as it does not kill.

There was another summer opening yesterday.

Improving the Allegheny.

Pittsburgh is making preparations for the formal opening of Herrs Island dam, officially known as dam and lock No. 1 on the Allegheny river. This improvement has been under construction for the past 10 years and when completed it will be the first of a series that will give the valley the benefit of slackwater navigation during three-fourths of the year. It is intended to give the event additional prestige by inviting the secretary of war and as many congressmen as will come to attend the opening; but the Pittsburgh Gazette thinks something will be lacking from the spectacular features because it has been decided to omit "the parade of steamboats that is usual on such occasions." That will detract somewhat from the splendor that might otherwise mark the occasion, no doubt, but the people of Pittsburgh and the western part of the state generally will be willing to forego festivities for the sake of the benefit of the improved navigation will be to their great and growing industries. To the true Pennsylvanian, the improvement of the Allegheny, making it navigable for large steamers the year 'round, is second in importance only to the improvement of the Delaware, and that is saying a great deal.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

IN THE EYE OF FAME.

Maryland has three living ex-governors, William Pinkney White, John Lee Carroll and Elihu E. Jackson.

Mrs. Nancy Rose, who for 47 years has had charge of the lighthouse at Stony Point, on the Hudson river, has received a handsome medal from the Scenic and Historic society in recognition of her faithfulness.

"Carmen Sylva," the queen of Roumania, is now busy on a play the text of which is said to be that marriages between peasants and princes are, to all right-minded persons, against nature.

Bird S. McGuire, the new delegate to congress from Oklahoma, is an all-around athlete, and is believed to have assisted in the conviction of more criminals than any other lawyer in the twin territories.

William H. Seymour of Brockport, N. Y., celebrated his one hundred and first birthday last week by entering a croquet tournament and making one of the best scores. Mr. Seymour is one of the wealthiest residents of the neighborhood. He retired from business 20 years ago, having made a fortune manufacturing reapers and binders.

The Quiet Observer.

ERASMUS WILSON.

Heat not a furnace for your foe so hot
That it do singe yourself.
—Shakespeare.

Mind that, now.

No doubt you have temper—everyone has who is rightly born.

However, you may have a temper. That's different, quite different, for if you have a temper you are liable to make more use of it than if you merely had temper enough to maintain a remarkable degree of dignity.

By the way, have you heard that they have discovered the microbe of jealousy, as well as of fits and things? And is it not possible that temper is determined, or at least regulated, by a specific microbe? This is rendered all the more probable since the microbe of jealousy has a partner in crime known as the microbe of anger.

Therefore, if your temper is such as to develop anger, you are, probably, a victim of microbes.

* * * * *

You may have noticed that anger, like hysterics, is catching.

Let a man who is boiling mad enter a room of good-humored people, and it will be only a moment or two until the whole party is feeling ugly and, maybe, looking for a fight.

Good humor is, likewise, contagious, but it does not seem to take hold as the other kind; probably because it is not as intense.

An intense spirit will spread, no difference what its character may be. This is clearly proven by the influence an intense actor, lecturer or preacher has on an audience. The matter of the address is not of as much importance as the manner.

This is in accordance with the well-known law of physics that a body containing an excess of energy will part with sufficient of it to raise other bodies in contact with it to an equality with itself.

A heated bar of iron placed in contact with other bars of a lower temperature gives off its heat until the whole mass has been raised to a uniform temperature.

* * * * *

It is on this same principle that an excited individual causes others to become excited, and if he is so constituted that he can keep right on generating this particular kind of energy he can charge many others with it so heavily that they will feel as he feels, think as he thinks, and act as he acts.

This is the secret of the success of the revivalist, the actor and the leader of outbreaks. The spirit of each is different, of course, but all in accordance with the same law.

In every community there are a lot of people who do not think for themselves, nor reason, but partake of the spirit of others. They become entranced by the harangues of an enthusiast and blindly follow his suggestions.

You may have often heard of red-eyed anarchists, and of hot-headed leaders of revolts. These expressions are entirely correct. A red eye, when not caused by an external irritation, is indicative of an inflammatory condition of the brain itself, or of the membranes surrounding it.

In either there is an unusual cerebral excitement. The eye flashes, the voice becomes shrill, and the whole frame quivers from the intense pressure or nervous energy.

The same thing is seen in electrical apparatus. A dynamo speeded to produce a certain pressure of electrical energy gives a steady light of a given candle power, but increase its speed and dynamo and the light becomes more intense and the carbon filaments soon burn out.

Brain or cerebral excitement acts in the same way on the nerves. Increase it and the eye brightens, the ear becomes more sensitive to sound, all the vital organs act with greater force or rapidity, and the muscles grow stronger.

A man with a strong will can control this excitement, or at least he can control the action of his voluntary nerves. This enables him to act rationally, but the ignorant, thoughtless or vicious man lacks this control, consequently he acts rashly, and may madly rush to his own destruction. His head becomes hot, his eyes red and flashing, and he is in condition to run amuck, or lead a riot. He cannot reason, consequently cannot control himself.

* * * * *

Keep your head cool.

Also, keep away from those whose heads are hot.

A hot-headed individual has no more regard for your comfort and safety than for his own, and probably not as much.

The promoters of riots and the inciters of mobs are often found hiding away in safety while the mischief they had planned is being done.

A man of honest convictions, of courage and principle is never afraid to meet his opponent face to face and assert his rights fearlessly. The rioter, being sensible of the fact that he is wrong, seeks for undue advantage.

Never lose faith in the government. It was organized to maintain law and order and to protect life and property.

Only those who are against law and order and have no respect for life or property, are against the government. These, with few exceptions, are ignorant, uncultured and improvident. If they had property they would want it protected, and if they had the good of the country at heart they would respect its laws.

Good citizens should stand up boldly and fearlessly for law, and hold themselves ever ready to aid the civil authorities in maintaining order.

"There is no king in America," is what the emigrant agent says to the ignorant people whom he is trying to induce to come to this country.

To them that means that there is no law here, and no one whom they need fear. That is one reason why they are so defiant and have so little respect for civil authority. Having been so long under strong government, and kept cowed down by a military that shoots, they do not know how to behave themselves when they become citizens of a free country.

We may not be able to make good citizens out of such people, but we will have to make them respect our laws.

* * * * *

"Like father, like son," is an old and oft-repeated saying.

If it is a true one, and there is a widespread feeling that it is, we may expect a long line of malcontents in this country.

It is possible, however, to hasten the change between the character of the father and the son. To do this we have only to take charge of the children of these undesirable citizens and educate them as every child in America should be educated.

Has the state a right to do this?

It has a perfect right to preserve itself, to protect the lives and property of its citizens. If this can be accomplished by educating the children of the ignorant and more or less vicious element, then has it not a perfect right to do it?

Law and Business.

Conditions here rapidly change. The old idea of commerce and the necessary scope of government which prevailed a century ago have been outgrown. Law has had to adapt itself to the new development or leave personal and property rights of the greatest importance virtually without protection, says the New York Tribune. New kinds of property have been created, new possibilities of doing wrong have been discovered, and the salvation of society may depend at times upon the power of a court to step in and enjoin some act which statute law never forbade because it never contemplated the necessity. That such powers should have a further evolution is natural, and, indeed, inevitable. Those who complain of the extensive development already seen in the use of injunctions must admit that the evolution has not nearly kept pace with the growth of business and the interdependence of interests which make possible the doing of irreparable harm by acts which once might safely have been left to punishment if, after they had been committed, they were found to be wrongful.

Running a Newspaper.

To run a newspaper all a fellow has to do is to be able to write poems, discuss the tariff and money question, umpire a baseball game, report a wedding, saw wood, describe a fire so that the readers will shed their wraps, make a dollar do the work of ten, shine at a dance, measure calico, abuse the liquor habit, test whisky, subscribe to charity, go without meals, attack free silver, defend bimetallism, sneer at snobbery, wear diamonds, invent advertisements, overlook scandal, appraise babies, delight pumpkin raisers, minister to the afflicted, heal the disgruntled, fight to a finish, set type, mold opinions, sweep the office, speak at prayer meetings, stand in with everybody and everything.—Nowata Advertiser.

Talked of in New York

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, July 26.—In laying the corner stone of a new Congregational church in the Bronx today, the pastor, the Rev. William H. Kephart, evidently had in mind the maxim, "The better the day, the better the deed." The question might come up whether it is strictly according to the Scriptures to use a trowel and mallet on a Sunday except for necessary labor. The corner stone could have been laid yesterday or tomorrow, and people with serious ideas about the sanctity of the Sabbath might not have been shocked. Some such criticism has been made about the laying of this corner stone, but, in view of the multitude which witnessed the ceremony this afternoon, and the reverence pervading the exercises, it is probable that the conscience of each person participating is clear tonight. President Haffen of the borough of the Bronx was one of the speakers. He is talked of now as a candidate for mayor of New York on the Democratic ticket, and perhaps it is a good political idea for him to be as active in all good public works as he can. At all events, he was at the corner stone laying today, and he made a remarkably good speech. The edifice will cost $75,000. A few years ago this district, in the upper part of eastern Manhattan, was sparsely built, and was in a measure cut off from the rest of the city. Elevated and trolley line extension have developed it, however, and now there is a community in the Bronx so large as to make it to all intents and purposes another city in itself.

Where the Lion Is King.

The zoological garden in the Bronx park is an institution about which too little is known by visitors to New York, as well as to New Yorkers themselves. The collection of animals is very large, and there are many rare specimens. W. T. Hornaday, the director, has traveled extensively in the haunts of wild creatures, and has written several books dealing with them authoritatively. He makes his life work the selecting of animals which are worth attention, and any one may spend an instructive hour at this great menagerie. To get there one takes the Third avenue "L" and rides until the end of transportation is reached. Then walk through one of the most beautiful parks you ever saw until you hear the lions roar. That is the zoo.

The Tenderloin for Tuberculosis.

Two consumptive patients at North Brother island found things slow there yesterday and decided to come over to New York to do the Tenderloin. They were supposed to be under surveillance, but they managed to smuggle themselves aboard the charities department tug, and were found stretched out in the cabin reading newspapers and having a rowdy time generally. They were walked back to the hospital and put to bed. They insist that a spin around Manhattan would have done them good.

Mormonism in Manhattan.

One Mormon missionary was preaching in the street in New York this afternoon and evening, and only one. A dozen of them wanted to hold forth in different parts of the city, but only one got a permit. Mayor Low granted it because, as he said, a failure to do so would seem to imply that the civil authorities can pass upon such applications from the religious point of view. The mayor regards street preaching, when there is too much of it, as simply a nuisance, and for that reason he does not care to grant many permits. The Salvation Army has permission to hold meetings at certain points on some evenings through the week, but as a rule open-air evangelization is frowned on by the authorities.

Religion Served Hot.

Gospel in tents is one of the prominent religious features of New York on these Sunday evenings. There was an immense crowd in the gospel tent near Central park this evening, and those connected with the movement report gratifying progress. Conversions are numerous, and the forceful way in which great Scriptural truths are impressed on the listeners bears rich fruit. It is a recognized fact that many people will not accept religion in any way except when it is seething with the fires of Tophet, and that is the kind of warm doctrine one hears at these revival meetings. Fear is a better evangelizer than love, evidently.

How School Boys Work.

Some time ago a few well-meaning persons got the idea that children were overworked in the public schools of this state, and particularly in Manhattan. The state board of regents has been investigating the matter, and has issued a report that none of the students in the schools study more than is good for them. At the same time the board's own figures indicate that in the high schools, at least, young people work fairly hard. They average seven hours and twenty-four minutes each school day in recitation and in preparation for recitation, besides averaging two hours and seventeen minutes on other work, making a total of nine hours and forty-one minutes. In these times of eight hours a day for all kinds of labor, with a half-holiday on Saturdays, it looks as if students in the high schools are compelled to be more industrious than the ordinary artisan. The board of regents must watch themselves or they may find themselves in a mix-up with a "schoolboys' union" on this eight-hour question by the time the walking delegates have digested the full significance of the report.

That Equine Duel.

So the great McChesney, the western horse that, according to his trainer, will be able to lower the colors of the speedy Waterboy, is not at Chicago after all. He is at Saratoga, "ready to meet all comers," as Mr. Hildreth expresses it. New York horsemen are glad to learn that there is likely to be a test of quality between Waterboy and McChesney at Saratoga, because it will be within reach of Broadway. As for the respective chances of the horses, they have been canvassed every day since it was first known that a race between them was at all probable. A lot of New York money will go on Waterboy whenever the duel takes place.

New York on Its Knees.

This was one of the most solemn days in Catholic churches in this city that has ever been seen. It was the most solemn one in the memory of the younger generation. Prayers for the repose of the soul of Leo XIII. had been offered in all the churches throughout the week, but today there were special observances, and every church dignitary in Greater New York took part. The cathedral, in its impressive mourning drapery, was crowded this morning and again at vespers, while throughout the whole day many worshipers kneeled in the darkened fane and prayed individually for the spiritual welfare of the pontiff.

Big Day at Coney.

Coney Island today again had the biggest crowd its habitues had ever seen. This is such a common report on summer Sundays that one wonders what really is the limit of capacity of "Old Coney."

Political Drift.

Absent the "important conference" of Democrats from all parts of Ohio at the Cleveland residence of Mayor Tom L. Johnson, the Philadelphia Bulletin (Rep.) learns that it was to devise ways and means to elect a Democratic legislature and so defeat the desire of Senator Marcus A. Hanna for re-election, but it believes the election statistics of Ohio give no encouragement to the scheme. The Bulletin concludes "Tom Johnson is a lively campaigner, but enthusiasm is commonly at a discount when it comes into collision with hard facts."

Mr. Bryan's attitude is far from pleasing the Brooklyn Times (Dem.), which says: "Mr. Bryan takes frequent opportunities to inform the Democratic party what he will do if certain men are nominated for the presidency upon its ticket. He is thus busily engaged in declaring that he will bolt this or that man. Thus does the twice defeated candidate prove to the world that he is an embittered man. He will never forgive the nation for his two defeats, and he seems inclined to make it his duty that no other Democrat shall secure the prize that he lost, especially at the coming first opportunity after his own defeat."

Kentucky is fair fighting ground in the opinion of the Philadelphia Inquirer (Rep.), which says: "The Republican candidate for governor in Kentucky has been calling upon President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay and telling him that Kentucky will vote for him next year. Furthermore, Mr. Bellrap hopes to be successful himself next November. It isn't so very difficult for the Republicans to carry Kentucky. They have proved that to be the case. The trouble is in holding the state after they have won it. In throwing the last Republican governor out of the capitol the Democratic leaders committed a crime that no right-minded man should condone for a moment."

Touching the chairmanship probability of the next national campaign, the Washington Star (Ind. Rep.) says: "Before sailing for England the other day Senator Lodge expressed the opinion that Mr. Hanna would be re-elected chairman of the Republican national committee and would accept the place. Senator Platt of New York follows with an expression of the same opinion. In both cases the wish may be father to the thought. But there is much to encourage that view of the matter. Mr. Hanna is still popular with the rank and file of his party, and still in the confidence of the business world. He has probably lost none of his skill as an organizer. His health is 'mending.' He is reasonably certain of re-election to the senate. Why then should his party not turn to him again, and why should he not accept the management of next year's campaign?"

Senator Nelson W. Aldrich, as ex-Gov. Robert E. Pattison might put it, lives in the wrong state to be vice president. So thinks the New York Tribune (Rep.), which, among other things, says: "Senator Thomas C. Platt was evidently in a jocular mood when he suggested last Sunday that Senator Nelson W. Aldrich of Rhode Island be nominated next year for the vice presidency. Not that Mr. Aldrich would not make an admirable candidate for this or any other office within the gift of the Republican party. * * * But, eligible as Mr. Aldrich is for the honor Mr. Platt would offer him, there are many practical political considerations which make his association with President Roosevelt on the next Republican national ticket an 'iridescent dream.'"

"If a majority of the Republican membership of the next house is determined in favor of currency reform, it will break the autocratic power of the speaker," the Springfield Republican (Ind.) says. "If there is failure to do this, we may conclude that even the Republican side of the lower branch of congress is only half-hearted respecting such a change in the bank-note system as the administration intends to favor."

Of the vice presidency the Cincinnati Enquirer (Dem.) says: "There is probably no man who is eligible to the office, and who is in possession of health and strength, who would refuse the presidency. The same spirit should prevail as to the vice presidency. It is good enough for anybody. It is a constitutional position of great importance and ought to be profoundly influential."

\+ \+ \+ \+

Among the Democratic papers that are taking the Cleveland revival seriously is the Philadelphia Record (Dem.). Unlike the Commoner and Courier Journal, it does not vilify the ex-president, but it says: "There is no question that Mr. Cleveland possesses in a greater degree than ever the confidence and good will of the conservative masses of the country; that the popular prejudices against his last administration have been dissipated, and that he would do a great deal of good in a third term. But the Democrats cannot break a most useful precedent on his account. It would be a sad confession of intellectual poverty if the Democracy could find no other candidate to bear its standard. Instead of a third term thoughtful minds are turned to the question of a limit to one term only, so that a president may not employ all of his first term to secure a second nomination and election."

A Natural Movement.

It appears to be pretty well determined that the Republican factions in Allegheny county, which have been at odds for something over two years, will get together and work as one organization. This will, of course, end all fusion arrangements with the Democrats, says the Philadelphia Press. * * * It is natural enough, therefore, that there should be a disposition on both sides to wipe out the differences. The basis of peace, as indicated, will be a complete reorganization of the party committees in the city and county, putting aside, so far as possible, the old elements that have been at war and bringing forward new influences that will direct the organization less in individual and more in party interests. Both factions can get in line under such conditions, and the only losses will be to the Democrats who have been in the fusion movement and who have profited by it to the extent of a number of offices which they could have secured in no other way.

Ohio's Paramount Issue.

The Democracy of Ohio are united in desiring to defeat Senator Hanna for re-election. It is one issue on which all factions can agree. Every other question will center and revolve about it. It is the paramount issue of the campaign, however much Mayor Johnson may talk his issue and fanciful in the hope of winning votes.—Ohio State Journal.

Something to Remember.

Though the Kishineff petition has been rejected it still exists as a powerful protest against barbarism and atrocity under what claims to be a civilized government. Let us not forget also that there is need of an equally strong and decidedly more effective punishment right here at home against the barbarism and atrocity of lynching.—Providence News.

ATLANTIC CITY TO HAVE NEW THEATER

Klaw & Erlanger Conclude Negotiations to Build It on Young's Pier.

WILL BE A MODEL STRUCTURE

Plans Nearly Complete for Remodeling the Inshore Portion of the Pier—$100,000 Will Be Expended on the Enterprise—Will seat 2,000.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Young's Ocean Pier.
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 26.

One of the most important theatrical deals ever accomplished in this city came to a head this afternoon whereby Klaw & Erlanger obtain control of the theaters on Young's pier. Julius Cahn and two architects representing Klaw & Erlanger arrived today and went into executive session with Capt. Young, Thomas Terry and Harry d'Esta. It was decided this afternoon that all should be arranged as Capt. Young wished.

The project is this: On September 15, when the last bookings of the summer season come to an end, the entire front of Young's pier will be torn out and the work of building a modern playhouse will begin. The theater will begin 200 feet back from the boardwalk, leaving the general frontal aspect of the pier much as it is at present. The new house will be constructed of iron and terra cotta fire proof material. The house will be smaller than the present theater and will embody a balcony and a gallery with the new adjustable boxes which have become a feature of theater construction. The floor of the auditorium will also be of the approved type and will be filled with the latest seats. The arrangement of the boxes will be such that parties of 12, eight or six can be accommodated so that all may be together. This will be accomplished by means of sliding partitions which may be shifted to different positions. The seating capacity will total nearly 2,000. The stage will be remodeled, the present size being sufficient. It is the intention of the architects to model the new house on the lines of the Metropolitan opera house. It was agreed that $100,000 should be spent in order to furnish a first-class structure. It is the intention to begin work on September 15 and to have the building in readiness for an opening in February, 1904.

Dockstader's Pets Drowned.

Duke and Don, two beautiful Italian greyhounds, valued at $5,000 and owned by Lew Dockstader, the minstrel, were drowned this afternoon off Young's pier. The dogs were used by Mr. Dockstader in the first part of his minstrel performance, having been trained to form a part of the picture. Duke, the handsomer of the two, had been showing signs of distemper for a few days and had been shipped from Manhattan beach for treatment by Dr. Jarboe, the well known veterinarian of this place. About 3 o'clock the dog, which was chained to his mate, showed signes of rabies, attacking its fellow canine viciously. Bystanders were powerless to interfere and the two dogs fought to the brink of the pier, where they fell into the water and were drowned. Mr. Dockstader was much affected by the loss of his pets.

Pittsburgher Rescued.

Guards were kept busy all day and at least one Pittsburgher was dragged out of the surf. He gave his name as Frank Collins and told the guards that he came here Friday on the Pittsburgh excursion. He went into the surf at Missouri and came out into the current after he had been warned to keep near the shore. In an heroic attempt to save her mother, Miss John Anderson, who had been swept beyond her depth by the current, Miss Emma Anderson of Philadelphia was nearly drowned yesterday. Miss Anderson, who succeeded in holding her mother above water until the arrival of the guard, was unconscious.

ELOPED WITH WIFE OF HIS OLD-TIME FRIEND

William Wheatley Ran Away With Mrs. William Morgan of East Pittsburgh—Woman Deserted Child—Man Left Sweetheart.

William E. Morgan of East Pittsburgh is looking for a missing wife; a little child is crying for the mother who deserted it; William Wheatley has left his boarding house in McKees Rocks; Wheatley's sweetheart, who looked forward to being a wife next month, mourns the loss of a lover, and the police are on the lookout for the elopers. A note on the supper table Saturday evening told all to Morgan when he arived home from work and found that his help-meet had gone with his old-time friend—the man Morgan had befriended.

Wheatley, Morgan and Mrs. Morgan were children together in Staffordshire, England. They went to the same school. Ten months ago Wheatley came to this country and settled in McKees Rocks. He wrote to Morgan two months ago and told great tales of the prospects here. Morgan, his wife and their small boy came here six weeks ago.

Morgan secured employment as a blacksmith in East Pittsburgh. Wheatley often visited them. The latter was employed as a foreman of a gang of laborers in the car shops at Schoenville. Morgan knew his wife was fond of Wheatley, but thought it was due to their childhood companionship.

Saturday evening Morgan returned home. He found the supper on the table and his wife missing. Their two-year-old son was asleep in a bedroom. There was a note under Morgan's plate from his wife stating that she had left him. Morgan went to McKees Rocks and learned that Wheatley had given up his work and left his boarding house.

He reported the matter to the Pittsburgh and Allegheny police. No trace of the couple has been found.

Morgan and his wife are 27 years old and Wheatley is 25. Morgan told the detectives that he wanted the couple captured and punished, as he would not live with his wife again. While in England, Morgan had befriended Wheatley in many ways.

ELECTRIC LINES ARE GOOD EARNERS

Pennsylvania Leads All States in Street Railroad Construction for 1902.

CAPITAL OVER TWO BILLION

Pittsburgh Railways Company Heads List for Injured and Killed in This State. Taxes Are Low in Pennsylvania. Many Passengers Are Hauled.

For the year ending June 30, 1902, Pennsylvania leads all other states in electric railway construction by several millions of dollars, and the operation of the 2,542 miles within the state gave net returns much more satisfactory than the average state. In Pennsylvania the Pittsburgh Railways Company, doubtless owing to its great mileage and the physical condition of its rights of way, headed the list of both killed and injured, the figures being respectively 79 and 1,054.

This record may not appear so bad in the face of the total number of passengers hauled during the year, which is 179,912,227, the number of paid fares being 161,456,822, with a car mileage of 32,067,964. The Union Traction Company of Philadelphia, for example, hauled, during the same period, 325,801,963 people, injuring only 309 and killing 42. All of the lines of Pennsylvania hauled 678,735,599 passengers from June 30, 1901, till June 30, 1902, injuring 2,680 and killing 186.

During that fiscal year construction work to the amount of $36,278,382 was done in Pennsylvania, while the state reporting the next largest expenditure is Illinois, with only $13,670,690. The total for the United States is $126,682,473.

The 799 street railways of the country of all kinds of motive power have assets of $2,545,132,805, with an aggregate outlay of $2,167,031,077 for cost of construction and equipment. The total authorized capital stock of the companies is $1,529,169,589, with $1,315,372,960 issued. On this investment the 799 companies showed gross earnings from operation, $247,553,999; net, $105,241,402, and $15,882,110 declared in dividends. A total of $77,395,053 taxes was paid, $2,931,232 of this being on capital stock.

Second to New York.

The railroads of the state of New York lead in capitalization, assets, mileage and earnings. Pennsylvania stands second with the nucleus in and about Pittsburgh.

The total mileage in Pennsylvania is 2,542, which is owned and operated by 98 companies with an aggregate authorized capital of $238,711,100, of which $211,728,495 is issued.

The 96 roads of New York own and operate 2,889 miles, the 62 roads of Ohio, 2,454, and the 48 roads of Illinois, 1,713 miles. The capitalization of the New York lines is $300,451,805, with $276,205,672 issued; of the Illinois lines, $205,518,173, with only $160,527,416 issued, and of the Ohio lines $120,507,200, with $108,893,650 issued.

The 93 Pennsylvania companies, on a total paid-in capital of $211,728,495, earned from operation, $30,219,211 gross and $14,694,386 net, declaring dividends of $621,811 and a surplus of $1,242,817. Gross earnings from operation by the New York roads were $39,315,606, and net $25,637,882.

The assets of the Pennsylvania lines are $643,014,844, with cost of construction and equipment of $521,942,957. The 98 electric and other items of street railroads of the state paid in during the year ending June 30, 1902, taxes to the amount of $12,868,286, of which $896,619 was paid on capital stock and $102,873 on personal and other property. Massachusetts, for example and comparison, paid $854,402 taxes on a total capitalization of $30,378,602, or practically the same capital tax as Pennsylvania on a sum almost three-fourths less.

Up in the Billions.

During the period there were in existence 817 operating street and electric railway companies and 170 companies leased to and operated by other companies, making a total of 987 companies. These companies owned and controlled 22,576.96 miles of single track. The par value of the capital stock and the funded debt outstanding as reported amounted to $2,308,282,069. The average net capital liabilities per mile of single track owned for the companies having both factors were $96,287. The total income and expenses amounted to $250,504,627 and $219,907,650 respectively. The companies gave employment on the average during the year to 133,641 wage-earners and paid $86,770,449 in wages. The roads carried 5,871,937,830 passengers of all kinds.

These figures are taken from a bulletin just issued by the census office. Information furnished by the various companies shows that the Pittsburgh Railways Company owns 1,189 cars of the open and closed variety, all of which, of course, are not in use all of the time. This company, during the year ending June 30, 1902, handled 161,456,822 paid fares, and, according to the figures, the company operates one car to every 135,682 passengers, while the Union Traction Company of Philadelphia runs one car for every 109,259 passengers. It must be taken into consideration, however, that the cars of the Pittsburgh Railways Company travel much farther than those of the Philadelphia Traction Company, although the difference from this source is not great.

The report shows that the Pittsburgh Railways Company owns more engines for generating power than any company in the United States. It has 47 engines.

THE DEATH ROLL

Mrs. Mary Howe Childs.

Mrs. Mary Howe Childs, widow of Col. James H. Childs, died yesterday afternoon at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Alexander J. Wurtz, in Shady avenue. Mrs. Childs was descended from one of the oldest of New England's families, her father, Gen. Thomas M. Howe, having been one of Pittsburgh's earliest settlers and most influential business men. The family descended from John Howe, who came from England with the Pilgrims prior to the year 1632 and settled in Sudbury, Mass. Mrs. Childs was connected by marriage with several of the most prominent families in Pittsburgh. She was a member of Calvary Protestant Episcopal church, and when it was apparent that the end was near Bishop Vincent, a former rector of the Calvary congregation, was summoned from Cincinnati. He arrived at her deathbed yesterday morning but a few hours before his old parishioner expired. Since her husband's death Mrs. Childs has resided in Willow Cottage, at Fifth and South Highland avenues. Mrs. Childs is survived by her sisters, Mrs. James W. Brown and Mrs. George W. Guthrie, and her children, Mrs. Wurtz and Thomas Howe Childs.

Funeral of Elmer Zacharias.

The funeral services over the remains of Elmer Zacharias, son of Albert Zacharias, one of the proprietors of the Merchants hotel, Water street, near Smithfield, who was drowned in a lake at Cascade park, New Castle, Pa., on Saturday, will be held at his late residence, No. 3680 Mifflin street, Pittsburgh, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Coroner E. C. Porter of New Castle yesterday decided that no inquest would be necessary. The remains were brought to Pittsburgh yesterday by Charles Powell, of No. 329 Thirty-seventh street, a brother-in-law of the drowned young man. Zacharias' was the second drowning in the Cascade park lake. Herman Kook of Allegheny lost his life in the same place two seasons ago.

Emory Gleason.

Emory Gleason, aged 88 years, died last night at 7:20 o'clock at the home of his niece, Mrs. John Sole, in Bellevue. Mr. Gleason was born in Connecticut and at an early age went to work in the cotton factories of Lowell, Mass. He made rapid advancement and when a young man was superintendent of a large factory. He came to Allegheny county in 1837 and engaged in several enterprises. He purchased a large tract of land on the Ohio river and was one of the incorporators of the borough of Bellevue, which was laid out on a portion of his estate. He was twice married. His second wife, Miss Mary Landis, he married in 1848. She was a charter member of the Bellevue Methodist Protestant church. Mr. Gleason left no family.

Mrs. Bridget Slattery.

Mrs. Bridget Slattery, widow of Hugh Slattery, died of old age at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Robert Tener, in Card avenue, Wilmerding, at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning. She was born in Mayo county, Ireland, 72 years ago, and married and come to Pittsburgh in 1845. Edward Slattery, a son, and two daughters, Mrs. Tener and Mrs. Edward Doyle of Wilmerding, survive her. Services in St. Aloysius Roman Catholic church, Wilmerding, of which the deceased was a member, will be held Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock and interment will be made in St. Mary's cemetery, Pittsburgh.

William H. Patterson.

William H. Patterson, of the firm of Patterson & Co., hardware dealers of Mt. Pleasant, died Saturday morning after a lingering illness of two years, death being due to tuberculosis. Mr. Patterson had recently returned from the west, where he went for his health. He was 36 years old and a prominent business man. He was a member of the Methodist church and is survived by his wife and one child.

John Hollingsworth.

The death of John Hollingsworth, aged 70 years, one of the best known residents of Youngstown, occurred Saturday night after an illness of years from spinal trouble. He went to California during the gold fever, but returned east, engaging in the hardware business in Cleveland and returned to Youngstown 23 years ago. He never married. He leaves two sisters and one brother.

Mrs. Ada L. Vandergrift.

Mrs. Ada L. Vandegrift, wife of George Vandegrift of New Castle, died Saturday night at the family residence, from cancer, after several months' illness. She was 55 years old and was born at Perrysopolis, Fayette county. She was a member of the Park Christian church and was widely known. She is survived by her husband and six children, and also leaves a brother and two sisters.

Mrs. John M. Haslett.

Mrs. John M. Haslett, aged 64, of No. 175 Forty-fifth street, died at her residence yesterday morning. She had been a resident of Lawrenceville since 1884. She leaves a husband, two sons, William J. and John M., and four daughters, Mrs. John McLain, Mrs. W. S. Hoerr, Mrs. W. B. Morrison and Mrs. A. H. Heist.

Mrs. Mary Ann Rowe.

Mrs. Mary Ann Rowe, aged 82 years, native of Cornwall, England, who came to this country 32 years ago and settled in Frostburg, died yesterday. She leaves six children, Thomas and Fred of Frostburg, James in Australia, John in Cornwall, William in Kansas and Mrs. C. L. Bashett in Utah. Her husband died in 1888.

Obituary Notes.

Mrs. Wilhelmina Braun, aged 69 years, widow of Gottfried Braun, died yesterday afternoon at her home, No. 87 Spring Garden street, Allegheny. The funeral will take place from St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church, Allegheny, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Henry A. Miller, a well-known salesman, died last night at 8 p. m. at his home, No. 4046 Butler street, in the 26th year of his age. He leaves a widow. Funeral services will be held tomorrow evening at his late residence. The interment will take place on Wednesday and will be private.

PERSONALS

R. Jiminez Degila, Jr., of Puerto St. Marie, Spain, arrived in Pittsburgh yesterday and registered at the Seventh Avenue hotel. He represents a firm importing wines. Speaking of the business, He said, "The amount of wines imported to this country from Spain will reach about 25 per cent more than last year. This is probably due to the prosperous condition for the last two years. As a rule, the wine merchants make only sufficient to supply the demand. When too much is made it ties up more money than can be gained in profit when it is sold. Wine from 20 to 25 years old is scarce, as merchants make a point to turn the product into cash as soon as possible."

A. Roders of Germany is registered at the Lincoln. He is here on a sight-seeing tour. He came from Niagara Falls and will visit several local industrial works before leaving the city.

BRADDOCK IMPROVEMENTS.

Changes at the Edgar Thomson Steel Works Are Now Going On.

Work has been started at the Edgar Thomson steel works on the contemplated improvements at the steel mills, made possible by the changing of the course of old Braddock avenue. The Carnegie company has begun to tear up the rails of the track, a distance of about a mile or more, which formerly belonged to the Union Traction Company in Braddock avenue.

A retaining wall is being built near the steel works general office. It will be a quarter of a mile long and about 15 feet high. The ground gained by the closing of Braddock avenue is being leveled and excavations are being made at other points.

SCHOOL VACATION IS TO BE LENGTHENED

Anticipating a long, warm summer, the Braddock school board has decided to extend the summer vacation two weeks longer than usual. The schools will not reopen September 1, as scheduled and as they always have done, but on September 15. Members of the board say this will be done to avoid the hot weather. There will be the nine months of school, however, by extending the term two weeks into the spring.

B. & B.

Shelf-emptying today worst we ever did as to price.

Went through our wholesale and retail stock of fine double width madras and sorted out all the odd lines and surplus.

Put prices on that will prove it's the worst sacrifice we ever made.

Read—then come and get all you want—for now and future.

200 pieces fine double width woven (not printed) 25c striped Madras, 10c —great variety styles and colorings—neat, medium and elaborate.
350 pieces—wholesale surplus, and what were in the retail shelves, fine 15-cent striped Madras—light, medium and dark, 7½c.

Double width 35c imported Oxfords, 10c.
—red and white and pink and white stripes—lines of white are narrow—hence the style is right—and it's a case of good goods thrown away.
Small lot 45-cent Silk Charvets—10c— all oxblood and white stripes, that's why.

D. and J. Anderson's Madras Ginghams and Novelties—over a hundred styles, 45 to 75 cents—sorted into 2 lots today —15 and 25 cents.
Novelties in handsome French Cottons and St. Gall Swisses, 15, 25, 50 and 75c.

Fine all wool Plain and Paris Novelty Dress goods, 25c, 50c, 75c and $1.00.
Medium and fine Woolens—good qualities, 36 to 56 inches wide, 25c, 50c, 75c and $1.00 —your opportunity for now or future.

Black Goods and Mohairs, 35c, 50c, 75c and $1.00.

shepherd checks, 15c
—mercerized cotton—fine soft finish goods—just the size check you want—clean, sharp, clear checks so much more desirable than many checks you see about at much more money.

dollar foulards, 65c
—25 styles best dollar Foulard Silks we ever owned—Black and Navy grounds with colored figures—out on the counter today, 65 cents.
It's good rich goods so far under price that distinguishes this Store's Shelf-Emptying and makes it so advantageous for people of taste and judgment and good business instincts to come.

Lot of plain White Taffeta Silks, 50 cents
—sacrifice—and it's only because the stock's too big—the silks are as fresh and good as the day they came off the loom—and white Taffetas were never more useful, as you well know.

Collection of plain Black Louisines and Peau de Soie, 50c
—again excessive purchases compel unloading at a loss.

We're never afraid to buy quantities, as we'd rather stand a loss than to have too little of the goods you want, but sometimes we overdo it, and this Black Silk Sale is the consequence thereof, and an example of the way we take our medicine when we think it's necessary.

Those who want good Black Silks better get here.

fine linens
—exquisite lace and embroidered articles got knife treatment.
$50.00 Lace Table Cover, $35.00.
$65.00 Embroidered Bed Spread, $35.00
—and other fine things, and things not so fine, but rich and pretty that you'll find it profitable to see.

Table Linens by the yard brought up from the wholesale to be cut in lengths desired at prices you plainly profit by.
64-inch Silver Bleached, 50c.
72-inch Bleached, 75c.
72-inch Double Damask, $1.00.
$2.25 22-inch Bleached Napkins, $1.75
—when you see them you'll say you never got 50 cents easier.

Lot of $6.00 26-inch fine Double Damask Napkins left from setts, $3.00 a dozen.

Lot of mussed and soiled Scarfs, Lunch Cloths, Doylies, etc., out on the counter and priced so no woman who sees them will hesitate.

Doylies, 5, 15, 25, 50 and 75 cents.

swiss flouncings, 15c
They're 25-cent ones, 6 to 7 inches wide, and women who want anything of the kind for trimming dresses or petticoats will do well to see them early.
Lot of $1.25 Ruffled Flouncings, 45 inches wide, 75c
—Lace edge and insertion in the ruffle—fine, neat and dainty, and a price that's unquestionable as to importance.
Lot of $40.00 Embroidered Linen Robes, $15.00.

children's hats and bonnets reduced at a time they're specially wanted—some fresh, clean goods, some slightly soiled and mussed from handling that washing will fix.
Fine Panama Hats—bands of and edged with Red, Navy, Cardinal and Brown Velvet Ribbon, $3.50 quality, $2.00.
Pretty Tuscan braid wide brim hats—nicely trimmed in assorted color Mull bands with bow, 50c ones, 25c.
Medium and fine bonnets half price that a few minutes' washing will make good as new.

notions very low
50c Sun Bonnet Frames, 25c.
25 and 30c Nainsook Dress Shields, 18c.
Stockinet Dress Shields, 10c, 15 and 20c ones, 5c.

New, fresh and clean.
Dozens of others.

silk petticoats, $5.00
—they're Eight Dollar and a half ones—elegant heavy changeable colored stripe Taffetas.
New and made beautifully.
Why they're so priced when they're so rich and handsome is one of the mysteries of merchandising.
Maybe it's the colors as the manufacturer sees them, but we think they're mighty good, and are pretty sure you will, when there's $3.50 saved on each petticoat.

wash dresses, $3.50
—fine ones—Suits that were marked Five, $6.50 and $8.50.
Cloak Room's getting the greatest scouring ever done up there.

BOGGS & BUHL, Allegheny

BBOKERS EXPECT OTHER FAILURES

But Assurances Are Given by Leading Financiers That They Will Be Small.

BANKERS ARE NOT WORRYING

President and Two Members of Clearing House Committee Are Out of Town. Mr. Morgan Is Still Sojourning at Bar Harbor.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, July 26.

Wherever Wall street men gathered today there was only one topic of conversation, and that was as to the probable course of the stock market tomorrow and the possibility of further failures. There were not many brokers at the uptown hotels and cafes, but a few western men drifted into the Waldorf, and during the evening several Wall street men came to town that they might be on hand early at the market's opening.

There was a complete unanimity of opinion that some further failures would be announced. Even conservative bankers admitted that, and spoke in a manner that seemed to indicate that they had full knowledge of the facts. But with this statement came the comparatively reassuring opinion that the failures expected would not be of great magnitude and would involve no financial institutions.

Names of houses reported to be involved were mentioned with considerably more freedom than is usual in such cases. In each instance the house was identified with some undertaking or other which, it was inferred, had locked up capital in the same manner as the capital of W. L. Stow & Co., became unavailable.

Not unnaturally firms which had been closely associated with W. L. Stow & Co. or Taylor & Co. in their more important ventures figured most prominently as among those who would probably suspend. One, it was alleged, is tied up in railroads of the second class; another was said to be involved through street railways, while still a third in a mining and manufacturing enterprise.

That the matter cannot be regarded as very serious, brokers say, is evidenced by the fact that the leading bankers and bank presidents did not think the situation sufficiently serious to return to the city, while many of them left town on Friday and Saturday.

Mr. Morgan is at Bar Harbor, Mr. Woodward and Mr. Stillman are at Newport, and J. Edward Simmons was in the country. The fact that the president and two members of the clearing house committee of the clearing house association was out of town was regarded as indicating that the trouble was not thought to be very serious.

POLICE BUREAU CLERK ACTED AS DETECTIVE

Raids Were Made on Illegal Liquor Sellers—Many Were Arrested.

Violation of "Police Order No. 800," which restricts the sale of liquor in disorderly houses, resulted in five of these establishments being raided by the police yesterday, and the proprietors and inmates were locked in the Central police station. This morning they will be arraigned for a hearing before Police Magistrate T. D. Stewart. Three of the raids were made on the statement made by a clerk in the office of Superintendent of Police John P. McTighe at the hearing of three women yesterday morning. These women were arraigned on charges of disorderly conduct. The clerk testified that the women bought the liquor in disorderly houses in Second avenue. They were discharged for want of evidence. The clerk said he bought liquor in these houses and last night they were closed. The women will be charged with keeping disorderly houses. The next time they are detected selling liquor they will be committed for court on charges of illegal liquor selling.

The house of Denora Frontire of No. 545 Sixth avenue, was the first place visited. Seven visitors and five inmates were found there. The house of Grace Mackey of No. 235 Second avenue, was the next closed. Six visitors and three inmates were taken. The house of Etta Snow of No. 237 Second avenue, and that of Lottie Sterling at No. 132 Second avenue were visited. Five inmates and seven visitors were found in the first place and two visitors and three inmates in the second.

The house of Mollie Smith of No. 723 Second avenue was raided by the police, and six men and two women were found there.

Two alleged speakeasies were raided by the police yesterday. Capt. James Boyle closed the place of Frank Doubt, of No. 5633 Miconette street. Four visitors were taken to No. 6 police station. A squad of police under Capt. Peter Welsh raided the place conducted by Nick Burt at No. 6 Snowden alley. The proprietor and ten visitors were captured. They were taken to No. 3 police station. These men will be arraigned for a hearing this morning.

DENOUNCED NEW SLAVERY.

Warren Methodist Episcopal Congregation Adopted Warm Resolutions.

The congregation of the Warren Methodist church, colored, in Fulton street, yesterday adopted the following resolutions:

Whereas, for several years past the south has manifested a tendency to ignore the bill of rights and the amendments to the Constitution; and,

Whereas, the spirit of opposition has crystalized itself into unjust laws and proscriptions such as the acts of disfranchisement, Jim Crow car restrictions and mob violence; and,

Whereas, these events were only stepping stones to the baser and more heinous crime of enslaving the negro again, which is now in practical effect in Alabama and other southern states. Therefore, be it

Resolved, that we, the members and friends of Warren M. E. church hail with delight the action of the federal officers in bringing the sad condition of the negro to the light in the state of Alabama.

Resolved, that we hereby assure the federal authorities of our support, moral and otherwise, in every effort they shall make to stay the progress of this heinous crime and bring the perpetrators to justice.

Resolved, that we call upon the press and pulpit of the country to speak out against the barbarities now being practiced upon the inoffensive negroes of the south, and especially against "the new slavery" which officers of the law are seeking to legalize.

CARLISLE THINKS COUNTRY IS SAFE

Former Secretary of Treasury Sees Nothing Alarming in Stock Flurry.

COUNTRY IS PROSPEROUS

Some Securities Have Been Forced Below Their Real Worth and Others are Still Too High—Leading Financier Reassures Him on Situation.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, July 26.

John G. Carlisle, former secretary of the treasury, is anything but pessimistic concerning the financial outlook and the future of the country. It is his opinion that a period of liquidation has been reached—one of those recurring incidents that are deplored by many but are really agents of safety.

Of securities, it is his opinion that some have been driven below their true value, while others may still have a certain amount of fiction in the price at which they are quoted. What the future will be he refuses to venture a prediction, further than that there is nothing in the present situation to indicate that the prosperity which the country has been enjoying for seven years is coming to an end.

When he was visited at East Setauket, L. I., today, Mr. Carlisle, answering a request for an interview on the market situation, said:

"I am convinced that some investment stocks have been forced below their actual value. As a friend of mine said a few days ago: 'What the stock is worth is one thing; what it is quoted is another.'

"There may be other securities, particularly industrials, which are still selling for more than they are actually worth. If that is the case they may be driven to their true level before the present movement halts. It does not seem to me that there is good reason for expecting a halt in the prosperity of the country. The business conditions are all good. The farmers are happy and they are blessed with bountiful crops. And the most important factor for continued prosperity still exists in the plentitude of money. We do not need more money. There is plenty of it.

"It should be remembered that the true value of none of these stocks has been affected. The last time I was in New York I talked with a banker, a man of prominence, whose name is familiar to every newspaper reader the country over. He owns thousands of shares of a certain stock which has had a long fall in its market value.

"He spoke to us at some length of the situation, saying that it was so peculiar that he could not foresee what would happen. I asked him about the stock in which he is so heavily interested, and he replied: 'I know what it is worth, but I don't know what the fellows in Wall street will do with it. Nor do I care much. My stock is put away to stay.'"

READY FOR CONVENTION OF ABSTINENCE UNION

Arrangements Completed to Care For Delegates to the National Gathering.

The general committee of the Catholic Total Abstinence union held a largely attended meeting in St. James church, West End, yesterday afternoon. The Rev. John G. Beane presided.

John M. Tighe, chairman of the committee on hotels, reported that the arrangements for receiving and caring for the delegates had been completed. He was directed to favor hotels that have contributed to the general committee's fund. The headquarters will be at the Hotel Henry, where suitable parlors have been secured.

Stephen Madden, chairman of the committee on boat excursions, reported that a boat had been secured, through the kindness of F. J. Torrance. There was a warm debate on the question of issuing tickets to members of the local societies for the boat ride, it being impossible to accommodate all of them. It was finally left to the judgment of Father Beane. A vote of thanks was given to Mr. Torrance for his kindness.

P. McSteen, chairman of the committee on trolley ride, said the necessary cars had been secured and an excellent route laid out. A committee, with James J. Gallagher as chairman, was appointed to watch the railroad depots at the time of the convention and provide escorts for the delegates and visitors when they reach the city.

The committee on the public meeting to be held in the Duquesne theater during the convention announced that the boxes would be reserved for the state and city officials, ministers and temperance leaders, and that leaders of other denominations would included. Thomas F. Kirk has secured a number of prominent soloists to furnish the music for the meeting.

A vote of congratulation was extended to the Rt. Rev. Bishop Phelan on the fourteenth anniversary of his election to the bishopric. Resolutions of thanks were voted to the Industrial National bank for postponing the demolition of its building at No. 333 Fourth avenue until after the convention and giving the committee headquarters there. Thanks were also given Murphy Bros'. Company for furnishing the rooms.

James Fitzsimons, William McLaughlin, John Finn, Mrs. Mary Beyers and Miss Margaret O'Brien were appointed a committee to prepare resolutions on the death of Pope Leo XIII.

NEW CHURCH DEDICATED.

Methodist Episcopal Congregation of Ligonier Has Handsome Edifice in Which to Worship.

The new $25,000 stone Methodist Episcopal church at Ligonier, Pa., was dedicated yesterday with imposing services and a large attendance of people from Ligonier and elsewhere. The dedication sermon was delivered by Dr. W. H. Crawford, president of Allegheny college at Meadville, Pa. The services began in the morning and continued through the afternoon and evening. Only $2,500 of the cost of the church remained unpaid, but more than enough to pay off this indebtedness was raised by the Rev. Dr. C. W. Smith of Pittsburgh at the morning service.

The total amount subscribed during the day was about $3,000. A portion of this will be used toward paying for the new organ, and Andrew Carnegie has promised to donate one-half the amount required for a new organ, the congregation to raise the other half. The new church has a seating capacity of 600 and is considered one of the handsomest edifices in Ligonier. The Rev. Dr. N. G. Miller is pastor.

In addition to Dr. Crawford and Dr. Smith the other clergymen who participated in the exercises were the Rev. H. L. McMurray, the Rev. R. L. Smith and the Rev. R. H. Rockwell of Ligonier.

Woman Probably Fatally Hurt.

Mrs. Mary Moran of No. 907 Talbot avenue, Braddock, was seriously burned at her home shortly after 10 o'clock last night. She was walking across her bedroom to where a baby lay, when she tripped over a rug and upset a lamp, which exploded. Soon she was a mass of flames. The fire was quickly extinguished by occupants of the house, but the woman is not expected to recover.

OFFICERS AT CAMP M'KINLEY HEADQUARTERS

Cols. J. M. Reid, A. J. Logan, L. T. Brown and Sam Moody Are Always Ready to Extend a Welcome.

spector general will begin his inspection. He will proceed by seniority of command, taking the Sixteenth, Eighteenth, Fourteenth, Tenth and Fifth regiments in that order. The start will be made at 7 a. m. and intervals of two hours will elapse between the visitations. Each regiment will pass in review before the inspector general and will then be inspected as to personal appearance. The inspector general will be accompanied by the governor, the adjutant general, the United States army officers and other dignitaries. As soon as each company is inspected it will be mustered by officers of the governor's staff. They will then be marched from the inspection ground and given a regimental drill by Maj. Worman, inspector of the First brigade. Then will follow extended order, Maj. W. Jeffries of the Second brigade, commanding. Advance and rearguard and outpost duty inspection will be conducted by Maj. Clarke, inspector of the Third brigade. In the meantime the books and papers will have been inspected by staff officers under the direction of Col. Eshelman, judge advocate general. Guard mount will be inspected by Lieut. Col. Penny, division inspector. During the entire camp the conduct of the troops will be watched by all division officers and all infraction of discipline reported.

Spent a Quiet Sunday.

Sunday has been remarkable for excellent order. The music tonight is mostly religious. No orders were issued from division or brigade headquarters. Chaplain Temple of the Tenth held divine services at 1:30 p. m., and Chaplain Lloyd of the Fifth occupied this evening the pulpit of the Methodist Episcopal church in Somerset. Visitors in town today on account of the encampment numbered fully 10,000, of whom about 8,000 came by rail and 2,000 drove or walked in from the surrounding country. A slight rain in the afternoon spoiled many fine bonnets. This was the first rain of the camp.

Lieut. David C. Farrar of Company D has been appointed inspector of the guard of the Fourteenth regiment. In the Fourteenth's camp the arrival of Capt. Murray G. Livingston, quartermaster, and Capt. Oursler of I company with a number of enlisted men enlivened the day. A detail sent back to Pittsburgh to pick up stragglers has returned and some of the latter will tote poles for a few days, it is said.

The Eighteenth is enjoying camp life greatly. Social affairs are constantly taking place and a dinner to the members of the veteran corps of the Duquesne Greys, who were in camp, was given today. Among these were Col. Guthrie, John Wilson and Gus Lightenheld.

Wadsworth Promoted.

It was announced that Arthur Wadsworth, sergeant in Company A, has been appointed a color sergeant in the Eighteenth. In Battery B command was taken by Capt. William T. Reese at 11 o'clock today on his arrival from Pittsburgh.

There were a number of visitors today in the battery's camp. Among them were Miss Ryall, Miss Reckeimer, James H. Littell and H. W. Grier, who were guests of Lieut. Ryall. Among the guests at the Fifth's camp were Squire James Crossman, Thomas Dugan and Maj. Simpson, formerly of the Fifth. During the week the Sixteenth regiment will hold their competitive drills for a flag and other prizes.

Tomorrow little but routine is expected. There have been no new developments in the case of alleged burglary at the residence of Charles Weller by a man in guardsman's uniform. It is suspected that the clothing was worn as a disguise.

SHE AWOKE TO FIND BURGLARS IN HER ROOM

Miss Mary Gazzam Had an Exciting Experience. Two Oakland Residences Entered and One Robbed of Silverware.

Burglars are busy and daring in Pittsburgh, especially in the East End and Oakland.

Two Oakland dwellings were entered yesterday. In each case the thieves were interrupted at their work, but in one of the houses they succeeded in securing silverware valued at several hundred dollars.

At the residence of Miss Mary Gazzam, No. 4504 Fifth avenue, the burglars entered the house shortly after 10 o'clock. Miss Gazzam, who was sleeping down stairs, was awakened by the sound of a dish falling on the floor of her room. She had left the gas burning and on opening her eyes was startled to see a burly negro standing over her bed. Crouched beside him was another man, who was searching for valuables in a dresser drawer. Miss Gazzam, too frightened to move, closed her eyes and feigned sleep, while the burglars went rapidly about their work. The men opened the street door and made every preparation for a hasty exit in case of surprise. When Miss Gazzam looked again the two intruders had moved into the hall, and, unable to control her feelings further, she jumped out of bed and ran screaming out of the house before the two burglars could stop escape by jumping over a fence on to Dithridge street.

The residence of Mrs. Anna Ridge, No. 4006 Forbes street, a short distance from her.

Dr. J. M. Duff lives next door to the Gazzam residence and she called on him for assistance. Dr. Duff called up the Oakland police station by telephone and Police Lieutenant Robert Emmitt and several officers were hurriedly dispatched to the scene. They searched the house from the top to the bottom, but no trace of the thieves could be found. Miss Gazzam could not give a very good description of the men, and was not sure whether both were negroes. Nothing was taken by the thieves, who evidently made their the Oakland police station, was entered by thieves shortly after midnight. They pried open a side window leading to the dining room. They gathered together all the silverware and were making preparations to ransack the building when one of the women of the house noticed the gas jet burning in the dining room. She called down stairs to see who was there. The thieves took fright, and hurriedly extinguishing the light, jumped out of the window with the silverware and escaped.

The police were called in a few minutes later, when the robbery was discovered, but could find no trace of the thieves.

A burglar got into the annex of the Young Women's Christian association at No. 424 Duquesne way early yesterday morning, but was scared away before he got anything.

SOLDIERS NOW PATROL STREETS OF DANVILLE

Citizens Badly Scared Over Saturday Night's Disastrous Race Riot.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

DANVILLE, ILL., July 26.—There has been no further outbreak here in the race riot of last night, but there remains a feeling of uneasiness among the citizens. Last night two were killed and twenty-two wounded, the police station wrecked and other damage done.

After daylight this morning there were restless crowds on the streets and each surrounding town continued to swell the crowds. There are many miners seen on the street and great unrest and a threatening attitude was reported from Westville, five miles away.

Early in the morning Wilson, the negro assailant of Mrs. Burgess, was secretly taken from the county jail, but was returned shortly afterward.

Four companies of militia arrived this morning from Springfield, in reply to urgent requests sent to the state officials. The troops marched to the market house, opposite the jail, and there camped. The streets were cleared. There were sullen threats heard, but no attempt at an outbreak was manifested during the day. Tonight 100 sentinels are patrolling the streets in the immediate vicinity of the jail, each soldier carrying 40 rounds of ammunition.

Sheriff Whittock says he was the only man who shot into the mob.

OPIUM JOINT RAIDED.

Four Persons Arrested and Complete Outfit Captured by the Allegheny Police.

The first opium joint that has come under the notice of the Allegheny police department for sometime, was raided yesterday morning. The police were notified that an odor, resembling the burning of opium, came from the house occupied by Max Wilson, No. 207 Anderson street. Officers were detailed to investigate the place.

When the police arrived they found Max Wilson, Stewart McClelland and Joseph Bennett and wife of No. 625 Union street. They were taken to the Central police station. The police also confiscated a complete opium outfit.

At the hearing yesterday morning it was testified by the arresting officers that Max Wilson was proprietor of the place and that Stewart McClelland was his assistant. McClelland was accused of soliciting patronage for Wilson. It was also testified that the visitors were preparing to smoke the drug.

The magistrate fined Wilson $50 and costs, or 30 days to the workhouse; McClelland $25 and costs; Bennett $5 and costs, and the woman was discharged.

CAR RAN INTO A POST, SAVING THE PASSENGERS

Accident on the Verona-Wilkinsburg Line Might Have Been Worse.

Slippery rails resulted in a street car accident yesterday afternoon on the Verona-Wilkinsburg line just outside of the limits of the latter borough in which a number of passengers were injured by the sudden stopping of the car as it came in contact with a pole. But for striking the pole the car would have continued onward and over a steep precipice, carrying the 20 or more passengers along with it, for not one of them was able to jump from the swiftly moving car once the brakes refused to work. George McCurdy, aged 22, was standing on the rear platform of the car, and in being thrown off was cut on his right arm and shoulder.

The rainfall yesterday made running perilous. Just before reaching Laketon avenue the motorman was unable to control the car, but he stood at his post even after the car jumped the track. He was slightly injured by the collision with the post as well as a woman passenger and several men in addition to Mr. McCurdy. The latter was removed to his home.

OFFICER MAY DIE.

Fierce Fight in Glassport Results in Two Men Receiving Severe Cuts.

William Jacobson and John Hill were locked up in the county jail yesterday by George F. Pastire, justice of the peace of Glassport, on charges of felonious assault. In a fight at Glassport on Saturday night revolvers were used between the fighters and police and Officer Joseph Norris was cut in the neck and seriously hurt. He is at the McKeesport hospital with an eight-inch wound, extending from his ear to the jugular vein, and it is said he may die.

Of several people arrested at the time, Jacobson and Hill were held to await the result of Norris' injuries. Jacobson was shot in the back at the waist line and the bullet is still in him. Dr. A. V. Chessrown, the jail physician, probed for it yesterday, but could not extract it. It was not thought the wound was immediately dangerous and another effort to find the bullet will be made today.

BEATEN AND ROBBED BY THREE NEGROES

George Marinich, a Croatian, living at No. 1530 Ohio street, Allegheny, was severely beaten and robbed last evening near the Thirtieth street bridge. He was found on a pile of bricks in an unconscious condition at 10 o'clock, by two men who took him to Twelfth ward police station. He had been choked and beaten on the head and was extremely weak from loss of blood. He said three negroes were his assailants and that he had been robbed of a watch and chain, a revolver and $50. He was sent to the West Penn hospital.

SMITH'S DEFENSE NOT CONCLUSIVE

President Proctor of Civil Service Commission Answers at Some Length.

SAYS THE POINT IS EVADED

Department and Not Washington Postmaster Was Responsible for Irregular Appointments Made Under the Administration of Payne's Predecessor.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 26.

John R. Proctor, president of the civil service commission, has replied to the recent letter of former Postmaster General Smith concerning the latter's attack on Mr. Proctor's report on the investigation of the Washington postoffice. The reply to Mr. Smith's formal letter is dated July 24, 1903, and is addressed to Postmaster General Payne. It reads, in part:

"Mr. Smith states that the one-third of Mr. Proctor's letter, which immediately concerns the Washington postoffice, may properly be left to the answer of the postmaster, whom it directly concerns.

"The facts, as disclosed by the investigation, show that the department, and not the postmaster, was responsible for most of the violations and evasions of the civil service law and rules in the Washington postoffice. It is, therefore, an evasion and not a refutation of the facts recited in this part of the letter to say that it may properly be left to the answer of the postmaster. The answer of the postmaster is already recorded in the report of the investigation in statements signed by him. When questioned as to the responsibility for the infractions of the civil service rules in the Washington postoffice, he said: 'As most of the appointments of the people who have in any degree violated the civil service regulations have been designated or made by the department, it seems to me that the responsibility for violation of the regulations should be located with the parties directing the appointments. People that had proved inefficient in the department had been unloaded upon the postoffice on several occasions.'

"The postmaster also stated that in his opinion his office could have been run with the same degree of efficiency, but with much greater economy, if the department had left the personnel of the force to his own selection.

"In commenting upon that part of the commission's letter which deals with the classification transfer method adopted by the department to evade the rules he avoids by a safe margin the facts disclosed by the investigation. He says: 'It is the statute, not the department, that puts the clerks of free delivery offices into the classified service. Their classification is a matter of law. Their transfer is a matter of rule.'

"This statement begs the question. It is a civil service rule promulgated by the president, which provides for the classification of clerks at free delivery offices, and the commission construes this rule as recognizing only bona fide employes as acquiring a classifiable status.

"It was the department, and not the statute or the rules, that placed the names of 18 residents of Washington or its vicinity on the rolls of postoffices in various parts of the United States, without reference to the needs of those offices, and in most cases without their ever serving in those offices, for the sole purpose of getting them into classified positions in the Washington postoffice or the department. The department in making those appointments, without doubt reverted to the practice which the civil service act was designed to prevent, and to this extent nullified the law."

Woman Robs Women On Open Street Cars

A new method of purse-snatching on street cars came to light last week. In that space of time over a dozen robberies of this kind have been reported at the Rankin car barns. The latest victim was robbed on a car yesterday afternoon. The plan is operated entirely by a woman, and women are her especial prey. The woman pickpocket will seat herself in an open street car seat alongside of another woman. She will say to the woman next her, "My hat pin is coming out; will you fix it?" While the hat pin is being fixed the woman quietly takes a pocketbook and gets off the car at the next corner before the robbery is discovered. The traction company is investigating these purloinings.

TROLLEY RIDERS KILLED IN CROSSING SMASH-UP

Three Are Dead and Many Hurt as Result of St. Louis Collision.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

EAST ST. LOUIS, July 26.—An accommodation train on the Vandalia road en route to St. Louis, ran into an electric car on the East St. Louis & Suburban Street railway near Lansdowne, three miles north of there, today, killing three persons and injuring a score. The dead are John Roy, J. J. Lenharth and David H. Beattie.

The accommodation train was drawn by an engine which was backing, and was running at a good speed when suddenly the tender of the engine crashed into the car at the crossing. The car was hurled from its track, a mass of wreckage. The impact caused the coaches to break loose from the engine and they did not leave the track, but the engine left the rails, ran about 250 feet over the ties, and turned over on its side. Engineer Roy and Fireman Higgins stuck to the engine and were buried in its wreckage. After being removed Engineer Roy died at the hospital. Firman Higgins is so badly injured that he cannot live.

YOUNG HIGHWAYMAN.

One Boy Confesses to Robbing Woman of Her Pocketbook.

Robert Beasley, colored, aged 14 years of No. 310 Culmer street, and Ora Schall, white, aged 13 years, of No. 5536 Breedshill street, were arrested yesterday.

About 10 o'clock Saturday night Miss Emma Wagner of No. 502 North Highland avenue, while walking home, had her pocketbook, containing $8, grabbed from her by a colored boy and a white boy. The pocketbook was afterward found on the street, empty.

Officer Samuel Kelly yesterday afternoon arrested Beasley and he confessed to the crime and said the Schall boy put him up to grab the pocketbook. Schall was arrested later.

FATHER OPPOSES THE MATCH

Her Consent Depends Upon Suitor's Ability to Secure Withdrawal of Parental Objections—Stephen B. Jr., Dances Attendance Upon Her.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 26.—The Call today, in an article on the suit of Stephen Elkins, Jr., for the hand of Edna Wallace Hopper, says:

"He has been here for the past five days, a frequenter of the Palace hotel and other places of social resort, and yet his presence did not become generally known until yesterday. His temporary abode is a local restaurant, where, however, he spends very little time, for he is devoted to the object of his affection and he is often across the bay at the country residence of the pretty actress and heiress.

"That younk Elkins is determined to wed Miss Hopper and that she is willing to accept the name and companionship he offers no one who has enjoyed the company of the young couple will gainsay. In fact, it is understood, and the Call has ample authority for the assertion, that their betrothal is certain to follow the first assurance that the younger Elkins receives from his father of parental condonation for his matrimonial step. However, Stephen Elkins, Jr., is in San Francisco, and expects to remain here until Miss Hopper is ready to return to the east, which will not be for several weeks.

"Two years ago Edna Wallace Hopper came to San Francisco, and the fact that young Elkins followed her here gave rise to the first stories that a mutual attachment, originating in New York some months previous, existed between them. Later it was reported that Elkins, Sr., had warned his son that a marriage between the latter and the actress, which was gossiped in the east as a possibility, would not be condoned. Stephen, Jr., has since tried to overcome the objection of his parent, and in this endeavor he is said to have been assisted by Miss Hopper, whose consent to a marriage is reported to hang conditionally upon the success of the young man in his pleadings with his father."

A FLESH-FORMING FOOD.

If Mi-o-na Does Not Build up Good, Healthy Flesh Schilling Bros. Co., Will Return Your Money.

Of all the remedies in Schilling Bros. Co.'s popular drug store, there are very few they are willing to sell with a guarantee to refund the money if they do not give satisfaction.

Mi-o-na, the famous flesh-forming food and cure for stomach troubles, has done such wonders among their customers that Schilling Bros. Co. are now advertising, "If Mi-o-na does not give a noticeable gain in weight, if it fails to cure indigestion and all stomach troubles, come back to our store and get your money."

Anyone who has been losing flesh or who has always been too thin, should use Mi-o-na. Thinness and emaciation are signs that the food is not properly assimilated and that you do not get the nourishment you should.

Mi-o-na mingles with the food you eat, aids its assimilation, tones up and strengthens the digestive organs, and puts the whole system in proper physical condition; it saves the digestive organs from exhaustive work. By its use the elements needed to put flesh on your bones will be selected from the food, and each day will show a noticeable gain in weight.

Commence the use of Mi-o-na today at their risk. If it increases your weight and cures you of indigestion, it will cost you 50 cents; if it does not, Schilling Bros. Co. will pay for the treatment themselves and return your money to you.

POPE DISCUSSED IN MANY PULPITS

Protestant Ministers Take Death of Roman Pontiff For Sermon Themes.

LEO WAS LAUDED AS A MAN

Discourses By Prominent Reformed Presbyterian and Methodist Episcopal Clergymen—Papal Supremacy the Basis of Catholic Religion.

In many Protestant churches in Pittsburgh and Allegheny yesterday the death of Pope Leo XIII. formed the topic for sermons by the pastors. While the Protestants do not sanction the papacy, yet their respect for the pope as a man is heartily expressed. That Leo was the head of a great ecclesiastical body makes his death of such importance in the world that all denominations take cognizance of it.

In the Eighth Street Reformed Presbyterian church yesterday morning the pastor, the Rev. David McAllister, D. D., preached a sermon on "The Deceased Roman Pontiff and His Reign." His text was taken from Matthew xx:26, "Whosoever be great amongst you, let him be your servant, and whosoever be chief amongst you, let him be your servant." Dr. McAllister said, in part:

The words of the text were suggested by the introduction into every papal encyclical, "Servus, Servorum Dei," so the pope names himself—"Servant of the servants of God." The Christ is the standard of greatness. This standard is recognized by the popes themselves. My aim is to apply that standard of greatness.

Leo's Fine Literary Ability.

Admitting the pope's fine literary ability and his tactful policy and personal piety, the test of his greatness must be the measure of his service to all the followers of Christ and to universal humanity. The pope's beautiful poem, entitled "At Nightfall; the Meditation of a Troubled Spirit," is a confession of faith in the one Savior and contains no mariolatry, but expresses a simple faith in Christ alone.

Leo issued during his 25 years as pope a large number of encyclical letters. While commending their classical Latin and their literary style, and recognizing, while they touch upon the most important social, ecclesiastical and national questions, such as the social evil of the day, socialism, labor, citizenship, marriage and divorce, secret societies, religious education and unity of the church, all prove that the controlling thought of Leo, as of all the pontiffs preceding, was the papal supremacy.

In one encyclical Pope Leo says, "We hold upon this earth the place of God Almighty." This is the logical foundation principle represented by Leo and maintained consistently in all his official utterances. On this religious education cannot be accepted, but that which he would approve.

Reign Not Favorable.

Consequently, this reign of Leo has not been favorable to the development of civil and religious liberty. The personal aggrandizement of Leo XIII. was the accumulation of personal riches—the impossibility of an approach to him except through what would be humiliation to any man of independent spirit tend to prove this statement.

The influence of the administration of Leo upon the kingdom of Italy demonstrates that, notwithstanding the high personal qualities of the pontiff, the system which he represented—in the way of the nation's progress. The same is true in connection with the republic of France. In Spain, Cuba and the Philippine islands the personal excellence of the pontiff failed to save the prosperity of these portions of the earth. The only place in which the system of which Leo is the head has made any considerable progress is in the United States.

Methodist Speaks of Leo.

The Rev. E. M. Wood, pastor of the Fifth Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, Fifth avenue and Magee street, preached a sermon yesterday morning entitled "The Death of Pope Leo: An Estimate of His Life Services." During his sermon Mr. Wood said, in part:

I choose as my text the death of Hezekiah, because of the close analogy between it and the late pope of Rome. No one at his death has been more highly honored by the press of the world.

The press comments on the pope refer to no great feats of statesmanship which characterized his official life, nor do they refer to any wonderful financial policy. And yet it is true, he gave out at different times strong protests against socialism, nihilism, communism and so forth, but these have not exerted a powerful influence, as anarchists have done their deadly work since the time of Leo, even where his influence has been superior, if not supreme. As a statesman he utterly failed to control any one of the powers in any important emergency which arose during his official life.

CORNER STONE WAS LAID OF ST. PHILIP'S CHURCH

Impressive Ceremonies at Crafton—Edifice Will Cost $75,000.

With the impressive ceremonies of the Roman Catholic church, the corner stone of the new edifice to be occupied by St. Philip's congregation, was laid at Crafton yesterday afternoon. A large crowd was present, notwithstanding the weather, and about 20 priests from Pittsburgh and neighboring parishes took part in the ceremonies. The Rt. Rev. Regis Canevin, coadjutor Bishop, officiated. He formerly was pastor of the congregation. The sermon was preached by Rev. James L. Quinn of St. Joseph's Protectory, and the church choir assisted in the services. The Rev. Father A. W. Kelly is the pastor of the church.

Moses P. Walsh, who was altar boy in the old church, and Mrs. Sarah Poland, who sang in the choir at the dedication of the first church in 1839, were present.

In the corner stone, which was set in place at 4 o'clock, were placed copies of the local papers, the annual report of the church and a brief sketch of each of the pastors. The church is being built on Crafton avenue and is of Cleveland sandstone, costing $75,000. It will have a seating capacity of 800, while the old church, situated on Steuben street, has a capacity of only about 300.

St. Philip's church was first established in 1839 and was then a mission church, priests from the Pittsburgh diocese holding services there once a month. The church was the first Catholic church in that vicinity, and persons from as far as Noblestown attended. Later a regular pastor was placed in the church and now it has grown to be one of the most important churches in the vicinity of Crafton.

DR. PARTRIDGE TO TAKE A VACATION

The Rev. Dr. Warren G. Partridge, pastor of the Fourth Avenue Baptist church, preached his last sermon until September, there last night. His topic was "God's Mark Upon Man." This morning Dr. Partridge and his family will start for Hamilton, N. Y., going later to the Adirondacks. The Rev. J. V. Stratton, who has been connected with the Fourth Avenue church for many years, will occupy the pulpit the first three Sundays in August. The two last Sundays will be in charge of the Rev. P. Williams of England.

EXPORTS EXCEED OTHER COUNTRIES

Rapid Advance of the United States in the Commerce of the World Is Shown.

ENGLAND A CLOSE SECOND

Last Year for Which Figures Are Available Puts Us Away in the Lead—Rose from Fourth Place Within Twelve Years.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 26.

The fact that the exports of the United States in the fiscal year just ended are greater than those in any preceding year, except 1900, lends special interest to a statement presented by the department of commerce and labor, through its bureau of statistics, which shows the relative growth of the export trade of the principal countries of the world for a term of years and compares that of the United States with other countries.

The table in question shows the total value of exports of domestic products from the principal countries of the world in 1870, 1880 and 1890, the latest available year. In the case of the United States the latest available year is the fiscal year ending June 30, 1903; in most other cases the latest available year is the year ending December 31, 1902; in a very few cases the latest available year is 1901; in a few exceptional cases the figures presented are those of not only domestic products, but include foreign and colonial produce re-exported, but this is only the case in a few of the smaller countries, which do not show their domestic exports separately from the total exports, and in these cases the share which foreign products re-exported forms of the total is so small as to not materially affect the statement.

A study of this table of exports from the principal exporting countries of the world shows some facts of especial interest to the people of the United States. One of these important facts is that the United States, which occupied fourth place in the list of exporting countries in 1870, now shows a larger total in the final column, which represents the latest available year, than does any other country of the world. The United Kingdom, France and Germany showed in 1870 a larger total of domestic exports than did the United States, the figures being, for that year:

United Kingdom, $971,000,000; Germany, $552,600,000; France, $541,000,000; and from the United States, $377,000,000. By 1890 the domestic exports of the United States exceeded those of France or Germany, but were still below those of the United Kingdom, the figures for that year being: United Kingdom, $1,085,000,000; Germany, $687,000,000; France, $685,000,000, and the United States, $824,000,000. In 1890 the United States occupied a similar relation, the figures for that year being: United Kingdom, $1,282,000,000; Germany, $792,000,000; France, $724,000,000, and the United States, $845,000,000. In 1902, the latest available year for which the figures of the United Kingdom, Germany and France are available, the figures of domestic exports stood: United Kingdom, $1,379,000,000; Germany, $1,113,000,000; France, $818,000,000; while those of the United States for the 12 months ending June 30, 1903, are $1,392,000,000, stated in round terms, the precise figures as announced by the bureau of statistics being $1,392,087,672.

The following table shows the domestic exports of the countries in question, stated in millions of dollars only, in 1870, 1880, 1890 and the latest available year:

COMMAND TRANSFERRED.

Gen. Wade Now Has Charge of American Army in the Philippines.

MANILA, July 26.—Maj. Gen. George W. Davis has transferred the command of the department of the Philippines to Maj. Gen. James F. Wade, Gen. Davis having been retired for age. Gen. Davis' last act was to review all the troops in and about Manila. He will sail for San Francisco on the transport Sherman.

The records in the case of First Lieut. Hamilton Fey of the Fifth cavalry, who was court-martialed on charges involving embezzlement of soldiers' money and other financial irregularities, have been forwarded to Washington. The records indicate dismissal.

WORK ON ST. STEPHEN'S CHURCH IS DELAYED

Work on the new St. Stephen's Catholic church in Second avenue, near Johnson street, has been delayed by the non-arrival of material and the strike of the bricklayers, and the new structure will not be finished until next February. The church building will cost $65,000 and the interior decorations will be magnificent. Around the altar will be 12 windows depicting scenes in the Eucharist, and in the transept will be four magnificent windows which will be emblematic of scenes in the life of St. Stephen, from the original paintings by Fra. Angelica of Florence, Italy. The Rev. Father D. J. Devlin, who is about to celebrate the silver anniversary of his ordination, is rector of the parish.

REV. BARKER GOES TO FRANKFORT, N. Y.

The Rev. W. W. Barker, assistant to the Rev. B. F. Woodburn, pastor of the Sandusky Street Baptist church, Allegheny, preached his last sermon there last night, his subject being "Liberty." Mr. Barker's resignation was read and accepted yesterday week, and he has accepted a unanimous call to the First Baptist church of Frankfort, N. Y. He begins his work there in August. Dr. Woodburn will continue to look after all the duties of his church until a new assistant is called.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, July 26.—For five innings this afternoon there were about 9,000 souls under the impression that the Reds would score a victory over the champion Pittsburgh aggregation, but the hope was dispelled a few minutes later when the visitors tied the score and in the very next inning rolled up three runs, which gave them the game, the result being 5 to 2 in their favor.

Up to the sixth inning the Reds had a lead of two tallies and their playing was of such a high order and the delivery of Bob Ewing so deceptive, that the Pirates were beginning to grow pale about the gills. On the other hand, while Doheny had not been hit hard, things broke well enough for the locals in that third round to allow two of their number to cross the pan.

Ewing's bad luck seemed to have been broken, but it again manifested itself in the sixth, and in the seventh everything broke the visitors' way and the result was never in doubt. Thereafter, though, the Reds caused a few whoops by a short rally in the ninth, which virtually ended when Tommy Leach leaped high in the air and pulled down Kelly's liner, which he turned into a double play. Had that hit gone safe—but what's the use, it didn't, and there is no use dreaming.

It was the sixth consecutive defeat for Ewing, who seems unable to break his losing streak. Ewing's greatest failing today was his inability to get the ball over the plate. He gave but one pass, but he had himself in the hole on almost every batter that faced him. Often he would shoot over two successive strikes and then hand up three balls, with the result that he was forced to lay the next ball right on the batsman's stick. Doheny on the other hand pitched a steady, thoughtful game of ball.

Though Donlin started the Reds' half of the first inning with a two-bagger to left, he was not advanced a foot by the next three batsmen. In the third the ice was broken. Ewing got a single, Donlin drew a pass, Seymour sacrificed and on Dolan's fly to Kruger, Ewing scored, and was immediately followed over the pan by Donlin, when Beckley singled.

This score stood until the sixth when after Smith had gone out to Corcoran to Beckley, Doheny singled to left. Beaumont hit to center for a bag and Ewing filled the bags by walking Sebring. Wagner sent a little fly back of short which fell safe and Doheny came home. On a force out on Bransfield's grounder, Beaumont romped home.

In the seventh Ritchey was put out of the way when Corcoran allowed Kruger's grounder to get away from him. Smith bunted and Ewing failed to field the ball. Doheny went out on a fly to Dolan. Beaumont then singled to center and in trying to catch Smith at third Seymour threw wild and Smith followed Kruger over the plate. A hit by Sebring scored Beaumont, who started around to third on the play.

For just a moment the Reds seemed to have a chance in the ninth. Steinfeldt's grounder bounded away from Leach and Corcoran hit safely into center. Kelley hit the ball on a line toward left but Leach leaped into the air and pulled it down and then threw to first in time to double up Corcoran. This put an end to all Reds' hopes. The score:

Clarke to Try Out a Youngster.

CINCINNATI, July 26.—(Special.)—Arthur Hofman, a young bank clerk of St. Louis, reported to Manager Clarke this evening and will get a trial with the Pirates tomorrow. If he shows form in practice he may be assigned to left field in the game with Cincinnati. It may be a week or ten days before Manager Clarke can play. Hofman is not over 21 years old.

WICKER GETS REVENGE.

Chicago Pitcher Beats His Former Teammates, St. Louis.

CHICAGO, July 26.—In four of the five innings that the locals scored in today's game, Rhoades started them off with passes. Stolen bases and bunched hitting followed the wildness in each inning. A low throw and Hackett's long three-bagger in the fifth prevented the visitors from being shut out, as they could do nothing against Wicker with men on bases. Attendance, 7,800. Score:

CHICAGO, July 26.—In the first game Barrett walked, was sacrificed to second, took third on a passed ball and scored the only run on a single. The balance of the game was a pitchers' battle, in which Donovan held the locals safe at critical times.

Chicago won the second game by scoring three runs in the eighth on a base on balls, two singles, a double and an error. The fielding of both teams was brilliant. Attendance, 8,260. Scores:

SPUHLER AND DOYLE ARE WITH CHAUTAUQUA

Homestead Plays Three Games at Niles This Week, Then Home to Meet Altoona.

Frank ("Midget") Spuhler and Don Doyle of the interscholastic nine, which campaigned around here at the close of the school season, have made the team at Chautauqua. Spuhler is playing left field and Doyle has been added to the pitching corps. Al Sharp, a former Yale player, is captain and playing first on the Chautauqua team. Swan, another old Yale man, is playing middle field.

Manager Howard M. Risher takes his Homestead nine to Niles, O., this morning to begin a three days' engagement with the fast team at that place. Niles has beaten the best teams in Ohio and is anxiously awaiting Homestead's coming. Risher is hopeful of taking two of the three games. When the series was arranged he had Alex Pearson on his pitching staff, but when he left for Cleveland it was reduced to one man whom he was acquainted with on the diamond, Buck Washer. Simpson will join the team at Rochester this morning and will be pitched either Tuesday or Wednesday. The showing Osborne made Saturday against Manor, the champions of Westmoreland county, was very pleasing to Risher and he thinks he has picked up another man who will graduate into a faster league with more experience.

When it was made known that Pearson had left Risher has been deluged with letters from ambitious pitchers asking for trials. One who has been recommended to him as being a youngster worthy of a trial is Faulk, of the East Palestine, O., team. Faulk is said to be a big right hander and early in the spring turned down an offer from a team in the New York State league. One player from West Virginia wrote Risher the other day asking for a job in the outfield, he claiming that he could "beat anything in it" playing in the field. This individual is also an infielder, he said, and could play any infield position. He will not be tried.

Altoona will be at Homestead Thursday and Friday.

READY FOR OPENING.

Cream of Eastern and Western Horses at Saratoga.

NEW YORK, July 26.—(Special.)—Every indication points to a successful race meeting at Saratoga. Most of the racing stables are now on the ground, and by the time the races begin, the very best horses from both the east and west will be seen. Not even the suburban handicap was more interesting than the $12,000 Saratoga handicap, which is set for the first day.

New estimates by the official handicapper as to the present form of horses entered in that race will surround that valuable prize with far more grounds for discussion than usually invests a mid-summer event. The presence of McChesney and Savable in the Saratoga event and the likelihood of both these starters for it, together with Waterboy, Hermis, Irish Lad, Africander, Blues, Bonnibert, Golden Maxim, Rockwater and Goldsmith or Gunire, will fully surround that valuable prize with the most important mid-summer race of the year.

Mayflowers Win Easily.

WOLFFS WIN PITCHERS' BATTLE AT CARRICK

Tillman Has Shade Better of Smith, the Glassport Twirler, in a 3 to 1 Game.

The Wolffs and Glassports of the County league played a fast game yesterday at Carrick, the former winning 3 to 1. Tillman and Smith had a pitcher's battle in which the former pulled out a winner. Glassport scored its only run on Griffith's single and Wolff's passed ball in the seventh inning. Glassport looked dangerous but Knabe pulled down a liner over second and made a double play, retiring the side. Score:

WEAKER SCHEDULE.

Wash.-Jeff. Eleven Will Also Not Be as Strong This Fall as in Former Years.

WASHINGTON, PA., July 26.—(Special.)—Charles Tutt of Uniontown, manager of the Washington and Jefferson college football team, is in Washington concluding his schedule of games for next fall. He stated today that the schedule would be a good one, but not so hard as in former years. It is probable that Annapolis will be the only big eastern team that Washington and Jefferson will meet during the coming season, as the hard schedule of last year proved disastrous.

The indications are that the team will not be as strong as usual this year, although very little can be ascertained concerning the caliber of the team until college opens. The nucleus from last year's team will not be so large, as the best players either graduated or left college not to return next year.

Manager Tutt stated that a large number of games would be played in Washington, although one or two trips will be made in addition to that to Annapolis. It is probable that a game will be played on Thanksgiving day with the East End Athletic. Manager Tutt expects to give out his schedule in a few weeks.

LIPTON WILL SEE "LIFTING THE CUP"

NEW YORK, July 26.—(Special.)—Sir Thomas Lipton has expressed his intention of attending the initial performance Monday night of "Lifting the Cup," a new yachting travesty at the Crystal Gardens in which Sir Thomas is caricatured. It was the desire of Sir Thomas to see himself as George Hobart, the author of the skit, sees him, and as James Fury, who takes the part, will make his appear, that induced the baronet to depart from his announced plan of making no engagements until after the cup races.

AMONG THE AMATEURS.

W. J. McE.—Yes, but not much.

The Marlettas will line up against the Victoria A. C. of East End August 1. Both teams are evenly matched and a hot game is expected.

Theodore Joseph Hunkels would like to get a trial as catcher on some strong team in Western Pennsylvania. Address him at 309 Forty-fourth street.

The Artow A. C. will play the Epping-Carpenter A. C. this evening on the Arsenal grounds. Arrow would like to hear from all strong teams. Address Thos. J. Hengele, 309 Forty-fourth street.

The Casinos will practice at Friendship park today at 10 o'clock, and the following players are requested to report without fail: W. W. Lauer, J. Lauer, Brown, Moffatt, McCall, O'Brien, Herrold, Martin, Geissenger, Heines and McAteer.

The Marlettas dispute the claim of the Mayflowers for the 11 and 12-year-old championship. The Mayflowers have won 20 games, lost 2, and tied 1; while the Marlettas have won 20 games, lost 1. In a 14 inning game with the Chamberlains the Marlettas would like to hear from all 11 to 12-year-old teams. Mayflowers preferred. Address Frank Skirble, 23 Vine street, city.

The West End A. C. of Braddock leave this morning for a trip through Maryland, West Virginia and Ohio. It has dates with the best teams in those sections. The team is carrying thirteen men. It plays its first game at Lonaconing, Md., then Frostburg and after that Midland, three of the best teams in Maryland, outside of the leagues. It then jumps over into West Virginia and thence into Ohio and expects to return some time next week.

The Fairbanks would like to arrange a game with some first-class team for Saturday, August 1, to be played at the West Elna ball park. They will meet the Nationals of Allegheny in a twilight game Thursday evening. Would like to hear from strong teams wishing games for Saturdays during August and September. Address Harry J. Yoedt, 845 O'Hara street, Allegheny, or 'phone Wilkinsburg, 30, Bell 'phone.

TRIAL RACES TODAY.

Regatta Committee Will Handle Contests Between Reliance, Columbia and Constitution.

NEWPORT, R. I., July 26.—(Special.)—At the request of the cup committee, New York Yacht club, the regatta committee of the club will handle the trial races between the Reliance, the Constitution and the Columbia, which begin tomorrow off this port.

This official contest was set weeks ago and must be sailed. The outcome is anticipated, however, and there seems little doubt regarding the selection of the Reliance to represent the club in the international match. It has been abundantly proved, say the friends of the Reliance, that she is the best all-around boat of the three that have been trying for cup defending honors.

The Reliance is now in the very best of trim. The loss of her gaff in the harbor yesterday has no significance. Prejudice against the yacht cannot arise from this little trouble.

FOSTERS ON OUTING.

Will Leave Next Sunday to Camp on Walhonding River.

The members of the Foster club of Lawrenceville are preparing to leave next Sunday, August 2, for a two weeks' stay along the Walhonding river. All the members will participate in the sports and

WALL STREET. FLURRY CLEARS ATMOSPHERE

Good Stocks Offer Attractive Investments to Discriminating Buyer at Their Present Low Quotations.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

It was the inevitable which happened in Wall street when, on Friday, amid a demoralization of prices, the failure of two important stock exchange firms was announced. The wonder is not so much that the firms were forced to default as it is that disaster did not come long ere this. It was as impossible to avert it as it would be to change the workings of any natural law.

There are a few persons still left in the financial district and elsewhere who regard the liquidating market as nothing more than a long continued bear campaign, the result of some preconceived plan, in which one group of capitalists have been gunning for some other group, to wrest from them some property or other or to pay off old grudges. But if one glances down the stock list and notes that good stocks have suffered in like manner with poor ones, it is simple enough for a sane man to conclude that the movement is general and not specific; that no man has gained any particular advantage over any other, but that all are in the same boat and that boat a very leaky one.

Wall street has been and is dealing with a simple economic problem, the law of supply and demand, or, as Mr. Keene puts it, "Stocks are good—at least some of them are—only there are too many of them."

Possibilities of the Situation.

Bear traders took advantage of the situation, to be sure, and it would be strange indeed if some "large interests," finding the ground slipping beneath them, had not sold the stocks of some other "large interests" short, as a hedge, and thus reduced their own losses somewhat. It may even be that as some of the standard shares have passed from feeble hands to stronger ones, that in the end it will be found that the control of some properties has passed to new interests.

The character of the failure and the class of security liquidated in advance and that which has been thrown on the Wall street market in recent days ought to be sufficient to explain what has been and is the real ailment. Overcapitalization of properties, transferring fluid into fixed capital, overextension of credit and overspeculation have done their work at last.

The market made its first great effort to right itself last September, when, coincident with the crop-moving demand for money, the prosperous merchant and manufacturer demanded their funds for legitimate enterprises. Bankers in December thought they could stem the tide by recourse to cabalistic mutterings and an application of the "faith cure." But the cripple speedily returned to the shrine, removed the crutches which he left there as a votive offering when he was pronounced cured, and resumed his hobbling. That a real cure must in the end be applied was inevitable.

What Caused the Trouble.

Corporation and commercial interests had need of money, and there was nowhere to obtain it except from the speculative security markets by forcing liquidation. The public, affrighted by the Northern Pacific corner, would not buy, and the pool and clique operators, who had accumulated vast quantities of queer shares—the men who, without abundant capital, extensive credit or necessary experience, had strained themselves to buy up whole properties—found themselves at last in a position where they were forced to sell their good stocks to protect the poor ones, their unsatisfactory syndicate operations. The street witnessed the steady outpouring of stocks of the best character, for the poor ones became unmarketable, and this continued until the men who a few months back counted their fortunes by millions were bowled out and left with tremendous loads of truck upon which loans could not be negotiated.

Wall street has been discounting somethings which most persons are, satisfied to believe was the failures of Friday and those which even conservative bankers apprehended are yet to be announced. Whether during the interval firms which were accounted weak on Saturday have been able to pull themselves together can only be known with the developments of the day.

Situation Is Clarified.

Bankers maintain, however, much as they may sympathize with the failed firms, that the situation is much clarified by the collapse. They maintain further (and that is one of the best features of the moment) that no house of importance is in difficulties, and that the position of the various financial institutions of the city leaves nothing to be desired.

It must be reasonably clear that no matter what happens Wall street is measurably nearer to the end of its present difficulties. Many properties are selling at attractive prices to the investor, and some of them are below where they should be, in view of the fine record of their management and their future. It is clearly the time for men to hold their heads clear, the time for discriminating buyers rather than for indiscriminate and ruinous sales, and provided always that the buyer has the cash ready at hand to pay for what he purchases. What has disturbed Wall street, the over-extension of credit and other phases of the speculative craze, may, and probably will, find some reflection in industrial circles later on. It is certain also that it will be necessary to undo in time some fundamental mistakes of the past.

With the crops still uncertain and the fall demand for money not yet satisfied, the time is not wholly uninviting for speculative purchases. It is well to bear in mind, however, that much good has been accomplished by the liquidation, and when thoroughly completed the stock market will be unmeasureably stronger.

Failures Discounted.

Wall street always discounts events and after the blue time some brokers may be found cheerful and smiling when others are glum. It is, of course, entirely out of the question for the speculative element to look for a bull market. Losses have been cruel and men have been frightened as well as weakened financially. To a very important element speculation will not be alluring for a long time to come. There will be stock for sale on rallies, and a long period of dullness will follow the final reckoning with the plungers.

Chicago Market Quotations.

CHICAGO, July 26.—Saturday's cash quotations were as follows: Flour steady; winter patents, $3 75@4 00; straights, $3 50@3 70; spring patents, $4 00@4 40; straights, $3 60@3 90; bakers' do, $3 30; No. 2 spring wheat, 80c; No. 3, 75@80c; No. 2 red, 75½@78c; No. 2 yellow corn, 54c; No. 2 oats, 31@32c; No. 2 white, 41½@42½c; No. 3 white, 28@32c; No. 2 rye, 51@53c; good feeding barley, 32@34c; fair to choice malting, 47@53c; No. 1 flaxseed, 92½c; No. 1 northwestern, 96c; prime timothy seed, $3 55; mess pork, per bbl, $13 75@13 87½; lard, per 100 lbs., $7 52½@7 55; short ribs, sides, loose, $7 87½@8 00; dry salted shoulders, boxed, $7 50@7 62½; short clear sides, boxed, $8 50@8 62½; whisky, basis of high wines, $1 30; clover, contract grade, $12 00@12 30.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF MARKET PRICES

Few Changes Made in Leading Staples—Green Corn Is More Plentiful.

New timothy hay commenced to arrive in the Pittsburgh market last week, but receipts have not yet reached sufficient proportions to allow it to become a great factor in the situation. It has all been graded as No. 2, dealers wishing to be on the safe side as to quality and fearing that there might be some trouble with net hay. Prices have ranged from $15 to $16 50 a ton, while old timothy has remained firm at figures which controlled the market a week ago. There have been but light arrivals of hay and the demand, while not specially active, has been ample to take care of all receipts. Straw has not been changed, still holding at quotations which ruled at the opening of the week. Corn is steady, with receipts light, and prices as last quoted. White middlings have been fairly firm at quotations, but bran is weak and moves but slowly. Oats have been in a nervous condition, liable to take sudden turns, but fairly liberal receipts have kept the market from going forward, while quotations close actually lower than those which opened the week.

Flour shows no change from figures ruling last Saturday and the situation is just about the same as at that time. Jobbers holding prices firm except for attractive short-haul orders, when a concession of 5 cents a barrel is allowed. Sugar did not change, holding at the advance made ten days ago, but the market is steady and no evidence of weakness was shown. Coffee is unchanged, with primal markets reported a trifle easier and dull. Cereals are held as quotations of the preceding week and are steady. Beans are unchanged. Canned goods have been without special feature and quotations are the same as those of last Monday.

The only change made in quotations for seed was for timothy, which is lower. Salt fish are holding steadier than was expected and prices are the same as those which have ruled for two weeks.

Liberal receipts of potatoes at the beginning of the week caused quotations to weaken a little, since which time they have remained at a lower range. Home potatoes have also gone down a trifle, although not yet coming in freely enough to disturb selling figures to any great extent. Cabbage is a plentiful and a decline early in the week has not been recovered. String beans are just about in the same condition as they were a week ago, a strong market prevailing on Saturday, but no real change in values. Southern peas are lower, while the home variety went down, and then regained the lost ground on Saturday, when an active request absorbed all the offerings. Peas are not of satisfactory quality this year and prices vary with the condition of the stock. Tomatoes continue to arrive in abundance and prices are easy. Home tomatoes are getting quite plentiful and are weaker in price. Green corn is coming in more freely and prices are lower.

Apples hold their own, with receipts fair. Cherries are nearly done. Georgia peaches are selling at lower figures, but are not in heavy supply. The fruit does not keep well and it is hard to maintain prices. Watermelons and cantaloupes are abundant and lower. Blackberries are offering at reduced figures, while huckleberries, though plentiful, are holding steady, with the demand active. A few currants arrived at the close of the week, but they are making rare appearances.

California Valencia oranges have taken the place of navels and are higher than the latter were at the close. Apricots are about done until the supplies from Oregon and Idaho commence to arrive. California pears and plums are cheaper.

Butter remained unchanged last Monday and quotations are the same as those ruling a week ago. Cheese is steady and is held firm by local jobbers for full cream, although the assertion is made by wholesalers that some branding is being done and skims are masquerading as full creams to the unsettling of trade. Eggs are quiet at former figures.

Poultry has been scarce all week and chicken quotations have ruled higher. Receipts are still limited and prices are firmly held.

OIL CITY—Two feet 3 inches and falling. Weather is clear and pleasant.

COAL MINERS WANT WATER.

All the Boats in the Harbor Are Filled, and Rivermen Are Idle.

The rivermen are entering a rest. There is not sufficient water in the pools to permit the moving of coalboats. All the empty boats and barges have been filled and the mines will have to shut down this week unless a rise comes to take down loaded boats and permit the empty ones returning. At some of the river mines every coal wagon is loaded and the men will be idle until the next rise.

The stage of water at Davis Island dam at 5 o'clock last night was 4.3 feet and the river was stationary.

New Pastor Gets a Vacation.

The Rev. J. F. Clokey, the new pastor of the Calvary Presbyterian church, Sixth street, Braddock, who went to Braddock from Massillon, O., a fortnight ago, preached for the third time in Braddock yesterday, and has been granted a six weeks' vacation by the congregation. He will leave tomorrow to spend the summer in the mountains of Colorado, while Mrs. Clokey will visit relatives at Jacksonville, O.

Corner Leafers Arrested.

Thirty-three prisoners, charged with loafing at the corner of Penn and Frankstown avenues Saturday night, were before Alderman H. C. Negley yesterday morning. They were given a severe lecture and discharged. What will happen to them if arrested again, will be enough.

The Three Rivers

CINCINNATI, O., July 26.—(Special.)—The stage of the river at 6 p. m. marked 13.2 feet and rising, making a rise of 1.8 feet during the last 24 hours. All packets in and out on time. The Mariner, J. B. Lewis, Pacific Cruiser, J. C. Risher and Dave Wood departed up stream with empties. The R. T. Gilham is due in the morning with coal from the Kanawha. Weather clear and hot.

LOUISVILLE—Falling. In canal, 5.8; on falls, 3.1; below lock, 9. Clear and hot.

PARKERSBURG—Seven feet six-tenths and falling. Weather clear and hot. The Bedford left at 6 p. m. for Wheeling.

GALLIPOLIS—Nine feet and falling. Weather clear and hot.

POINT PLEASANT—Seven feet 7 inches and falling. Weather clear. R. F. Gilham and Greenwood passed down.

MORGANTOWN—Seven feet ½ inches and stationary. Clear and warm.

STEUBENVILLE—Six feet 4 inches and falling. Weather is cloudy and warm. Up, Ben Hur at 5 p. m. Kanawha at 5 p. m., Keystone state at 7 p. m.

The Consolidated Lake Superior Company

$12,500,000.

Thirty-Year, Four Per Cent. Collateral Trust Gold Bonds.

Pursuant to resolution of the Board of Directors, holders of either the preferred or common stock of The Consolidated Lake Superior Company of record at the close of business on July 20, 1903, will be given the privilege of subscribing to $12,500,000 out of a total authorized issue of $15,000,000 of Thirty-year, four per cent collateral trust gold bonds of the company, dated August 1, 1903.

These bonds will be secured by the stocks of all subsidiary companies of The Consolidated Lake Superior Company and by mortgage bonds of these subsidiary companies. The property thus pledged as collateral represents a cash investment of more than $25,000,000 in completed undertakings that are now either operating profitably or ready for operation.

Stockholders will have the right to subscribe for these bonds in the proportion of $1,000 of bonds for each $8 shares of either common or preferred stock, payment for the bonds to be made at the rate of $600 for each bond of $1,000.

Negotiable warrants specifying the amount of bonds to which each stockholder will be entitled to subscribe have been mailed to stockholders of record at the close of business on July 20, 1903. Warrants for less than 80 shares may be combined to make the amounts required for subscription to even amount of bonds.

Subscriptions for bonds will be received on behalf of this company from July 21 until and including August 10, 1903, by the Commercial Trust Company, Philadelphia, Pa.,

Morton Trust Company, New York City.
National Trust Company, Limited, Toronto, Ontario.

Terms of payment for the bonds will be as follows:

Twenty-five per cent upon subscription.
Twenty-five per cent on September 1, 1903.
Fifty per cent on September 15, 1903.

Negotiable receipts will be issued for payments pending the delivery of the bonds.

Such bonds as shall not have been subscribed for by stockholders on August 15, 1903, will be disposed of otherwise by the Board of Directors, but not at a price lower than that at which they are offered to the stockholders.

The proceeds of the sale of the present issue of $12,500,000 of bonds will be used as follows:

For repayment of temporary loans	$5,050,000
For the discharge of current indebtedness, chiefly on construction accounts, and for working capital	2,450,000
	$7,500,000

The estimated net earnings of the company for the year beginning July 1, 1903, figured upon a most conservative basis, will amount to more than $1,945,000, while the interest on the present issue of bonds will be only $500,000.

Printed copies of the report of the President upon the condition and probable earnings of the company, and a full prospectus of the bonds, will be furnished upon application at the office of the company, North American Building, Philadelphia, Pa.

GOOD TOBACCO IN THE PHILIPPINES

Best Cuban Weed Could Be Duplicated by Proper Cultivation.

SPAIN BUYS THE PRODUCT

Missionaries Introduced the Plant There in the Early Days of Spain's Rule. Spain Formerly Had a Monopoly. Some Equals Cuban Leaf.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, July 26.

Professor Clarence W. Dorsey, soil physicist connected with the Philippine bureau of agriculture, has prepared a bulletin on the cultivation of tobacco, which has just been received by the insular bureau of the war department and contains many items of interest relative to tobacco growing in the Philippines, and also gives instructions to growers as to the best methods of cultivating, harvesting and curing the crop.

Philippine tobacco has long been held in high esteem in the Orient, and Manila cigars maintain the same rank in the eastern countries that Havana cigars occupy in Europe and America. Today tobacco stands third among the exports from the Philippines.

Tobacco was introduced into the Philippines soon after the Spaniards took possession, seed having been brought from Mexico by missionaries. Little effort was made by the government to restrict or encourage the cultivation of tobacco until 1781 when it became a state monopoly. While the monopoly was in force, each family in the tobacco districts of Luzon was compelled to grow 4,000 plants and deliver the entire crop to the agents of the government. None of the crop was reserved for the use of the planter and a fine was imposed when the crop was short.

Monopoly's Profits Large.

After harvesting the leaves were selected and bought by government agents, and bundles of inferior leaves were rejected and burned. Native houses were searched for concealed tobacco and fines and penalties imposed on those who failed to comply with the law. The profits from the monopoly, finally abolished December 31, 1882, annually amounted to several million pesos.

Since that time the cultivation and manufacture of the crop has been in the hands of private individuals and companies. At the present time the greater part of the tobacco grown in the islands comes from Luzon. The products of Isabella and Cagayan provinces are the most highly esteemed, while considerable quantities are produced in Union and the Ilocos provinces, on the west coast of northern Luzon. Nueva Ecija formerly raised a fair grade of tobacco, but the cultivation has fallen off in late years. Tobacco is grown in small quantities in the Visayan and southern islands, the greater amounts probably being produced in Masbate, Tablas, Panay, Bohol, Leyte, Siquijor, Negros and Mindanao.

Philippine tobacco is nearly all utilized in the manufacture of cigars and cigarettes and finds a ready sale in Spain (which consumes more than one-half of the total production), England, Hongkong, (where it is shipped to Asiatic ports), and British East India. During the year 1900 these countries bought more than seven-tenths of the entire crop. The agreeable aroma and flavor of the better grades of tobacco grown in the islands have won for it a high place among the fine cigar tobaccos of the world, and for a long time it ranked next to the celebrated Cuban tobacco.

When we consider the desirable qualities of Philippine tobacco, with the imperfect cultivation, curing, and fermentation it receives, and the improvements and advances that have been made in other tobacco countries, it becomes at once evident that every care and attention should be given the crop to enable it to regain its former position, if not to make it superior to the finest tobacco grown in the world.

The market of the United States offers every inducement for the improvement and spread of the Philippine tobacco industry. This becomes all the more evident when we consider the vast sums of money annually expended by the United States for foreign tobacco. During the year ended June 30, 1900, the United States paid for Cuban tobacco $7,615,991, and $4,569,271 for Sumatra tobacco.

Good Market in United States.

During this same year the Philippines exported to the United States only a few hundred of dollars' worth of tobacco, or less than one-hundredth of one per cent of the tobacco importations of that country. While it may be true that Philippine tobacco may never entirely supplant Cuban and Sumatra tobacco in the United States, there is certainly every inducement to encourage and improve the industry until modern cultural methods have realized to the fullest extent the highest prefection of the crop.

In the manufacture of high-grade cigars, certain essentials are necessary. The tobacco must burn smoothly and freely, with a pleasant taste, not rank and strong, nor too mild. When the taste is pleasant, not sharp and bitter, the aroma will invariably be good. The wrapper of the cigar, as distinguished from the smaller, must be light in color, rich in grain, thin in texture, small in vein and stem, very elastic, and of good burning quality. It should stretch and cover well, have little aroma and appear well on the cigar. The most desirable sizes are 40 and 45 centimeter leaves, for from such leaves the manufacturer can obtain four cigar wrappers from each leaf, with but little waste.

After such a suitable wrapper leaf is grown, it must be properly cured, assorted and classified. The manufacturer can never afford to pay a high price for a bale of tobacco unless he can calculate just how many suitable leaves it will contain. This is one reason why Sumatra tobacco commands such a high value, for so carefully is the grading and assorting done that the manufacturer knows how many cigars each package of tobacco will wrap, and that the color will be uniform.

For cigar fillers the leaves should be somewhat shorter, of medium body, have a rich brown color and burn smoothly and freely. The quality of the filler determines the character of the cigar; hence the filler must possess the desirable aroma that distinguishes a good cigar.

Philippine tobacco has some of the above properties and has earned its reputation on account of its agreeable aroma, fine veins and notable elasticity. This applies only to the better quality of tobacco grown on the alluvial lands of the Cagayan river, in northern Luzon. The tobacco grown in the Visayan islands is coarser, uneven in color, and of greater strength. From the provinces along the west coast of northern Luzon the tobacco is of heavy body, and that grown near the sea has but little combustibility. Its ragged, broken character also lowers its market value.

Can Be Improved.

The author believes that the islands can and should produce cigar-filler tobacco that is fully equal to the finest product of the Vuelta Abajo districts of Cuba, and a cigar wrapper equal to Sumatra tobacco. With careful attention to soil and climatic conditions, it is believed districts can be found that will raise tobacco similar in flavor and aroma to that grown in the best districts of Turkey. Philippine tobacco today does not occupy the cultivation it should and every planter or company engaged in its cultivation should strive to place it on the high standard it deserves.

RED CROSS WILL BE REORGANIZED

Present Administration Is Wholly Without Governmental Support.

MISS BARTON IS IN CONTROL

Report of American Delegate to International Convention Will Be Made Basis of Congressional Action Looking Toward Elimination of Factional War.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 26.

Deprived of the government indorsement, which once gave it prestige, and lacking the confidence of many philanthropists whose checkbooks were once at the beck and call of Miss Clara Barton, the American Red Cross society is in a fair way to be either reorganized under rigid government supervision or be superseded in importance by a similar society under the war and navy departments. The recent financial differences, as a result of which prominent members of the Red Cross were expelled for trying to retire Miss Barton from the active presidency because they deemed her a business incompetent, will have a highly interesting sound when congress meets.

Assistant Secretary of State Francis Loomis, one of the American delegates to the international Red Cross conference in Germany next month, has already collected extensive data on the conduct of Red Cross work by great military powers. His report, when he returns from Switzerland, will be made the basis of a plan whereby the expelled members of the Red Cross, including Brig. Gen. John Wilson, Rear Admiral Van Reyen, former surgeon general of the navy; John W. Foster, former secretary of state; Hillary A. Herbert, former secretary of the navy, and Anna Roosevelt Cowles, the president's sister, will try to induce congress to enact legislation for government control of relief work in time of war or calamity.

As affairs now stand in the Red Cross Miss Barton is still president, and her friends, including Walter Phillips, the secretary, hold all the important positions. But the "Washington minority" holds a trump card in the fact that the government, while not attempting to interfere in the factional differences of the Red Cross, now accords that organization no support whatever.

Tried to Cut His Throat.

John Cooper, 38 years old, attempted suicide on Saturday night by cutting his throat with a razor, at the home of his sister, No. 4003 Liberty avenue. Dr. A. McKibben, No. 4062 Penn avenue, was called and he saved Cooper's life. He was taken to St. Francis' hospital.

Just Let the Money Go.

Mrs. Mary Martin of No. 802 Second avenue, forfeited $105 at the East Liberty police station yesterday. She was charged with keeping a disorderly house. Patrick Donlin of Alexis street was fined $25 and costs on the same charge. Two visitors were fined $5 and costs each.

BIBLE LECTURES AT CHAUTAUQUA

Prof. Richard Moulton of Chicago Discusses Gospel of St. Matthew.

CHRIST'S SAYINGS COMPILED

His Sermon on the Mount Comprises the Essence of the Messiah's Teachings. Dr. Mabie Considers Missionary Work from a Bible Standpoint.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHAUTAUQUA, July 26.—A 30-day excursion from the west yesterday, together with the usual week-end excursions from nearby towns, brought hundreds of people here, and today Chautauqua had the largest crowd of the season. Several showers have marred somewhat the pleasure of the day, but have interfered very little with the attendance on the various services of the day.

The Bible study at 9 this morning was conducted by Prof. Richard Moulton of Chicago. The subject was the gospel according to St. Matthew. Prof. Moulton says that our Bible is printed without regard to literary form or structure and arranged in meaningless forms of chapters and verses.

"Some think," he said, "that Matthew is the least historical of all the gospels, but I think it is the most philosophical of all in its structure. He draws together at one point all the sayings of Christ in the Sermon on the Mount. The words are those of the Savior, but the arrangement is that of Matthew."

Prof. Moulton divided the subject into 12 sections and considered each one.

This will be called mission week, because the missionary institute will meet here. Many of the speakers will be men prominent in missionary activity. The missionary sermon was preached this morning by Dr. Henry C. Mabie, corresponding secretary of the American Baptist Missionary union. The text was "Neither has this man sinned, nor his parents, but that the works of God should be made manifest in him." The burden of the discourse was that neither have the races of heathens nor the individuals sinned, but are in this condition that the works of God may be made manifest in them. Dr. Mabie thinks there is every reason for encouragement in the missionary work.

Dr. J. H. Montgomery of Allegheny college led the young men's meeting, and there was a special song service this evening.

Fined for Getting Wet.

Henry Miller, who was fished out of the Allegheny river at the foot of Ninth street Saturday night, by Officer M. J. Reilly, was fined $25 and costs for disorderly conduct yesterday. Reilly got after Miller in a skiff, which Miller upset, and after both men were rescued Miller threw Reilly into the river again and the officer said Miller tried to drown him.

Right Ankle Broken.

W. C. Miller of Chicago, employed in hauling the equipment to Exposition park of the "Fall of Pompeii," to be given under the auspices of the Elks, fell from a wagon yesterday afternoon and broke his right ankle. He was taken to the Allegheny General hospital.

CARNEGIE CHUMS WITH MORLEY

Scholar and Philanthropist Are Often Together in London and Scotland.

ARE INTERESTED IN POLITICS

Steelmaster Credited With Intention to Start Great Liberal Newspaper in Glasgow—He Startles Flunkies by Applauding Friend's Speech in the Commons.

(Special Correspondence to The Gazette.)

LONDON, July 10.—Andrew Carnegie is becoming quite an ardent British politician in a silent way. Since the death of Mr. Gladstone, Mr. Carnegie has always looked for political inspiration to John Morley, and during his time in England every moment he can spare is spent in the company of that great Radical and man of letters. When in London they are constantly together, and when Mr. Morley disappears somewhat mysteriously from the scene of political strife at Westminster the most likely place to look for him is at the Langham hotel, which Mr. Carnegie makes his London home, or at Skibo castle. At the castle and in the beautiful grounds around it these two strange chums can be heard discussing books and politics, sometimes rather heatedly.

Mr. Morley, above all other men, first influenced Mr. Carnegie in the direction of creating public libraries. Before he agrees to make a grant he usually consults Mr. Morley and accepts his decision as final. Mr. Morley is a great favorite with Mrs. Carnegie also. House of commons debates in which Mr. Morley is likely to take a prominent part will never find Mr. Carnegie absent if he can help it. He has been known to travel all night from Scotland to be present at Westminster to hear his friend, and those who have sat beside him have observed his manifest enthusiasm.

On one occasion he was carried so far as to clap his hands in the special gallery. It was the first time that anyone had ever dreamed of such a thing and the liveried attendants were aghast. When remonstrated with Mr. Carnegie said he could not promise not to repeat his offense if his friend Morley continued to shake the house with his eloquence.

"I came here," he said, "to be instructed and interested, and surely I must be allowed to show my admiration of the man who attracted me here."

Mr. Morley went on in his usual strain, but Mr. Carnegie made no further demonstration that evening.

One result of this intimacy has been a crop of absurd rumors emanating from Scotland that Mr. Carnegie actually intended to follow the example of William Waldorf Astor and become a naturalized Englishman in the hope of getting into parliament. Another persistent rumor which is much less absurd is that the Pittsburgh millionaire is behind a movement to establish a big Liberal paper in Glasgow.

LOVE TRIUMPHS OVER FATHER'S OBJECTIONS

Miss Utica Celestia Welles to Marry Thomas Beecham in Cranley Gardens Today.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, July 26.—Miss Utica Celestia Welles, a charming American girl, will be married tomorrow afternoon to Thomas Beecham in Cranley Gardens. Miss Welles is a daughter of Dr. Stuart Welles, formerly connected with the American legation here. She is a grandniece of Lady Cook. Some time ago Thomas Beecham, son of the man whose pills have made him enormously rich, fell in love with Miss Welles, proposed and was accepted. His father, however, did not like the idea of an American daughter-in-law, and threatened to cut his son off without a penny.

The young man left his irate father's house. He had some income of his own, with which his lady fair said she would be quite content, and so they are to be married.

The objection of the millionaire Beecham to the Welles family arose from the fact that they had taken his wife's part in a serious matrimonial disagreement, which resulted in a separation.

Campbell's "THE PEOPLE'S STORE"

IN THE OIL FIELDS

Two advances of three cents each for Pennsylvania crude within 10 days put the oil producer on good terms with himself and the business. While the stock market has tumbled headlong, the oil market is going in the other direction and the producer sees his bank account increasing. He has had to wait a long time to see his hopes materialize. It did not come in the nature of a surprise, for the whole situation has been growing favorable for many months. Decreasing production and very little available producing territory in sight and always drawing on the stocks to meet the demand, was a logical reason for expecting a higher market. The question that now perplexes is to know how much, if any, higher it will be advanced. One thing is quite certain, the territory is not in sight that can be operated and bring about a change in a short time. If such had been possible, the vast amount of work that has been completed during the year would have placed production and consumption on more even terms at this time.

It does not seem possible now that the old fields will ever again be able to meet the demand. In past years when the emergency arose they could be called on to the end that the production, in connection with the new pools, caused a reversal of the situation and in time more oil was being produced than was needed to meet the demand. The old fields can no longer exert the same influence. For more than a year, or since the stocks began to decline, the old wells have been nursed along and made to do their best. Shooting the old wells formerly stimulated their production, but such is no longer the case. In the lower southwest fields nitro-glycerin is being used in very liberal doses, and in some instances brings an increase in production, but as a rule, the benefit is only for a short time. With the old fields no longer dependable to more than a limited degree, it is very apparent that there is an urgent demand for new producing territory and it is that that now puzzles the operator more seriously than at any time in the past.

Kansas holds out more inducements than any western state at this time. Operations have been carried forward to the extent that it has been determined beyond doubt that there is a large amount of producing territory in the southeastern part of that state and on down into Indian Territory. It can be said that work of an active nature in this portion of the west has only begun. How far Kansas and the territory can go towards making up the decline in the eastern fields remains for the future to determine. The quality is of an inferior quality as compared with the Pennsylvania grade, and at best will be a poor substitute.

Kentucky is not attracting the attention of local operators, and it is the prevailing opinion that the state has been tested to the extent that it is not considered longer as likely to become a factor in helping stop the rush on the stocks. Last year it was claimed that if the fields under development had proper transportation facilities, the production could be increased rapidly, but this advance has been removed for some little time and the production has not been increased 500 barrels a day. The runs for the first 22 days of the current month average a little more than 3,000 barrels a day. This falls away short of the boasted 5,000 barrels a day that it was claimed the state would have within three months after the oil could be marketed. Small wells and congested pools do not bring a rapid increase in production. It can be said to the credit of those who are conducting developments that the effort making is deserving of better success.

In nearly every quarter of the lower southwest operations are increasing. In many of the old fields, where predictions have been abandoned for several years, leaseholders are drilling new wells in locations that were passed over when the scarcity of producing territory was not so great. Some of these wells come in fair producers, but it will in the end be at the expense of the old wells that have been producing for years. In nearly all the old fields the wells previously completed would be capable of exhausting the producing formation if not another well was drilled. From the very start developments in West Virginia were conducted methodically, and the future will be confined to the discovery and development of small pools and an occasional spur to some of the old fields. For more than a year, or since the Sand Fork pool in Lewis county was discovered, this has been a leading feature in field work. The most promising development in the lower southwest is the Pine Grove extension in Wetzel county, W. Va. No other district in the state shows as large an area of promising producing territory. The well on the Showalter farm, to the northeast of the extension, was given a shot early in the week and increased its production to 25 barrels an hour. For several days it looked as though the shot would prove of more than temporary benefit, but it has now declined and is trending toward the point of its production before it was given its emetic. The position the Pine Grove district will occupy in point of production as compared with other developments, is not hard to locate. It can not go as high as has been the Folsom district in the same county, but by the close of the year will have a greater daily production than any other in West Virginia.

In Marion county the fifth sand development may have to be taken into account before the close of the year. The late wells have come in good producers and can be commended for their staying qualities. The extent of this producing formation is an unknown quantity and it is possible that in some direction from present developments may be found to be more prolific in production. To the west the wells have been larger producers, and it is in this direction that it is thought still better wells can be found. Drilling down old impoverished wells and looking for a lower producing formation is a feature in many parts of the lower southwest. As yet the Fairview district in Marion county and the Clear Fork district in Monroe county, O., where small wells have been found in the Berea grit, are the only places that look promising.

South of Fallen Timber run in Wetzel county, the Dunkard sand development has reached the duster stage, and it looks now as though the chances for extending its producing limits are small. From the first this development was regarded as a freak, and the fact that it is proving nothing more than a pocket of oil is no great disappointment.

On Fallen Timber run and southwest of Littleton, operations are increasing and both districts are expected to furnish a considerable quantity of new production. In the first-named the oil is found in the Big Injun sand and in the other in the Gordon.

In Ritchie, Wirt and Pleasants counties, the shallow sand territory is receiving a good deal of attention, and in all three there is considerable wildcatting. The Burning Springs district in Wirt is forging to the front and in point of activity is on even terms with the Beech Creek district in Ritchie.

The past week proved very satisfactory for the diggers in the shallow sand districts on the Ohio side. North of Marietta and on Wolf creek, Washington county, some very fine producers were drilled in.

All things considered, operators in southeastern Ohio are having as good success as those operating in the deep sand territory in West Virginia. In comparison, the wells are of a much smaller average in production, but the drilling expenses are very small.

West of the Lewisville district, in Monroe county, several wildcats were drilled in during the week and no new departures in the Keener sand. None will exceed a limit of five barrels a day in production, but it is expected that they may lead up to something better.

In a half dozen counties farmer wells are drilling, looking for new pools or extensions to the older developments.

The local fields are not in the race for new production. South of Burgettstown, in Washington county, there is quite a good showing of new work starting, but the late wells have come in very small pumpers.

The new development southwest of Zelienople, in Beaver county, is proving a disappointment. Two dusters were completed there during the past week.

PITTSBURGH & LAKE ERIE REDUCES THE NIAGARA FALLS EXCURSION RATE FROM $7.45 TO $5.00 THE ROUND TRIP FOR ONE EXCURSION, SATURDAY, AUGUST 1.

What promises to be the largest excursion from this city this season will be the one to Niagara Falls via the Lake Erie railroad on Saturday, August 1, a result of the low rate introduced as an offset to the seashore excursions. The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie people are arranging for a special train in the morning at 9:25 (city time), and also a night special leaving at 10 p. m. (city time), both running through to Niagara Falls without change. They have also lengthened the time limit on these tickets over that of previous years to five days. The nicest coaches and the most modern Pullman parlor cars and sleepers are being made ready to handle the big crowd expected, and the company is advertising that tickets should be purchased in advance at No. 337 Fifth avenue in order to secure best Pullman accommodations.
